

EMPLOYER CAN EXPRESS OPINION.

WASHINGTON—The supreme court held Monday that the Wagner act does not prohibit an employer "from expressing its view on labor policies or problems."

Justice Murphy made this assertion in a 7 to 0 opinion returning to the labor board litigation involving the Virginia Electric and Power company for "a redetermination of the issues in the light of this opinion."

The board has found that a union of company employees was a company dominated union but the supreme court said that this conclusion "seems based heavily upon findings which are not free from ambiguity and doubt."

Owners of Horses, Mules Asked to Register Animals

Registration of all horses and mules between the ages of three and ten inclusive in the States of California, Oregon, Washington and Nevada is desired by the Headquarters, Western Remount Area, San Mateo, California.

Why? America is preparing with all possible speed for an all out, long war. Manpower is being mustered, industry and production thrown into high gear and economic and natural resources marshalled.

Experience of the present war shows the horse and mule still essential for a variety of uses in modern armies. Germany has thus far employed something like a million, Japan has used large numbers in China and Russia currently in winning large scale successes with mounted units or units otherwise employing horses.

In our domestic life of the near future horses may be most vital. Curtailment of production of power driven farm machinery and transportation, restrictions on use of various fuels or lubricants, actual shortages of certain essentials, greater demands on agriculture and similar conditions present or possibly imminent, make future and greater importance of the horse likely.

America has more well bred useful horses and mules than any country in the world. We can use them and may need them any-where anytime.

Every horse and mule owner is requested to forward at once to his county agent the following information concerning each horse or mule he owns:

Age, sex, color, whether riding or draft type, whether broken or unbroken and whether or not necessary for owner's own use. County agents will consolidate and forward this information. In counties not having county agents, horse and mule owners may report direct to the Western Remount Area, 72-3rd Avenue, San Mateo, California. It is requested all animals be registered by January 10, 1942.

It is desired to emphasize that this is not a draft of animal resources and that it seems most unlikely this will ever be necessary. When horses or mules are needed they will be purchased. Prompt registration of animals of a useful military age is simply a most desirable step in our defense preparations. Registration of animals at this time is voluntary but obviously a patriotic obligation.

A CORRECTION.

Although the name of Adams probably will not be found as many times in the American list of family names as Smith, there are several by that name around here. Last week a person by that name became entangled in the meshes of the law, and judging from the number of jokes aimed at Herb Adams, union oil station operator at the intersection of Sixth and the new highway, he was at a loss to understand why all the jokes about him being "pinched" until he learned that a person by that name had been arrested by law enforcement officers. Mr. Adams asked the Sentinel if it would set people right as to which Adams was fined, the Union Oil Adams or some other Adams, and we are informed it was not the Union Oil Adams, known as Herb, that was fined by the law.
