

Sears Helps Build Needed Medical Gadgets on Saipan

(By Staff Sergeant Hy Hurwitz of Boston, Mass., a Marine Corps Combat Correspondent.)

Saipan, Marianas Islands—(Delayed)—Marine engineers of the Second Division, now in action on Tinian Island, have been highly praised for building several essential medical instruments during the fierce battle for Saipan, so that wounded Marines could receive expert care and treatment.

A Japanese flame thrower motor was converted into a stomach pump. From copper tubings in a Jap salvage pile, the engineers made several airway tubes for throat breathing. Dressing carts were constructed from Jap bicycles.

Detailed to one of the main hospitals here was Marine Lieutenant Kenneth O. Sears of Cottage Grove, Oregon. His men were experienced in road construction work and bridge building. Designing hospital equipment was a new venture to them.

"All I had to do," a doctor said later, "was tell Lieutenant Sears what we needed. He'd go out and do it. It was better than ordering from a medical instrument factory. It didn't take Lieutenant Sears and his men more than a day to make their deliveries."

A stomach pump was devised by

This is a crankcase

The under side of your engine is enclosed by a thing called a crankcase.

This is a sort of swimming pool where hard-working engine parts splash around in motor oil to keep from getting overheated.

Speaking of oil, remember how doughnuts, French fried potatoes, etc., foul up your deep fat with hard, burned particles of this and that? Well, oil in your crankcase gets fouled up, too.

One minute your oil looks almost good enough to put on waffles.

But a few "A" coupons later it has become grimy black from carbon, dust and sludge. And as gritty as a picnic on a windy beach.

Then it's time to have Shell put in fresh, safe Golden Shell motor oil. And while they're about it, have 'em Shell-lubricate the entire car. This is a protective service to keep your family bus from joining the 5000 worn-out automobiles that limp to junk yards every day.

Mud—in Southwest Pacific

Every farmer who has waded through a rain-soaked feed lot will appreciate the plight of Lt. Earl N. Corcoran of the Island Signal Depot, Guadalcanal, who is here seen struggling through the mud. The mud, due to prevalent rain, is 9 inches deep at this point.

Lieutenant Sears, working with Corporal Kenneth H. Reed of Moab, Utah, and Staff Sergeant Fred E. Deahler of Garden Ave., Billings, Montana.

"We had to convert a compressor so that it would suck air instead of pump it," Lieutenant Sears said. "We got a Jap flame thrower motor and Reed, an automobile mechanic, did most of the work on it."

ROUNDUP

OPA says—Ceiling prices on barley have been reduced an average of three cents a bushel. An inventory of rationed shoes and ration currency as of the close of business, July 31, by all manufacturers and all persons dealing in rationed shoes has been called for. Maximum prices for fresh plums at shipping point have been increased by approximately nine-tenths of a cent a pound. For sugar, meats, cheeses, butter, processed foods and other rationed food items that are lost, damaged, destroyed or stolen, consumers may apply to their local War Price and Ration Boards for replacement rations.

Unless the military situation prevents, all Merchant Marine personnel will be given opportunity to vote in the 1944 elections, the War Shipping Administration says. The Germans will lose an important agricultural region if the Russians occupy East Prussia, the Foreign Economic Administrator says. Growers of peaches for canning and freezing will get an average of not more than $60 a ton in all states except Washington, Oregon and California, WFA and OPA announce. The shell eggs shipped this year to support producer prices will not be "dumped" on the Domestic Market, WFA says.

THE 24-HOUR SHIFT

Your body machinery is on a 24-hour shift.

It has run night and day from birth, through childhood, the "growing up" years, the working years, middle age, until you arrive at old age.

No matter how perfect your body machinery was at birth, certain parts are apt to show the effects of wear and tear, stresses and strains.

You want to look well and feel fine. You want to be able to put in a good day's work. You want to avoid being old before your time and to avoid the worry, expense and loss of wages due to serious illness.

In order for machinery to run efficiently it must be checked regularly for wear and tear, and necessary adjustments made. If you want your body to run at maximum efficiency, which obviously is subject to much more wear and tear than any man-made machine, let your chiropractor examine you. Do not wait for a break-down in your body "machinery."

Let your chiropractor examine you periodically so that he may check on the various stresses and strains which may have developed during your 24-hour shift. He will be able to adjust your body machinery so that all different parts will work so well together that you will be able to forget them and continue to be well and work efficiently.

HORSES AND MULES "DE-MOBILIZED"

Mechanization of the Army resulted in a surplus stock of 17,000 horses, an Office of War Information reported on surplus war property shows. Dealers bought the horses at sales and sold three-fourths of them to farmers. Between 600 and 700 mules, also displaced by Army Mechanization, have been auctioned off.

Developed Artistry
Although completely isolated from the cultures of Europe and Asia, the ancient Mayans and Mexicans attained a unique degree of artistic ability in the fine arts. Their stone sculptures, especially, are unsurpassed even by the Egyptians and Babylonians. In jade, crystal and other lapidary carvings they approach the skill of the Chinese.

Banned Logwood
After unsuccessful early attempts to compound a dye, England in 1581 prohibited the importation and use of logwood, one of the seven members of the dyewood family of trees. This law remained in effect 100 years, long after chemists had learned to make a fast dye out of the extract.

New Muskmelon
The new Iroquois muskmelon, entirely resistant to fusarium wilt, was developed for certain areas where this disease has caused serious losses to growers. As it is not resistant to other melon diseases, it may not be well adapted to other areas.

Sow Thickly

Most people sow too thickly, and this not only results in a waste of seed, but it reduces yield. Sow only a little thicker than the stand you want, and if you err either way, it is better to sow too thin than too thick.

Fool-Proof Crops

Almost fool-proof crops for the beginner in gardening are spring and fall greens, snap beans, tomatoes, and beets, carrots, and other root crops.

Kills Vermin

Kerosene used in the chicken house is not a good disinfectant against bacteria. It will, however, help kill lice, mites and other vermin.

Important Crop

Third most important crop in the nation is hay.
