Delivered After 23 Years

A woman's appeal for some loughboy to write to her has reached the army 23 years late, officers from Camp Upton, L. I., revealed. The supply officers frequently receive materials packed during the World war. The tag on one bundle, dated 1918, was signed by a woman inspector who wrote her address on the bag and invited correspondence.

Why Cats See in Dark

Cats' eyes shine because light is reflected by the tapetum lucidum, which is part of the membranous layer between the retina and the outer covering of the pupils of their eyes. This apparently has functional use in reflecting light rays which enter the eyes over the entire retina and aid the cat in seeing at night in very dim light.

First American

Dr. Arthur E. Guedel of Los Angeles is the only American to be honored with the coveted Henry Hill Hickman medal of the Royal Society of Medicine in London. He is but the third person in the world to receive this honor. Dr. Guedel pioneered the reintroduction of nitrous oxide anesthesia by making it proof against asphyxiation, developed divinyl ether, a safer and quicker anesthetic than ordinary ether, helped create the carbon dioxide absorption method and conducted a fruitful 12 year's research in the perfection of cyclopropane gas.

Mass Vitamin Feeding

"The most important advance in human dietetics since the invention of the fork and spoon"—mass feeding vitamins, is being undertaken by Los Angeles, with the co-operation of an aircraft plant which has permitted 1,200 "guinea pigs" to volunteer from among their workers to eat vitaminized lunches. The scientists are providing the formulas and the aircraft company is providing the lunches and is undertaking to permit tests of the nervous reactions of their workers to the improved diet.

Once Prohibited

We can thank Hernando Cortez, conqueror of Mexico, for the discovery of chocolate as a drink. When Cortez was sent out by the Spanish government to explore this New World discovered by Columbus he went in search of gold. In Mexico he and his men were entertained royally with strange food, such as corn and strange drinks such as chocolate. The Spaniards liked it and took it back to Spain. Spanish ecclesiastical circles condemned chocolate as immoral. But people were fascinated by this new vice and tried it on many occasions.

No Coast Guardsman?

You might say that Uncle Sam hopes his folks are "keeping up with the Joneses" these days. He's referring them to Aviation Cadet Van W. Jones of Kelly's advanced flying school and his three brothers, all of Fort Payne, Ala. Spreading their strength are brothers Richard of the army, Ted of the marines, and Robert of the navy.

Summer Cooking News

HOT weather is no excuse for the disappearance of hot meals. Eating habits can't be radically changed on short notice without danger of a digestive upset. It is hunting for trouble to serve entirely cold meals to a family accustomed to hot food.

Mrs. Kiene

Isn't your family more active in summer than winter? If it isn't sports nowadays, it's victory-gardening. When I lived on the farm, long summer days from dawn to dusk worked up a terrific appetite—and used up a lot of energy besides. It takes as much food to replenish energy in summer as in winter, and this cannot be done without hot, healthful meals.

But where do you come in? The consolation of doing your duty by the family doesn't make it easier to turn out piping hot platters in scorching weather. Why not meals that literally cook themselves? Oven meals, one-dish surface meals and deep-well cooker dishes provide tops in nourishment with a minimum of attention. Best of all, such simple meals can be served on the lawn or front porch. To save trips to the kitchen, load everything on a tray or baking pan, including a thermos filled with iced tea, lemonade or milk.

Choose from your favorite cookbook the menus that will keep your family well-fed and yet won't be a hardship on you. This meal's a sample:

- *Macaroni Loaf Recipe
- 1 cup elbow macaroni
 - 1 1/2 cups hot milk
 - 1 cup medium fine dry bread crumbs
 - 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 - 1/2 cup grated cream cheese
 - 8 eggs, slightly beaten
 - 1 tablespoon melted butter
- Cook macaroni in one quart boiling water with 1 teaspoon salt until tender. Drain and rinse in cold water. Pour hot milk over the bread crumbs, add other ingredients. Mix lightly. Pour into well buttered loaf baking dish. Pour melted butter over top of loaf and bake for 45 minutes in preheated 375° oven. Remove from oven, let set 5 minutes. To loosen from dish, insert a knife at the edge and at sides. Shake loose and invert on heated platter.
