

Important Rules Issued by State Game Commission

Acting in the interest of conservation of big game the Oregon State Game Commission has, for the first time, reduced the black-tail deer bag limit to a single buck with forked horns or better. Previously, hunters were permitted two bucks.

The commission declined to authorize another open season on antlerless deer or does, either in Grant county or in Klamath and Lake counties. Commissioner George K. Aiken alone voted to have another doe season in Grant county as provided in 1939 by legislative action.

The entire Willamette valley will again be closed to all China pheasant and upland bird hunting. While the 1939 closed season helped in the restocking of these birds, experts are of the opinion that another closed season will provide excellent hunting.

A total of 2,000 tags for cow elk and 1,500 tags for antelope will be issued. Cow elk may be taken only in a certain portion of the area open to bull elk hunting.

No formal applications for big game tags will be required. Those desiring tags should send in their names and addresses, the kind and number of their hunting license, together with a check or money order. If a number exceeding the quotas set is received in the office of the game commission by August 1, a drawing will be conducted. Otherwise the applicants will be taken care of in the order in which applications are received. Tags once issued cannot be transferred.

Hunting seasons ordered by the commission follow:

Bull elk—Clatsop county, noon, August 24, to sunset, September 2.

Antelope—September 29 to October 6, inclusive. 1,500 tags to be issued in Lake, Malheur and Harney counties. All tags issued for antelope will be good throughout the open area.

China Pheasants—The same area in western Oregon closed to pheasant hunting last year will again be closed this year.

Eastern Oregon open except for Wheeler, Jefferson, and Lake counties (closed all year by legislative enactment). Open pheasant season October 15 to 31 inclusive, except in Malheur and Harney counties. Malheur county open October 15 to November 15 inclusive; Harney county open only on October 19, 20, 23, 26, 27 and 30.

In southern Oregon, Jackson, Josephine, Coos, and southern part of Douglas counties open to pheasant hunting October 15 to 31, inclusive.

Sage grouse and prairie chickens—Entire state closed all year.

Valley or California quail—No change in eastern Oregon, but all counties closed to pheasant hunting in western Oregon are also closed to quail hunting.

Mountain or plumed quail—Entire state closed.

The deer season, set by legislative enactment, remains unchanged from September 20 to October 25, inclusive, except that most of the reserves have been thrown open to hunting. These are the Canyon Creek, Mule Deer, Myrtle Creek, Mount Emily, Ochoco, Steen's Mountain, and Warner (outside of limits of federal reserve) Reserves. Canyon Creek will be reserved for bow and arrow hunters for the first two weeks of the hunting season.

No trapping or hunting of raccoons will be permitted in any part of the state. The dates for the regular trapping season for fur bearing animals remain the same—November 15 to February 15, inclusive.

COLLEGE MEN ENTRAIN

The first group of college men enlisted in Class V-7 of the Naval Reserve for officer training, left Pacific Northwest cities Thursday July 11th for New York City where they will embark on the U.S.S. Wyoming for a training cruise to determine their qualifications for further instruction and eventual commissioning as officers in the Naval Reserve.

Early Colonial Loyalty

Faith to colonies, cities and towns, as well as loyalty and patriotism to government, was demanded of the colonial citizenry 258 years ago, and there were fines levied for disparaging remarks against them. The WPA historical records survey found that a resident of Boston was fined 10 shillings in 1681 because he said that "three monsters were born in Boston." The technical charge was lying.

Huge Stage Being Erected for Salem Centennial Show

SALEM—Construction is now under way on the huge stage upon which will be presented the Salem Centennial pageant on July 31, August 1, 2 and 3. This mammoth outdoor set, which is being erected in front of the grandstand at the state fairgrounds, will be the background for one of the most pretentious and colorful historical and musical presentations ever attempted in the west. The stage itself will be one block in width, half a block in depth, and the scenery will rise to a height of 50 feet above the ground.

Three thousand persons are expected to participate in the pageant which will be presented in five cycles. Each cycle will be a complete representation of the progress of the Oregon country and Salem "From Wilderness to Wonderland." There will be a male chorus of more than 40 voices and mixed choruses in which several hundred singers will participate.

An innovation in stage technique will be the use of transparencies at each side of the great stage upon which will be projected early day scenes of Salem and the Willamette valley followed by scenes of the present day.

SETS RECORD

BATTLEBORO, VERMONT.—Records recently completed by six registered Holsteins owned by Adolph Benter, Creswell, Oregon, have qualified them for four state leaderships and two second-place positions. Four of these were sired by the same bull, Pinky Junior Segis.

Testing was supervised by the Helstein-Friesian association of America, Battleboro, Vermont, in cooperation with the State College of Agriculture.
