

Lions Invade Coos Bay Area, But Lose

(Jerry Mickey)

The Marshfield high school basketball team defeated the invading Cottage Grove Lions 46 to 31 Friday, February 23. The Lions were slow getting started with G. Witherspoon and Chapman the only ones who could find the basket in the first quarter. The Marshfield quintet lead at the end of the quarter 10 to 4. In the second quarter Marshfield, led by O'Neal, the high scorer of the game, strengthened their lead to gain a 24-15 advantage at the half.

After the intermission the Lions came back fighting. Led by their high scoring guard, Barkemeyer, they got back into the game and cut Marshfield's lead to 30-27 at the end of the third period. In the fourth quarter, this time led by McCarthy, Marshfield increased the lead to take the game 46-31. O'Neal of Marshfield drew high point honors with 14 points while G. Witherspoon and Barkemeyer lead the losers with ten points each.

The Lions second invasion of the Coos Bay area occurred in North Bend on February 24. This "invasion" proved to be unsuccessful, just as the game with Marshfield did.

The first two points of the game were put in by North Bend after about one minute of play. Carpenter of C. G. drew first blood for the invading team by coming through with a gifter. Scoring for both teams in the first quarter was rather rugged and scarce, with North Bend leading at whistle 7-6.

The second half was rather a repetition of the first with G. Witherspoon connecting with one for C. G. and Sanders of North Bend connecting with two field goals and a free throw. Carpenter and Keene each came through with gifters to end the half with a score of 10-12. North Bend's favor. Our Lion's opposers really stole the show the third period, scoring 16 points against two by the Lions. Although we out scored them almost as much as they did us in the 4th period. The scoring ability of Barkemeyer, G. Witherspoon, and Wicks made things plenty hot for the boys in the red shirts. This last and final quarter of the season for both teams. By far the most outstanding shot of the evening was a layin by Bob Wicks, a Lion.

Improved Gardens In '45 Sought in Victory Campaign

Oregon's 1945 victory garden program calls for the continued effort of all gardeners in the production of gardens that are even better planned, says W. L. Teutsch, assistant director of the Extension service at Oregon State college, in announcing plans for the third straight year of all-out victory garden effort.

The Extension service, both nationally and in the states, has again been requested to take the leadership in initiating state and county victory garden programs, says Teutsch. As in the past, nearly the entire extension staff will participate in some capacity.

Approximately 100 members of the state victory garden committee replied to a query from Chairman William A. Shoenfeld, dean and director of agriculture, saying they favored a continuation of the Oregon program and that a state conference is not needed this year. County victory garden committees will be called together where necessary, however, to develop plans in which all agencies and organizations can cooperate, Teutsch added.

O. T. McWhorter, extension horticulturist, will continue to be state leader of the victory garden program for the Extension service, with Robert E. Rieder, assistant entomologist and plant pathologist, as assistant state leader, and A. G. B. Boquet, professor of vegetable crops, assisting in many phases of the program.

The number of gardens grown on farms in Oregon has been estimated at 55,000 for 1944, the same as the estimate for 1943, Rieder reports. This means there were gardens on about 90 per cent of all Oregon farms. The number of gardens planted in cities and towns in 1944 is estimated at about 120,000, a reduction of 25,000, from the 1943 estimate. Fully as many are needed again this year, agricultural officials agree.

Marvin Jones, war food administrator, has said that home gardeners produced more than 40 per cent of the fresh vegetables in 1944 and that they are asked to equal that record in 1945.
