THE FRUITS OF HOARDING.

Hoarding of commodities produces two certain results—high prices, and government-enforced rationing.

An excellent example of that is touched on in one of Paul Mallon's recent columns. Writing on the sugar situation, Mr. Mallon says: "Food authorities have counted up sugar stocks and conclude these are sufficient to furnish 99 pounds to everyone in this country this year. The average consumption for eight years from 1932 to 1940, was 103 pounds, so the amount available is only four pounds less than normal."

"But whether you will get your 99 pounds this year, is a question. . . . While stocks are almost adequate, hoarding continues. Rationing is inevitable, solely because of demand and not because of inadequate supply."

In short, those who hoarded sugar brought the rationing program on themselves and all other consumers. And the hoarders will not even be individually benefitted by their abnormal stocks—when you get your sugar ration cards, tickets will be removed to compensate for whatever excess supply you have on hand. Extremely severe criminal penalties are provided for fraudulent declarations.

The best advice any consumer can take is this: "Buy normally—don't purchase in excessive quantities—don't hoard." The retail stores of this country are preaching that doctrine now. It is an essential protection against inflation and shortages of necessities.

HERE AND THERE

Most of the taxpayers have not fully recovered from the taxing time, the deadline of which was March 15th on federal and state and county taxes. One resident who has a pretty good idea of what it is all about estimates that about a million dollars will be taken out of the community for taxes, including all forms of taxes.

One war, the revolutionary war, was fought over taxation without representation and another war may be in the making unless some of our county officials change their viewpoint with reference to giving us our share of county funds and more especially road money. Thirty-five miles to the east we have a mining industry in its most active period in recent years. Several hundred thousand dollars have been spent by one concern in an effort to develop the Bohemia section. Ninety to 100 men are employed in this mine and development work has been proceeding at a normal rate for the past year and a half. Now that the mine owners are about to start production and to get a small return on their investment improved roads are needed to transport ores out of the district. If this industry isn't worth something to Lane county, then there is no industry worth anything. We ought to have more cooperation out of the county and the forest service in making needed repairs and improvements on this road, which serves the mining as well as the lumbering industry. If Lane county has grown so big that part of the county must be neglected in order to serve the other sections then it's time to start a move to organize another county.

Looks like to us the idea that the bigger the county, the less taxes taxpayers have to pay is the bunk so far as Lane county is concerned.

Man and woman both sprang from apes, but woman claims she sprang the farthest. It took a million years to make a man out of a monkey, but any woman can reverse the process in about four minutes.

To put enough iron in the blood of some timid souls worrying about the future, you'd need a priority.

Here's something even harder to find than the proverbial needle in a haystack—an isolationist today in America.

A Week of the War

The WPB reported 95% of the radio and phonograph industry, which ceases civilian production April 22, will be completely converted to war work before June 30. Production of communication equipment needed by the military services is expected to exceed a rate of $125 million a month by the end of the year.

Chairman Nelson announced 31 regional conferences of labor and management representatives from prime contracting plants engaged in making guns, ships, planes, tanks and machine tools will be held during the next two weeks. The meetings will lay plans to meet or exceed the production goals announced by the President. The WPB said during the three months following Pearl Harbor more than $72 billion had been made available for the war effort. The total for the 21 months amounted to almost $140 billion.

Rubber, Gasoline and Oil. President Roosevelt in a letter to state governors proposed speed limits of 40 miles per hour be established throughout the country to conserve rubber.

The WPB said deliveries of gasoline to service stations and bulk consumers in 17 eastern states, the District of Columbia, Washington and Oregon will be cut by one-fifth March 19. Service stations in the curtailment areas must limit their operations to a maximum of 12 hours in any one day and to a total of 72 hours a week, except to provide service for certain essential civilian uses.

Rationing. The Office of Price Administration announced men in the armed forces and those called for induction may sell their new passenger cars without restriction. The OPA placed used typewriters under a complete allocation program, prohibiting their sale until April 13, but authorizing unrestricted rentals under a 60-day price ceiling based on rates prevailing March 5. Allocations will be handled by existing auto and tire rationing boards.

Army and Navy. Army Chief of Staff Marshall said reorganization of the army has reduced the general staff from about 500 officers to 98 who will concern themselves primarily with planning of military operations.

Shipping. Maritime Commissioner Vickery reported the 1942-43 "Victory" ship construction program has been increased from 18 million to 20 million dead-weight tons of production 2,000 ships in two years. Admiral Vickery said U. S. ship production will be greater than all the rest of the world combined. The Commission's overall program calls for 2,877 ships to be commissioned by the end of 1943. War Production Chairman Nelson congratulated 4,000 shipyard workers at the Bethlehem Shipbuilding yards at San Francisco who offered to donate a Sunday's work without pay in order to get maximum production of war vessels.

Air. The Civil Aeronautics Administration announced expansion of its programs in order to train 45,000 men a year in elementary flight training instead of 25,000 and 30,000 men in secondary courses instead of 10,000, and to inaugurate training of 31,000 ground technicians annually. Priority in the training will be granted students eligible for appointment as aviation cadets. The army air forces

Purchase, sales and rentals of various types of new office machinery were halted by the WPB, except to persons possessing high preference ratings. The Board extended the ban on use of "bright work" to all types of motor vehicles and prohibited its use in replacement parts. Manufacture of bicycles was curtailed, and production of tire retreading, re-capping equipment was suspended except on preference-rated orders. The board directed canners to set aside for the government considerable quantities of their 1942 pack of fruits and vegetables. Maintenance and repair of existing plumbing and heating installations in farms, residences, and office and apartment buildings was facilitated by a new board order.

18th Anniversary

Well Folks; here we are, eighteen years after we established our little shop, down by the depot.

In eighteen years we have had boom times, pulled through the big depression, dabbled in the "selling" boom; and now see the country coming back to sanity under the lash of war. Many and large have been the years since we started.

Of course, the real "Establisher" of our business, was Andrew Nelson, the "Andy" Nelson known by all the State as a pioneer electrician and power plant builder. To him goes the credit for the introduction of electricity in this community. His was the first "Light Plant" in town. His were the hands which first spliced wires and "snout trouble" in the complicated Heister electric system of the day. From him the present owner of Nelson Electric Shop learned his trade. Under his guidance our first electrical jobs were done in this town.

The First World War interrupted our electrical business. After service in the Army Signal Corps, came College, and industrial electric training, and auto-electric work. Then—eighteen years ago—the re-establishment of our electrical work in Cottage Grove.

And so we call this the 18th Anniversary, but it seems to us that it is more fitting to speak of it as of the Nelsons in the electric business in Cottage Grove.

The Forty-Eighth Anniversary

NOW we find ourselves in another World War. A greater World War. It is a time for all people to put aside selfish thoughts of personal gain and work for the common good.

IT IS OUR PLEDGE that we will serve our country in any capacity that we may. The Junior member of the firm is in uniform. The Senior member will serve, again, if and when called.

The Nelson Electric Shop will be maintained, come Germans, Japs or High Water, for the service of the radio-electrical needs of this community.

The telegram was addressed to General Douglas MacArthur, the Philippines. It read:

"Hold on. I am coming. Callahan."

Callahan was inducted into the army as a selectee Friday.
