TOWNSEND CLUB HAS SOCIAL MEETING

The Townsend club met in the hall Monday evening for the social meeting that was well attended. It seems more and more people are becoming interested in the Townsend movement as time goes on and that is as it should be if the Townsend plan is to become a law.

Secretary Adams read the weekly bulletin from Washington which was both lengthy and interesting to those who are keeping tab on what is being done for the Townsends in Washington, D. C. A number of members gave readings on different subjects and Mr. Kent read from the Oregonian excerpts of the doings of an organization in Portland, another ham and egg delusion, if you please.

It was decided that as many as could would go to Eugene and attend headquarters meeting of the Townsend clubs on Saturday evening in the near future.—W. E. Masters, Reporter.

GARDEN ENTHUSIASTS WILL HAVE WEEKEND AT COLLEGE

A three-day garden weekend featuring educational meetings for those interested in landscaping home grounds and including inspection of scores of Corvallis gardens has been arranged for May 3, 4 and 5 at Oregon State college. Leaders of the Oregon Federation of Garden clubs is co-operating in making this a statewide educational event, says W. D. Legg, assistant professor of landscape architecture at O.S.C.

DRIVERS TO PASS TEST

Approximately 385,000 state motorists must pass rigid driving tests between now and July 1, 1943, according to an announcement from the office of Earl Snell, secretary of state.

Kechley Resigns As Pastor of First Christian Church

Many local people will regret to learn of the resignation of the Rev. E. L. Kechley, pastor of the First Christian church, who has been called to a Seattle, Washington, Christian church. The Rev. Kechley tendered his resignation to the local church Sunday evening and is preparing to leave for his new home with his family, April 2nd. He said yesterday he had accepted a call to the Ballard Christian church of Seattle.

The Rev. and Mrs. Kechley have three sons living in Washington, two of whom are in Seattle. Elwyn, who was here up until a short time ago, and Gerald, who is a student in the University of Washington. In going to Seattle, the family will be partly reunited.

The Kechleys have been residents of Cottage Grove for the past two years.

PARKING PROBLEMS

Times have been that Cottage Grove had its parking problems, even for short intervals and if they become serious, more space should be available close to the business district. One of the hopes of the smaller trading centers to hold the volume of trade is to provide parking for motorists of the trade area. Vacant lots close in might be utilized if they can be secured at a reasonable figure. Now the suggestion has been made that the south half of the first block on Sixth street might be widened by moving the buildings back five feet. This would involve moving three frame and one sheet iron building. Other means of working out a workable parking problem might be "worked out."
