

Livestock Group Warns of Future Marketing Threat

Livestock marketing and transportation problems will be even greater in 1945 than they have been in the past unless immediate action to eliminate some of the difficulties is taken, according to resolutions adopted by the Western Oregon Livestock association at an abridged annual meeting held at Oregon State college.

Because of travel restrictions the session, originally scheduled for Coquille, was attended only by executive committeemen and a few designated representatives from each of the counties active in the association.

The report of the marketing and transportation committee urged uniform truck size limits for western states, with a combined length of 60 feet permitted without increase in weight limits. The committee declared that "OPA restrictions on established marketing practices are causing greater loss in total meat production than economies effected resulting in a net loss to the war effort." Recommendation was made that rationing of lamb in the Pacific coast area be suspended during June, July and August so that the crop will not be wasted and sheep numbers still further reduced by low income to growers.

The western Oregon livestock men followed the lead of the Oregon wool growers in recommending passage of bounty laws by the present legislature and the appropriation of state match funds as one means of controlling the growing menace of predatory animals. The new core test method of determining wool shrinkage was endorsed and Oregon State college was asked to establish a wool testing laboratory along the lines of the present seed-testing service.

Old officers of the association were all reelected to serve another year. These are R. C. Burkhart, Lebanon, president; Fred Knox, Eugene, vice-president; and H. A. Lindgren, extension livestock specialist at O. S. C. secretary-treasurer.

Coos Bay Name Given Postal Recognition

COOS BAY, Ore.—Washington, D. C., postal officials have at last recognized the title Coos Bay (formerly Marshfield)—chosen by voters last year.

The U. S. postal service formally accepted the name Coos Bay yesterday. But Postmaster W. P. McKenna said "here that no dust would settle yet on the old monicker."

Before new stamping equipment can be obtained the city postoffice has to use up the old—marked "Marshfield."

Theo. Tellefson Dies

Theodore Tellefson, 80, died at the home of a sister on route 1, Creswell, Saturday. He was born July 28, 1864 at Lile Minnesota and at twenty-two years of age came to Oregon. For many years he lived at Oregon City, later moving to Bend where he lived until two years ago when he moved to Dexter to make his home with a sister, Mrs. Pedra Jones. Among the survivors are Christian and Clarence of Creswell, brothers, and Mattie and Alma Tellefson of Creswell, sisters.

Local Ag Instructors

The Cottage Grove department of Agriculture was organized in the fall of 1920 with E. J. Edwards as instructor for the first five years. Solon T. White, the next instructor, began teaching in the fall of 1925 and taught here for two years. Mr. White served as state conservationist until his death two years ago. W. S. Averill taught from 1927 to 1930 and is now commandant at the University of Oregon. Burris Young, and Elmer Berg, succeeded Mr. Averill, teaching for two years. Mr. Young passed away some years ago and Mr. Berg is proprietor of a grocery store in Salem. Harold Finnegan taught for one year in Cottage Grove, and is now in the Farm Ownership Section of the regional office of the Farm Security Administration in Portland. H. C. Williamson succeeded Mr. Finnegan and taught four years. He is now a lieutenant in the armed forces. George West became instructor in 1941 and taught one year. Donald Kabler is the present instructor.

Cottage Grove was among the first of the 17 departments of Agriculture organized.

Junior Banquet-Prom Plans

It has been rumored among the junior and senior classes that plans are progressing exceedingly well for the junior prom and banquet which is to be given sometime in the latter part of the spring. From all committee reports we're sure it will be a success.

Hi-Y Movie

Several movie short subjects were sponsored by the Hi-Y organization last Friday as a pay assembly. The movies consisted of five shorts, "Here Comes the Circus," "Bosco and the Cannibals," "Danger on Ice," "Red Hot Rhythm," and a musical, "Count Me In."

There has been much discussion in student council about the reaction of students to his type of movie against the regular full length movie.

Senior Class Elects

A senior class meeting was held February 16 to elect class prophets, class lawyers, class historians, class poets, and class song writers. Those elected so far are: class prophets, Martin Olsen, Ruth McCall and Gale Lebow. The prophets' duty is to prophesy what the members of the class of '45 will be doing in the future. Class historians, Sara Bjorset and Bob Wicks. Their duty is to write up a brief history on each senior.

The rest of the elections will be held soon, at another senior class meeting.

New Books Arrive

Thirty-seven new books have been received by the high school. Books of current interest are: "Brave Men," by Ernie Pyle; "This Land We Defend," by Bennett and Pryon; "Son of the Smoky Sea," the story of an Aleutian Islander, by Nutchuck; "War Poetry," edited by George Clarke; "Mother Russia," by Marice Hindus; "Living With Others," by Kinneman and Ellwood; "Luther Burbank," by John Beatty.

Several new fiction books are: "Hill Lawyer," by Hubert Skidmore; "Avalanche," by Ray Boyle; "The Human Comedy," by William Saroyan; "On the Edge of the Fjord," by Alta Seymour; "Thunderbolt House," by Howard Pease; "Yea! Wildcats," by John R. Tunis; "Fogbound," by Hawthorne Daniel; "Northern Trail Adventure," by West Lathrop and "Hearthstone" by Eric Berry.

Briefs

Miss Evelyn Swain, Assistant State Supt. of Vocational Home Economics, visited the home making classes Wednesday, February 21, to observe their general progress.

A new freshman boy, Leonard Layng, entered our school February 19. Before coming here he attended the Nestucia high school. He now lives on Black Butte route.

Miss Vivian Pollock a graduate of 1944, attending Northwest Christian college in Eugene, returned to visit school Friday. "Things seem so much quieter," she said, "I guess its because our class is gone."

Herold Witherspoon, junior, is still absent from school due to being ill with the flu.

Ward Goodell, freshman, withdrew from school Friday as he is moving to Washington.

No Idle Boast

When U. S. marines chant "From the Halls of Montezuma to the Shores of Tripoli," it is no idle boast. Leathernecks have made more than 200 landings in all parts of the world.

Peel Quickly

Apples heated from 240 to 250 degrees in a tight retort and then suddenly cooled by shutting off the steam and forcing in cold water may be peeled almost instantly with little waste. The same experiment was successful in peeling potatoes and shelling lima beans.

Is your car a Booby Trap

Watch Out!

Candid cameras, prized by American troops, are often left by retreating Japs or Heineys with hidden explosives attached. Such Booby Traps don't fool our boys any more. They've learned to disarm them before picking them up.

Watch Out!

The distributor in your car looks innocent enough. But if neglected it can become a Booby Trap... causing the distributor shaft to freeze or wear out the bearings. That's why Shell Lubrication includes service to those parts, as well as other vital chassis points. Play Safe! Get a Safety Shell Lubrication for your car today!

IS THIS WAR OVER?

The war is going to be "over" for many more of our boys before victory.

We must not let them down! Right now there is urgent need for lumber to ship shells and other fighting stuff to fronts around the world. Lives are sacrificed because somewhere here at home some people believe "that the war is almost over."

WHAT YOU CAN DO:

Let's stop such day-dreaming and get on with the job. If YOU know of anyone not working in a war industry, urge him to apply at the nearest lumber mill or logging camp right now. Special skill is not always essential — although more skilled loggers are badly needed.

Don't Delay! The Need Is NOW!

TREES FOR TOMORROW—FREE

Come and get 'em—while we have 'em!

DOUGLAS FIR and PORT ORFORD CEDAR seedlings are available without cost to ALL WHO WILL CALL FOR THEM at the West Coast forest industries' tree nursery at Nisqually, Wash., on highway 99, about 8 miles north of Olympia. This year we won't be able to plant all of the nursery's 5,000,000 seedlings because of shortage of manpower. Schools, farmers, women's clubs, Boy Scouts, and other groups are invited to send a truck or car for any of these trees they can plant. The offer must be on a strictly self-help basis. NO MAIL ORDERS CAN BE FILLED! Your cooperation in calling for and planting some of these TREES FOR TOMORROW will be appreciated.
