

LION ROARS

As Echoed From Cottage Grove Union High School

(Lois White, editor.)

Friday's assembly got off to a good start with the introduction of the queen and king candidates. First off came the seniors marching in with their cheers and yells for Phyllis and Mervin. They wound up sitting in a semi-circle in the front of the stage. No sooner had they been settled than the freshmen appeared from behind with Juanita and Stanley drifting along on a chariot (?) made out of a ladder. They were brought down the aisle and stopped long enough in front to give their thanks to their class for electing them and were carried out again amidst the cheering of the freshmen. The sophomore queen and king, Joan and Kenneth, were very cleverly introduced by their one and only Percy Lassiter in that style that only he possesses. The introduction of the junior candidates, Virginia and Verlin, was carried on by way of a "Who's Who" program. Bob Daugherty, questioner, called upon students from the audience who tried to guess whom the selection which Donna Chestnut played on the piano represented. The seniors had the last word of the assembly with a pep talk by Bob Grewelle and a skit. After a short interlude of darkness a moonlight night was created and low and behold was Juliet (Dorothy Safley) perched about eight flights up on a ladder with a nightgown on calling for her Romeo (Jake Bauder). The skit went on and finally resulted in Romeo pushing Juliet aside and accepting the senior queen candidate, Phyllis Sorenson, as his one and only in preference to Juliet.

Immediately following the short assembly the students assembled down town to give a peppy reception for the Battery E homecoming.

Bob "Boog" Blackmore after a year's absence from school returned Monday. He has been serving in the National Guard. Bob was one of Coach French's prize trackmen. Sophs Win.

The first game of interschool football was finished Tuesday with the sophomores downing the freshmen 6-0. There were no scores in the first half. In the last part of the second half the sophomores passed and ran their way down to the one-yard line where Keele picked a hole in the line and dashed over for the score. The try for extra point was no good. The sophomores are now on top with one win and no losses.

Not Wheat but Milk and Eggs

In 1918 wheat headed the list of farm products needed for national defense purposes. In today's emergency, however, the emphasis is on foods such as milk and eggs. There is plenty of wheat on hand—in fact, nearly a two year's supply is stored in the nation's Ever-Normal Granary. The U. S. Department of Agriculture urges that farmers, in planning for next year, hold down production of surplus crops such as wheat and at the same time expand production of defense foods needed today.

New Grading Plan Adopted by Union Hi School Lately

The new grading system of the union high school, a topic of discussion for some weeks, has been adopted by the faculty members. New reports of the student progress will be designated, "Student Rating Sheets" and will be issued once each six weeks for each subject the student is taking. A general average rating, determined from the student rating in the knowledge and skill of the subject in question is graded on the basis of: E for excellent, meaning the student is outstanding in his or her progress; S, satisfactory, the student is making definite progress; N, needs to improve, he has not improved as much as he is capable of doing; U, unsatisfactory, pupil has made no apparent progress, nor effort to improve.

The student's general rating is determined also in habits and attitude of work, including courtesy and cooperation and how well he works with the group, whether he takes part in school activities and assumes his share of responsibilities; self direction, planning of work carefully, starts work promptly, concentrates on job at hand, carries out his plans; reliability, can be depended on to fulfill obligations, is present on time each day, is careful in use of his own and school property; painstaking in general appearance and details of all work.

To these reports will be added a report on the student's attendance and conduct in study hall and in classroom.

The purpose of the change in grading is to enable students and parents to obtain a more complete analysis of the student's good points and weaknesses in each subject.

OSC Walnut Study Reveals Need of More Efficiency

Best opportunity for increasing profits by walnut producers in Oregon is to lower the cost of production by increasing the efficiency of operation, according to a summary of the findings of a two-year study made by the farm management department of the experiment station at Oregon State college.

The study was made by G. W. Kuhlman, associate economist, and C. E. Schuster, federal horticulturist, and their report has recently been issued as station bulletin No. 396, "Cost and Efficiency in Producing Walnuts in Western Oregon." This bulletin is the final one of a series based on cost of production data obtained from walnut and filbert growers since 1929.

While the facts obtained were based on surveys made several years ago, they are believed applicable to the present and future inasmuch as practices followed in walnut production have not changed materially since 1931. It is also possible for a grower at any time to apply the current prices for any particular year to the cost of production tables given in the bulletin, points out William A. Schoenfeld, director of the experiment station.

Until the present war situation stopped most of the imports, about 11 per cent of walnuts consumed in the United States were brought in from China, France, and Turkey. Eighty-five per cent were produced in California, and 4 per cent in Oregon. While domestic production has been increasing, the per capita consumption of walnuts in the United States has been decreasing despite a drastic decline in prices. It is concluded by Kuhlman and Schuster, therefore, that profitable production will depend largely on reducing costs.

Average cost of production for the years studied was 13.3 cents per pound, and the average yield was 500 pounds per acre. The average price received for the same two years was 13.9 cents per pound. Of total costs, only 4.8 cents per pound was immediate cash cost, however.
