SQUARE DANCES SWEEPING ON WITH OLD-TIME SWING.

The old-time square dance is not only coming back, but is taking the country with speed comparable to a new collegiate fad, reports Miss Izola Jensen, OSC extension specialist in community social organization, who has just held some training meetings in southern Oregon. These training meetings, held in Coos, Jackson, and Klamath counties, were the first of a series which will include other counties this fall and winter.

Outdoor square dancing this summer, at a national training meeting at Colorado Springs attended by Miss Jensen, was participated in on some occasions by from 60 to 80 sets of four couples each. At the recent indoor training meeting at Medford, 12 sets took part, while at Klamath Falls 17 sets were on the floor, with a loud speaker over which Miss Jensen did the calling.

Both young and old are taking to these "swing clubs," says Miss Jensen. They are being introduced in schools for noon hour or after-school recreation, are used by granges and other community groups, and are even being used at church parties, frequently with the participants in costume.

A new mimeograph entitled "Fun with the Old-Time Swing" has been prepared for free distribution to those interested in developing this type of recreation.

Timely Recipes

If you serve cocoa for breakfast try this recipe:

3 tablespoons cocoa
3 1/2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cups boiling water
5 cups milk, scalded
4 teaspoon vanilla

Blend cocoa, sugar, and salt. Add water slowly blending until smooth. Cook directly over a low flame for 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add scalding milk, reheat, and beat until frothy. Add vanilla if desired. Serve piping hot. May be served with a dash of whipped cream. Makes 5 servings.

BITS O' BUSINESS.

Farm wage rates, says the Department of Agriculture, are at the highest levels since 1930; as of October 1 they stood at 165 per cent of the 1910-14 average, and the supply of farm laborers is at the lowest point in 32 years. Fountain pen makers are doing a whirlwind business, what with pen and pencil sets so popular as gifts for soldiers—if they run into material scarcities they feel they can make out a good case for priority rating on the grounds of the morale-building value for the service men. . . . Butter and egg imports from the Argentine are zooming, on account of the big rise in prices for the domestic varieties; it may not halt that domestic price rise to have these imports coming in, but it may put a brake on them somewhat.

Tailless Plane Makes 200 Flights, Interests U. S. Army

A strange-looking new plane, produced by a major California manufacturer, has aroused interest of U. S. Army because it has made over 200 successful flights. Its broad wing makes tail unnecessary, cuts down wind resistance, simplifies manufacture. Two engines push, instead of pull, it through air.

THIS WEEK IN DEFENSE

Aid to Britain, Russia.

Lend-Lease Expeditor Harrison, returned from Moscow conferences on aid to Russia, reported to the President that the Russian government and people are determined to fight on at all costs but the soviet armies "need substantial quantities of munitions and raw materials. Treasury Secretary Morgenthau advanced the Soviet Union another $30,000,000 against gold Russia is sending to this country. The Defense Supplies Corporation authorized payment of $36,889,000 to the Russian-owned Amtorg Trading Company for imports of manganese and other materials necessary to the U. S. defense industry.

Both Houses of congress passed the $5,985,000,000 new lend-lease appropriation and sent it to conference to adjust minor differences.

Production Progress.

Production progress was summarized as follows: Ships—all navy and maritime commission contracts are ahead of schedule and by the end of November one 10,000-ton cargo ship will be turned out every day; Bombers—designs ready for mass production and four gigantic new plants will be in operation by next summer; Tanks—production being doubled by farming out to make 2,000 a month; Powder and Small Arms—abreast of schedule with 30 of 70 planned plants now in production, 61 by spring; OPM Production Director Harrison said.

Labor.

OPM Directors, Knudsen and Hillman and War and Navy Secretaries Stimson and Knox issued a joint statement that the interruption of defense production by strikes or slowdowns "is the greatest help aggressors can get these days when material on the battlefield is everything." They asked employers and employees to telephone the U. S. Conciliation Service or the OPM in cases of labor difficulties so they can receive "immediate attention."

Living Costs and Prices.

The Labor Department reported living costs for moderate income families in large cities are now 9.6 percent higher than before the outbreak of war in Europe. Price Administrator Henderson, in a report to the President, said the U. S. needs price control legislation "and we need it fast."

Priorities.

Priorities Director Nelson issued an order entirely prohibiting the use of copper for non-defense construction after November 1 and after January 1 for 100 civilian articles such as toys, jewelry, dress accessories, house furnishings and burial equipment. He also ordered continued through December the curtailment of light truck production for civilian use.

Civilian Defense.

The President proclaimed November 11-16 "Civilian Defense Week." The proclamation asked Americans "to become better informed of the many vital phases of the civilian defense program and of opportunities . . . for the participation of every individual . . ." Civilian Defense Director LaGuardia announced the theme of the week "The only effective answer to total war is total defense."

Air.

The War Department announced the present 54-group combat plane program is being expanded to provide organization of 84 combat groups—a virtual doubling of Army air strength. The new program calls for an increase in Air Force enlisted personnel to 400,000 by next July.

Navy, Army.

The Navy launched the submarine Haddock and commissioned for active service the aircraft carrier Hornet and the destroyer Bristol.

The Army awarded contracts for the construction of 56 more USO recreation buildings, bringing the number under contract to 107.

Selective Service.

Selective service headquarters completed arrangements to classify Army men with mechanical skills before they are discharged so they may be immediately employed in defense industry. "Referral offices" operated by the U. S. Employment Service in each camp will interview each man to give him specific advice as to where he can find work.

Oil, Gasoline.

Because of a "more optimistic outlook" Defense Petroleum Coordinator Ickes withdrew his request that east coast filling stations remain closed between 7 p. m. and 7 a. m. Mr. Ickes said the move was made possible by the return of 40 tankers by the British, increased transportation facilities to bring oil to the east coast and the fact that his conservation program had reduced the oil reserves shortages from 9,000,000 barrels to 476,000 barrels.

COLLEGE GRADS MAY QUALIFY.

College graduates having experience in architecture, geology, cartography, manufacturing plant design or similar fields may qualify for special commissions as engineers in the Naval Reserve. Navy Department has announced. Officers so commissioned will be sent to the Navy's new Photographic Interpretation school at the Naval Air Station, Anacostia, for an eight-week training course in interpreting photographs taken from the air.

Boy Scout News

At a meeting of Boy Scouts October 20th, Keith Wooley was elected senior patrol leader and Billy Boyce scribe. On October 27th Delbert Wells was elected leader of the Beaver patrol. The Scouts received instructions regarding the blackout and made further preparations for a demonstration to be given before the Chamber of Commerce next Tuesday.

Last night the scouts who will assist in the blackout received cards assigning them to the various districts. Scouts assisting are: Reggie Land, Stanley Daugherty, Ben Hickey, Steve Woodard, Leeland Ray, Delbert Wells, Bert Hatch, Gale Troxwell, Russell Porterfield, Mickey Hunter, Don Clark, George Hoard, Billy Boyce, Bruce Johnson, Douglas Veatch, Kenneth Stroup, Delbert Miller, Ross Adkins, Jack Pruitt and Mike Quaglia.

The Sea Scouts met last night and worked on apprentice sea scoutsmanship and sea scout requirements.

IMPORTANT FOOTBALL GAMES.

Oregon football enthusiasts have three outstanding grid offerings to claim their attention during the coming week end. Saturday afternoon, November 1, the University of Oregon entertains Washington State college at Eugene in a game which means much to Oregon's chances to stay in the running for the championship. Associated sportscaster Jon Carpenter will broadcast the game over station KALE, Portland, and other Mutual network stations throughout Oregon starting at 1:45 p. m.

The Oregon State college vs Idaho game at Corvallis will be described by Associated sportscaster Jack Shaw commencing at 1:45 p. m. over station KEX, Portland.

STEVENSON WAITS SENTENCE.

Frank Stevenson, arrested on the night of October 22nd and charged with the theft of approximately $375.00 worth of tools from the shops of the O. P. & E. railroad, plead guilty as charged and is awaiting sentence from Circuit Judge G. F. Skipworth. Myron Perry, chief of police, announced here Monday.

Frank P. Stevenson Tuesday was sentenced to a year in the state pen, it was learned after the above was written. Sentence was passed by Judge G. F. Skipworth.

The Thysania moth of Guatemala attains the phenomenal wingspread of more than 12 inches, according to Natural History magazine.

Economic Motives, Fascism
Economic motives drive people into fascism and communism only to a limited extent, says one noted authority. As a whole the originators of such doctrines are harmless philosophers really interested in human welfare. It is the practical leaders who are always ambitious and ruthless men who climb to power by appealing to the egotism and conceit of the masses.
