

AAA Posts Price Schedule on All Seed Purchases

Harvesting of Oregon's record winter legume crop is now under way with growers assured the same prices as in 1940 for hairy vetch and winter peas sold through the AAA 1941 seed purchase program. Announcement is also made by the state office at Corvallis that annual rye grass has been added to the seed purchase program, and that guaranteed prices have been posted for common vetch and Willamette vetch.

Annual or Italian rye grass has been added to the program to encourage production of cover crop seed for use in southern and east central states. The AAA will offer to purchase it at the rate of $3.60 per hundred for seed 98 per cent pure with a germination of 90 per cent or better. In certain parts of the south and east central states rye grass is proving particularly valuable as a soil protecting crop either alone or in combination with a legume such as crimson clover.

The AAA will pay growers a premium of 10 cents a sack on winter peas and vetch put up in cotton bags. All seed purchased last year was handled in cotton bags, thus the provision in effect means an increase of 10 cents a hundred to the growers.

Prices the AAA will pay for Austrian winter peas range between $2.65 and $3 a hundred depending on the grade and purity. Hairy vetch will bring between $6.60 and $7.25 a hundred. A new schedule for common vetch establishes a price of $3 a hundred for seed 95 per cent pure with 90 per cent germination or better. Willamette vetch, which must be inspected and certified by the farm crops department at Oregon State college, will be bought at $4.20 and $4.50 a hundred.

The posting of these prices does not mean that the AAA will handle Oregon's entire output, as private dealers ordinarily purchase considerable proportions of some crops at equal or higher prices.

Last year nearly 800 carloads of winter legume seeds were shipped south by the AAA where they were distributed to cotton farmers for use as cover crops. Farmers receive the seed in lieu of cash payments earned under the farm program.

WEST LEADS IN LUMBER OUTPUT.

Nearly a trillion board feet of lumber has been cut from the forests of the United States since 1909, according to a summary of the figures prepared by the Bureau of Census. Thirty-seven per cent or 370 billion board feet has been cut from the eleven western states. In 1799 the annual cut of the nation was 300 million board feet and this had raised to nearly 13 billion board feet by 1869. At that time the most of the lumber was produced in the northeastern part of the United States. By 1879 the Great Lakes states had taken the lead, and this was passed on to the south in 1899. Since 1926 the west has been the major lumber producing section of the nation.
