THE CHANGING PUBLIC ATTITUDE.

The best informed news commentators appear to agree that there is a strong possibility that America may participate in the present European war just as we did in 1918. In 1918 we went to war to save democracy and this time we are going to save Britain so that democratic nations can survive, so it all boils down to the same thing for us to see history repeat itself in the course of twenty-five years.

News from Washington is to the effect that material aid for England won't be enough to save her; that the only way this can be done is by active participation and that active participation can't be successful until we are better prepared and the morale of the American public is prepared to accept a part in the program. Up to recently there has been strong opposition toward taking part in another war, but this attitude is gradually being softened. So there isn't much the average American can do about the situation but do his part when the time comes, but probably with less enthusiasm than twenty-five years ago.

After one has gone through one war the glamor is sorter taken off.

BITS O' BUSINESS.

Nation's department store sales still running well ahead of 1940; for post-Easter week they were 18 per cent ahead of parallel week year ago; for first quarter of year, 10 per cent . . . Engineering construction awards likewise—last week were $107,090,000, better than twice the amount of same week in 1940. . . National Safety Council gives special award to American Airlines, first air transport company in the world to operate one billion passenger miles without a fatality to passenger or crew member. . . Nation's air transport system was, in effect "frozen" at its present size by order of the Civil Aeronautics Board, which said the national emergency makes it necessary no new air routes be started which would require additional aircraft or personnel; the action followed consultation with the War and Navy departments. . . Increase in purchasing power of the farmer is reflected in mail order sales records, which show April sales running 50 per cent ahead of last year—and farm equipment sales, running about 20 per cent ahead. . . Chrysler delivers the first unit of a fleet of "thousands" of M-3 tanks—28-tonners—and says by late summer they'll be rolling off at the rate of 14 per day.

FOR BETTER HOMES.

The people of South Lane county will soon be called on to take part in an improvement campaign designed to make home life more attractive. This will be in the form of a campaign to modernize and improve both rural and urban homes.

bers of the hostess camp. Songs, yells and speeches interspersed the banquet.

The evening meeting was taken up again at 8:00 o'clock with Con. Oracle Agnes Bachman presiding. After a splendid address by State Supervisor Lenore Broile the remainder of the evening was taken up by fancy drills, solos and readings.

The Juveniles of Marcola camp put on a very effective patriotic drill. Marcola camp staged a style show depicting the change in styles from the early 70's until the present.

The state supervisor and district deputy were presented with gifts from the various camps. A surprise handkerchief shower was given State Supervisor Broile as that day, May 6th, was her 38th wedding anniversary.

Eugene invited the convention to meet with them next year.

The evening session closed with the Springfield ladies serving cake and coffee, after which all departed for home declaring it a grand convention and a day well spent. —(Contributed.)

LIVESTOCK GROUP SEEKS RESEARCH ON PASTURE.

Development of hill pastures in western Oregon was pointed to as one of the major problems of the livestock industry west of the Cascades at the annual meeting of the Western Oregon Livestock association held recently in Gold Beach.

The association pointed out that there are approximately a million acres of hill pasture land in western Oregon with a carrying capacity of only 12 to 15 acres per animal. If such land were improved through the seeding of suitable grasses under a practical development program, these lands could be made to carry one animal unit for every five acres, it was believed.

April Postal Receipts Show Gain of 25%

The local post office continues to show a substantial gain in monthly receipts with the past April the largest monthly gain of the present year. Receipts for April totaled $1,884.41 as compared with $1,512.85 for April 1940, a gain of $371.56 or approximately 25 percent.

The average office over the state showed a gain ranging up to fifteen percent.

BUILDING BRIEFS.

Leveling the foundation is the first essential in reconditioning an old house. To find out if the foundation has failed, and by how much, locate a corner that is sound and perpendicular. Then, stretch a level cord all about the house. This will show to what degree the foundation has sunk.

A shaky, main floor of the home can be stiffened and made solid by placing a light girder beneath it, in the basement. Support the girder with substantial posts or columns. Careful measurements should be taken to insure correct length of the posts and then they should be wedged tightly in place.

Overcrowded closets are untidy and inefficient. They can be literally increased in size by the addition of racks, extra shelves and back-of-door hangers. A low chest of drawers or a shoe-shelf, set on the closet floor, will also render it more usable.

Boon of modern living is the modern bathroom. Despite the complexity of its piping and variety of fittings, a completely efficient extra bathroom can be installed in most older houses for a comparatively small outlay—about several hundred dollars according to average estimates. This sum can be paid back over a three-year period.

To save grief and double expense, consult an architect in all cases where proposed remodeling alterations involve changes in the plan of the house, or changes in the architectural design.
