

Christian Science Lecture on Healing And Its Ministry

Dr. Walton Hubbard C.S.B. of Los Angeles, California, delivered an interesting lecture here at the high school gymnasium Monday evening on the subject of "Christian Science, its Healing Ministry." Dr. Hubbard said in part: "Were it possible to call upon the students of Christian Science who form a large portion of this audience to explain the reason for their presence here and their allegiance to Christian Science, it would be found that most of them had been healed by Christian Science of sicknesses which had defied other methods of treatment. And the range of these sicknesses which had been healed would be found to be so wide and so varied as to indicate with certainty that the law of God, as taught and applied in Christian Science, heals all manner of sickness and sin."

It is my intention not only to discuss the teachings of Christian Science, but to tell you something of my own observations in connection with my problem of growing out of the practice of medicine and into the practice of Christian Science. Perhaps these observations may be helpful to some of you.

A discussion of Christian Science may quite properly begin with its Discoverer and Founder, Mary Baker Eddy. Whatever I may say of her in the limited time at our disposal must of necessity be brief. I would earnestly recommend a study of her life. Several biographies are available at Christian Science Reading Rooms, and she has written something of herself in her book "Retrospection and Introspection." To understand how Christian Science unfolded in her consciousness will make it easier for it to unfold in yours.

Mary Baker Eddy was a woman of unusual spirituality and deep religious sense. She was a consistent and tireless student, an analytical student, and through years marked by sickness and trials her profound religious sense led her always to strive to see and to understand the infinite Principle in every blessing which she received. This persistent search for Truth was finally rewarded by the discovery of the divine laws of God, which she named Christian Science.

The usual reason for people turning to spiritual means for healing is that the use of material means for the alleviation of their sicknesses have been so disappointing. The history of medicine over the past hundreds of years has been one of constant change. New remedies and new measures are constantly brought forth and marvelous things are claimed for them, only to be discarded later on for newer remedies or newer measures, in which, for the moment, there is greater faith. They are effective only to the degree in which they are believed.

Christian Science declares itself to be the law of God. It further declares that this law is demonstrably true; that we may understand it, that we may apply it, and that the results will prove its truth.

The various healings which Jesus, the master Christian, brought about are of especial interest to those who are endeavoring to follow his command to heal the sick, for he instructed his disciples to go into all the world and teach all nations to do whatsoever he had commanded them to do, and he certainly commanded his disciples to heal the sick.

Jesus said a great many things about healing and the requisites for healing. He insisted that to see the kingdom of God it is necessary to be born of the Spirit, and our experience in Christian Science demonstrates that to perceive the power of Truth, it is necessary for one's consciousness to be spiritualized. Jesus described the human qualities which we must be rid of, and the spiritual qualities which must be cultivated. He declared that by following his teaching we would demonstrate an abundance of every good thing, and would be able to withstand storms of error. He taught that prayer must be deep and heartfelt communion with God. Read the chapter on Prayer in the Christian Science textbook and compare it with Jesus' teaching on this subject in his Sermon on the Mount.

So to each one who studies Christian Science, there comes some consciousness of the Christ. This divine anointing results in healing now as inevitably as it did in Jesus's time, and it brings a definite reward in peace, and healing, and blessing.

Death of a Eugene Woman to Be Probed By Co. Grand Jury

Evidence in the accidental death of Mrs. W. R. Hall of Eugene, who died Saturday night at a Eugene hospital, as the result of injuries sustained when she was struck down by Victor Reginato, University student, will be laid before the grand jury today, it was disclosed Monday by District Attorney L. L. Ray.

There are many factors in the case that need further consideration, Ray stated, and was not disposed Monday to make much comment on the accident.

The accident occurred in Eugene at Eleventh and Pearl streets at 5:50 p. m. Saturday evening. Eugene police report of the accident said Reginato was traveling south on Oak street, stopped at Eleventh street, shifted into second gear, turned left, and was still in second gear at the Eleventh and Pearl intersection, when he struck Mr. and Mrs. Hall crossing Eleventh street on foot. Reginato's car traveled 35 paces from the point where the accident occurred, and Mrs. Hall was thrown 18 paces by the impact, according to the police report. No skid marks were on the pavement.

Mrs. Hall was rushed to the hospital in Eugene and died about three hours later. Mr. Hall, who suffered severe cuts and bruises, is reported improving.

WARNED OF UNAUTHORIZED SOLICITORS.

Business men of this city were warned to be on the lookout for transient salesmen selling Armistice Day posters, by P. S. Bukowski, at the Chamber of Commerce meeting Tuesday. "These posters are not official, unless they are endorsed by the Veterans of Foreign Wars or the American Legion," Mr. Bukowski stated, and warned merchants to be sure they were "buying" or donating to a worthy cause before making a purchase.

CLOSURES LIFTED.

Scattered rains over the woods in Siuslaw forest's western Lane areas have reduced fire hazards to a point where closures in the area are no longer deemed necessary, it was announced Saturday by Dahl Kirkpatrick, supervisor, at Eugene. Order for the lifting of the closures will go into effect immediately, he said.

The order hinges upon a joint recommendation from Siuslaw and Western Lane Fire Patrol association officials to State Forester J. W. Ferguson. Kirkpatrick stated.

Hunters will be able to enter the forests at will, it was disclosed, but burning permits will still be required within the area.

O. S. C. REGISTRATION TOPS FAST RECORDS AT 4200

Oregon State College—An 8 per cent increase in registration, exceeding the advance estimates of college officials, has raised the enrollment at Oregon State college to an all-time high mark.

By the end of the first week of the fall term, enrollment had reached 4200, as compared with a previous high mark of 4068 at the end of the term last year. As late registration, particularly of graduate students, always continues for several weeks, a final fall term total of 4300 is now expected.

Other record-breaking totals are 1500 in the freshman class, 1400 women students and 1664 new students of all classes on the campus.
