

Barn, Machinery Burn McDole Farm

A fire of unknown origin at the Harry McDole place last Wednesday afternoon destroyed a barn containing several tons of hay, a woodsaw, grain drill hay rake and several other pieces of farm machinery. Prompt action and hard work of harvest men, wood cutters and men from the Harris mill kept the fire from spreading to other buildings but several acres of stubble were burned over.

Most Carefully Guarded Jewel
Hungary's royal crown is the world's most carefully guarded jewel, according to a writer in Collier's Weekly. In the palace in Budapest, this crown is in a glass safe of an impregnable vault and in the perpetual presence of armed men who, while on duty, never take their eyes from this treasure.

River Jordan Not Navigable
The River Jordan has never been navigable.
