DU PONT SAYS THE WORLD IS GOING AHEAD

The House of du Pont of Wilmington stands out as a great leader of American industry. A du Pont manufactured powder for George Washington during the Revolution, and the United States Government frequently has relied upon the du Ponts for munitions over the years. Under the guidance of Lamont du Pont, the company has forged steadily ahead in recent years. It manufactures thousands of chemical products to be found in every household in the country. In speaking to American fighting forces overseas a few days ago Mr. du Pont made a number of very thought-provoking statements on the world picture of today.

"After the war we will have at our command in America ten, fifty, a hundred times what we had before, chiefly new materials," he said. "American factories will be producing almost seven times more aluminum than in 1939, and 100 times more magnesium, which weighs less than aluminum. We will be making almost as much rubber by chemical processes as was grown annually in all the world before the war," he added. He said that the American aviation industry would be able to produce in a single year almost double the number of planes that were made throughout its history up to 1940. He prophesied that some of these planes will be quadruple the size of the largest pre-war planes, and that the nation will be dotted with huge air fields. He predicted that great chemical plants would stand ready to turn out new plastics, new paints, new textile fibers, new fertilizers, and a hundred and one other new materials in quantities undreamed of only a few years ago. There would be wood that won't burn, glass that won't break, window screens that contain no wire and machine bearings that contain no metal. There would be better and yet cheaper homes, finer and less costly automobiles, radios, and refrigerators—a greater abundance of almost everything that adds to the comfort and satisfaction of living—all of these will be awaiting the homecoming soldier when the war is won.

"Spurred to extraordinary efforts by the extraordinary needs of the past few years," he added "we have gone ahead 30 to 50 years as measured by the old rate of development in many fields."

These are statements of fact by a man who knows what he is talking about—and he never exaggerates.

NO EXCUSE FOR WASTE

Senator Byrd of Virginia has long and courageously opposed governmental waste. The problem has become many times greater as the war has progressed. Government spending has grown beyond the comprehension of man. It has grown so great, many of us are inclined to dismiss the whole subject with a shrug. And yet as Senator Byrd and others who put interest in their country above all else, know, government spending that leads to uncontrolled waste can ruin the strongest nation just as completely as can military defeat.

A nation may survive spending. It cannot survive unchecked waste.

Billions of dollars are being wasted. No one can deny that. They are being wasted in excessive wages, in cost-plus contracts for war work, in political mismanagement and in a thousand other ways. The excuse is often made that this is a big country, that waste is inevitable. But that is not a valid excuse. There is no excuse for continuous waste.

The demoralizing influence of governmental waste undermines the fighting spirit of worker and employer. It will inevitably slow the voluntary sale of government bonds because men and women instinctively mistrust a waster even when that waster is their own government. These are fundamental reasons why Congress must halt the waste of public money. It is not so much the amount of money that is wasted during any given period that will hurt, it is knowingly permitting the waste. In these days of hundred-billion-dollar budgets, a single billion may not seem like much. But a wasted billion which is part of a trend toward more wasted billions, is a danger signal that cannot be ignored if we value our self respect, our freedom and our financial integrity.

Senator Byrd has revealed the waste. The voters and Congress must apply the remedy.

Lions Lose Fifth Cage Tilt 47-31

(Charles Cooley)

The Cottage Grove Lions lost their fifth league tilt to the strong Springfield five 47-31 at Springfield Friday afternoon. The game was played in the afternoon to allow for the Lions to get back in time for the memorial services in the evening. Coach Curtis French pulled a surprise on the crowd as he started the game with five rookie reserves. Springfield started the game with a bang as they rolled up eight points before the Lions could get going. As the quarter ended, Cottage Grove came within four points of the Millers. The Lions' reserves kept pace with the Millers in the first half of the second period, but fell back as the half ended 21-14. Led by Dowell and Cowan, the Millers started a scoring spree and built up a 12-point lead at the end of the third period and continued in the final frame to increase their lead as the game ended 47-31. The Lions' reserves played a good game but could not cope with the Miller regulars. The Lions' regulars saw very little action. Dowell and Cowan led the Miller attack with 11 and 17 points respectively. John Edwards and DeWitt, Lion guards, played good ball as they tallied 14 and 9 points to lead the Lions' attack.

The Grove baby Lions also lost their game as the Miller second string defeated them 38-31. Eston Wicks led the Lions B squad with 9 points.
