JAPS GUESS THIS ONE WRONG
The Japs apparently figured that the rainy season from mid-May until late August would retard the Allied advance in Burma. The Japs made a "gross miscalculation," the Chungking Radio said, inasmuch as the Allied capture of Myitkyina by Allied forces occurred at the height of the monsoon season, when the Nipponese, assuming the Allies couldn't "take" the monsoons may have diverted the "main part" of their forces to the eastern sector of China.

Belgian Commandos in Italy

SOMEWHERE ON THE ITALIAN FRONT a commando checks the sniper sights on his rifle. Belgian commandos spearheaded the advance of the 5th Army by wiping out enemy machine gun positions in the Italian mountains north of the Garigliano River.

ROUNDUP

OPA says—Any farmer who sold 6,000 pounds or less of dressed meat having any ration point value and produced from his own livestock during the past 12 months must file a report of his sales on Form R-1609 and file with OPA. Cotton compress and warehouse operators may charge a 17 percent surcharge over maximum rates authorized for the 1942-43 season. Individual consumers, small boarding houses and eating places operated to feed workers inside industrial plants may apply for supplemental ration points if they are in areas where the fresh vegetable supply does not meet nutritional needs.

Because of extensive counterfeiting of A-11 gasoline coupons service station operators should be sure that every A coupons they accept is torn out of a valid ration book and that the motorist has endorsed the coupon with the license number of the car into which the gas is delivered. Because of the shortage of kerosene and other heating oils, issuance of fuel oil rations for water heating, domestic cooking or domestic lighting has been halted if the applicant has use of electric equipment for these purposes.

Manufacturers of 1,768,968 electric irons allocated for production have agreed to market them at their March, 1942, prices.

USDA says—Much of the pulpwood for the V-box, a soak-proof paper-board box used in carrying supplies to the Armed Forces, comes from the thinning and logging operation in farm woodlands. Sweet potato meal, made from dehydrated sweet potatoes, compares favorably with corn as a feed for steers. Forty-one percent fewer cattle were fed for market in 11 corn belt states August 1, this year than on that date last year, one of the sharpest decreases ever shown. Thirty-five Latin-American students are studying extensive methods and farm practices in the USA, and about 80 will receive such training before July 1, next year.

Organize for Food-Agriculture

An international authority that would provide international agricultural credit is one of the proposals of the United Nations Interim Commission on food and agriculture in its report recommending that a food and agricultural organization of the United Nations be set up. The FAO, proposed to 44 governments for their acceptance, grew out of the United Nations food conference in June, 1943. Other functions the FAO would include are—to collect, interpret and disseminate information relating to food, nutrition and agriculture; to recommend action with regard to research, education, administration, conservation, agricultural production, processing, marketing and distribution of agricultural products to furnish governments with requested technical assistance.

EASY STORAGE OF VEGETABLES

Any fruits and vegetables available in the fall can be kept for a few weeks in a garage or on the back porch if they are used before freezing weather sets in, the Department of Agriculture says. Where winters are not severe, apples and pears can be kept by setting the containers on a thick layer of newspapers and covering with old rugs, carpeting or newspapers. If matured and thoroughly clean, onions will keep for several months in an attic or an unused room where temperatures stay above freezing. Potatoes may be stored in dry cellars. In any storage, they should be protected against light. Potatoes should be kept in barrels or boxes to reduce loss of moisture and they do better in temperatures of 50 and 60 degrees than if stored at 40 or below.

1944 REMINDER TO FARM SLAUGHTERERS

Any farmer who sold 6,000 pounds or less of dressed-weight meat having a point value higher than zero, and which was produced from his own livestock during the past twelve months, must file a report of his sales with the OPA on form R-1609 (revised) (available at local OPA boards). Farmers selling over 6,000 pounds, as in the past, are to continue to report their sales to OPA on form R-1607.

Previously, reports were required on all sales of meat by farmers slaughtering under War Food Administration slaughter permits. Since May 25, 1944, however, the War Food Administration has not required farmers to obtain slaughter permits.

Robert Graham, president of the Lion's club, has announced the first fall meeting to be next Thursday, September 7, at 12:00 o'clock at the Rainbow Cafe. Guest speaker will be Dr. Henry Gunn, new superintendent of schools of Eugene.

The newly elected officers will be in charge of the meeting. The officers for the coming year include Robert Graham, president; Floyd Gibbons, 1st vice; Pat Rickard, 2nd vice; Joe Bricher, secretary; H. E. Eskin, treasurer; Art Weinkauf, tall twister; Frank E. Brown, lion tamer; Kenneth Hickock, director.

The executive council is meeting at the Rainbow Cafe today at noon to make plans for this year's activities and appoint committees.

MILLIONS TRAINED FOR WAR JOBS

During the past four years, more than 13,300,000 men and women enrolled in organized training programs for war jobs, Paul V. McNutt, Chairman of the War Manpower Commission reports. The training was provided by agencies cooperating with the WMC Bureau of Training. Of the vast group, the food production war training program, conducted through vocational agriculture schools had 3,035,566 enrollments. The engineering, science and management war training program, given in selected colleges, had 1,558,123 enrollments. The training within industry program enrolled 1,375,767 supervisors who, in turn, provided instruction for millions of war plant workers. The National youth administration, which is no longer in existence, provided training for 772,756 persons, during 1942 and 1943 fiscal years.

NURSES GET MOST CITATIONS

Of the awards and citations given to a total of 105 women in the U. S. Armed Forces to date, 97 women of the Army Nurse Corps got the lion's share, OWI reported on the basis of information from army and navy. The Distinguished Flying Cross, highest award ever made to a woman, went to a flying Army nurse in New Guinea.

HOG BRISTLES FLOWN OVER "HUMP"

Most dangerous air route in the world, by general admission, is the flight from India to China over the Himalayan Mountains. This run, known as flying "the hump," is used for hauling vital war cargoes to China. On the equally dangerous return flight, Chinese hog bristles make up part of the cargoes, the Foreign Economic Administration reports. American pigs are killed too young to have time to grow the long, strong bristles characteristic of Chinese pigs—in reality boars. These hog bristles from China are very important in the making of paint brushes for the navy and U.S. Maritime Commission, as well as for brushes used in wool combing machines.

CITIZEN SOLDIERS
don't waste a drop of gasoline

YOU, who have helped America build the mightiest war machine in the world, now proudly see it in action—attacking on every front. And like all machines it must be constantly fueled and lubricated. More than one-half of all war shipments overseas are petroleum products of one kind or another!

Two years ago, passenger cars used 4 1/2 gallons of gas for every gallon that went to war. Today, as the black combat lines on the map become a tighter noose about the necks of tyrants, that ratio has changed to 1/2 gallon of gas for passenger cars to each gallon that powers the machinery of war. That is why the conservation of gas is more important than ever now; why it will become increasingly so until Victory.

The part of every Citizen Soldier is this: Share your car, the enemy rides in an empty seat. Don't apply for more gas than you really need, you'll be taking a fellow-American's share. Endorse your gas coupons, and rationing will go on working successfully. Don't take extra gas or coupons from anyone, you'll be taking gas away from some essential use—hurting our war effort. Remember, Gasoline Powers the Attack—Don't Waste a Drop!

"The gasoline Americans go without at home today is getting them the best 'mileage' they ever had... mileage on the road to Tokyo and Berlin."
