It's Never Smart To Be Inconsiderate

The 1939 bride may be ever so sophisticated, but if she's really smart, she'll be considerate, says Virginia Courtenay in her new Brides' Book. It is being inconsiderate when a bride lets friends find out belatedly, second-hand, about something they should have had prompt and official information about.

Whether the wedding is large or small, Miss Courtenay suggests Art Point Marriage Announcements; the 1939 models are shown in the new portfolio at this office.

What a 1939 Bride Should Know...

Prospective brides are invited to drop in and accept a gift copy of Miss Courtenay's Brides' Book.

★ Virginia Courtenay writes interestingly in her new 1939 Brides' Book with much first-hand information for the young lady who said "Yes"...and is soon to add "I do."

★ She tells about marriage forms and social customs... which are not generally known and whose non-observance may prove embarrassing.

It is of pink marble and coquina rock and rises 205 feet from the edge of a clear pool, tapering gradually from its 51-foot gray creole marble base to a width of 37 feet at the top. Near the top of the tower is the carillon, consisting of 71 bells weighing 123,264 pounds, and cast in an alloy of the finest copper and English tin. The largest bell weighs 11 tons, the smallest 12 pounds. The tower is the work of the late Milton B. Medary, noted architect of Philadelphia. A crypt in front of the north door is the burial place of Mr. Bok, who died in 1930.
