

Ready for State Corn Show

Keen interest is being reported in the fourth annual Oregon State Corn show, to be held at Oregon State college November 22 and 23. Shown above is C. A. Marsh, Albany, who won last year's shucking contest at the show and is planning to defend his title. Below is a truckload of corn being put into the crib—a scene more familiar in Oregon now than formerly.

THANK YOU

To the 11,492 people who signified their confidence in me by voting for me, I certainly want to give my sincere thanks, and to everyone who worked for me I wish to express my appreciation. Because of the kindness and friendliness I encountered in this election, I feel my time and money were well spent. To Mr. Dillard I offer my congratulations.

Sincerely,
ETHAN NEWMAN

Prospects for Big Year 1941 Models

Indications that the 1941 model season will be one of the greatest sales volume years in the recent history of the automobile business is seen in the reports reaching here from the leading motor trade executives who have just returned to Detroit after covering the "auto show circuit" and attending crowded auto shows in the leading metropolitan centers throughout the country.

"The California auto shows were no exception to the nation-wide rule, as both the San Francisco and Los Angeles motor shows played to record crowds this year with dealers reporting that buying showed an increase of from 20 to 25 per cent over the sales for the same period of last year," Wilbur Wilson of Woodson Motors, local Ford dealer, said Monday.

"The big news of the auto shows for the motor car shopping public, however, is the fact that comparisons made at the show by impartial trade observers showed that Ford for 1941 offers the greatest value in its long history. Not only is it the biggest Ford ever built but it is the biggest car in comparison with the famous big three in the low price field," continued Mr. Wilson. "It was proved that Ford, by actual measurements is biggest inside, where bigness counts and therefore offers more knee room, more leg room, more comfort and more convenience to both driver and passengers than former Ford models or competitive 1941 offerings," according to Mr. Wilson.

"Other measurements which prove Ford bigness are: Ford is longest from windshield to rear window; Ford gives the most seating width; Ford offers the most frontseat headroom; it has the biggest doors, windows and windshield, thus giving the passengers and drivers greater vision; and important from the standpoint of riding comfort is the fact that Ford has the longest springbase of the big three in the highly competitive low priced field," continued the local Ford dealer.

"The Ford dealers have launched, through the newspapers this month, one of the largest campaigns in their history to acquaint the motor car shopper with the fact that never before has the public been offered in this attractive low cost field any low priced car with bodies so roomy, seats so wide, doors so big and vision area so great as the 1941 Ford, and inviting the public to compare Ford with the 'other two'.
