Closing Date to Be Set on Seed Purchases by AAA

A closing date for the purchase of Austrian winter pea or hairy vetch seed from growers by the Commodity Credit corporation, is expected to be announced soon by the AAA office at Corvallis. The closing date will probably be set sometime between the first and fifteenth of September in order to allow for shipment of the seed to the southern states in time for fall planting, says N. C. Donaldson, state executive officer.

Movement of seed from Oregon to the southern states has been rapid, with upwards of 100 carloads having been shipped by the first week in August. Orders were being received by the Corvallis office at the rate of almost 20 carloads a day, and these were being distributed among the various Oregon dealers, who are doing most of the cleaning and resacking for the government agency.

Practically all the eligible Austrian winter pea seed has been sold through the Commodity Credit corporation at the established rate of three cents a pound. Prices on hairy vetch seed, on the other hand, have stayed enough higher than the 7 1/4-cent guaranteed price so that private dealers have been able to handle most of the crop. Growers have been getting from 7 1/4 cents to 7 3/4 cents a pound for their vetch seed.

Reports from throughout the Willamette valley indicate that the federal purchase program is being carried out with a minimum of delay and red tape. Growers have been paid for their seed in cash within three or four days of delivery, and seed dealers have been experiencing less difficulty than usual in obtaining an adequate supply of freight cars for the movement of the crop.

The program in the southern cotton belt is also moving along well, as indicated by the steady flow of orders which are cleared through the Corvallis office. The grant-of-aid program there allows AAA cooperators who are short of cash to obtain seed now which will be paid for through deductions from next year's benefit checks.

MANY GRASSES SURVIVE ON PLOTS

VERNONIA—A test plot of pasture grasses put in on the G. C. Kirkbride farm, about eight years ago, shows a good survival of several of the grasses, says George A. Nelson, county agent, who arranged a tour of inspection to several of these early plantings. Chewing fescue and tall fescue are still doing well, especially the chewings fescue, which shows considerable spread. Other grasses and legumes maintaining themselves included Reed canary grass, orchard grass, meadow foxtail, English ryegrass, tall meadow oatgrass, and subterranean clover.
