Midget Racing in Eugene August 10

Lane county's fastest growing sport—midget auto racing—returns to the fairgrounds track in Eugene again Saturday night, August 10. The thrilling sport has proved very popular in two previous meetings at the fairgrounds, attracting crowds of about 5,000 July Fourth and July 28.

Racing fans who witnessed the July Fourth races will be surprised at the improvement brought about by holding the races at night under floodlights. The night air settles the disagreeable dust. The powerful little racers, powered mostly with V-8-60 motors, seem to function more efficiently at night enabling the drivers to get a much better performance from their "iron steeds."

The races are under the joint sponsorship of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and Bobby Rowe, Portland sports promoter. The drivers who will thrill spectators Saturday night are Bobby Rowe's famous International Midget Racing Association. They boast some of the most dare-devil, harum-scarum drivers in the business.

Saturday night's program will be the same as that which proved very satisfactory in the last meeting on July 27. The races are scheduled to start at 8:30 p. m. preceded by time trials which start at 7:30 p. m. The seven-event program will be topped off by a 30-lap main event.

Track records are expected to take another beating since the drivers are now familiar with the track and will be willing to take even greater risks than they did in the last meet.

The opening race will be the helmet dash at 8:30 followed by six heat races and 30-lap classic as the grand finale.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars, co-promoters of the event, have been working all week and promise to have the lights and track in tip-top shape.

Committee Approves Compulsory Training

Legislation for compulsory military training of the nation's youth finally received the approval Monday at Washington of the senate military committee, whose chairman, Senator Sheppard of Texas, asserted on the senate floor that he firmly believed Adolf Hitler intends to attack this country.

Ready, after many delays and postponements, for consideration in the senate proper, the measure awaited only the passage of a bill authorizing President Roosevelt to call out the national guard and army reserve officers for intensive training.

So deep is the feeling on the peace-time draft issue that although the senate debated the national guard bill throughout the day, the conscription question entered repeatedly into the discussion. A battle of unusual proportions obviously awaited it.

The conscription bill and the national guard measure were several times declared to be companion pieces, but opposition to the latter was apparently negligible. Senator Wheeler (D-Mont), a leader of the anti-conscription bloc, said for one that he saw no objection to the guard bill. It was requested by President Roosevelt and the war department on the ground that developments in the war abroad had shown that the guard needs special training.
