Hollywood Praises New Pictures

Standard Oil's new and gorgeous color-photograph reproductions of Western scenes win high praise in new 3-million dollar Disney studio. Walt himself, and his executive staff, push aside studio business to admire the beauty and quality of these remarkable views. The second picture of the series,

STANDARD OIL RELEASES COLOR PICTURES

Carrying on an extensive campaign for "Western Scenic Pictures in Every Western Home," a new and beautiful color-photograph-reproduction of the scenic Oregon coast will be presented free to motorists by Standard service men, beginning June 14. J. F. Finneran, substation agent of Standard Oil company announced here today. This is the second picture subject in the series to be distributed in this vicinity.

"These pictures will be distributed free, to motorists, as long as the supply holds out," said Mr. Finneran.

"While our own purpose is to encourage motorists to see and appreciate the grandeur of western scenery, we are assured that this is a great opportunity for home-decoration as well.

"Almost every home needs a spot of color on the walls of the living room, bedroom, nook or hallway. These pictures present our own American beauty-spots in reproductions suitable for framing and in natural colorings of amazing fidelity—an ornament to any home.

"While our allotment is liberal, all stations had such a call for the first picture, I can only hope our supply of this one will not run short."

Corn Shucks Decorations

According to the American Magazine, George M. Seifert of Bethlehem, Pa., makes decorations out of corn shucks. He recently completed an American flag more than five feet long and three feet wide. He dyed the shucks before weaving them together.
