

O. P. A. Price Fixed Loose Ungraded Hay

The new OPA base ceiling prices on hay are fixed on a basis of loose ungraded hay ready for loading on the farm and for the month in which the hay is delivered by the seller, T. S. Park, Portland district OPA price specialist, told a group of nearly 50 Lane county hay producers and dealers at the county fair grounds Friday afternoon.

County Agent O. S. Fletcher was in charge of the meeting sponsored jointly by the O.S.C. extension service, the OPA, the state department of agriculture and the war food administration.

The new pricing regulations are based on ungraded hay but they allow a premium for hay that grades better than U. S. No. 2, Park explained. He emphasized that grading is not necessary for the sale of hay, but that a ceiling price has now been established for all kinds of hay. Previous to this year, ceiling prices applied only to alfalfa.

Taking as an example the most common hays grown in this area, such as grain, clover, vetch and vetch and oats, Park explained that the base price established from January to April inclusive is $20.50. A reduction of $1.50 a ton on this base price is made for sales in May to October inclusive, $1.00 for sales in November and 50 cents for sales in December.

The base price may be increased by $5.00 a ton for baling. The producer is allowed $1.50 a ton additional when he sells in less than carload lots to a feeder, plus transportation costs not to exceed the common carrier rate, Park added.

The OPA price regulations, it was explained, have nothing to do with the grading of hay except when a farmer believes he has an exceptionally good crop which should demand a premium. In that case, it is necessary for the producer to have the hay graded and obtain an official certificate of grade from the state department of agriculture. The base price starts with the No. 2 grade, and hay grading No. 1 is allowed a premium of $2.00 a ton provided it has the official grade certification on it.

It was emphasized that the new ceilings are not guaranteed prices in any sense, but rather top prices which may not be legally exceeded.

Some of the factors in producing quality hay that are within the control of farmers were explained by Chester E. Otis, assistant extension farm crops specialist. Oats and vetch hay in this region is almost invariably cut too late for highest quality, Otis said. He recommended cutting when the lower vetch pods are not more than half full. Rapid curing in order to avoid danger of damage from rain was also recommended.

Methods of grading hay were explained by R. L. Baldwin of the war food administration, and J. W. Carr of the state department of agriculture. They said that hay may be inspected either by sending samples to the department at 121 S. E. Oak street, Portland, where a fee of $1.50 per sample is charged, or that instructor from Portland would grade the hay in the field. This latter procedure is not practical, however, Baldwin said, unless a group of farmers go together in order to prorate the costs.

Homer The Hen Egged for Rent

OKINAWA (Delayed)—Homer is a very unusual hen.

The fact that the plump, dirty-gray bantam is still alive, escaping the mess kits of Marmes, is itself unusual. Homer came to roost, one rainy night, in the dugout of Marine Pfc. Raymond N. Monahan of Miami, Florida, according to Sgt. A. D. Hawkins, Marine Corps Combat correspondent.

For several nights the hen returned, timidly leaving an egg before scurrying away with the dawn—"rent," Monahan called it. Then, one evening, the corner of Monahan's shelter collapsed, and Homer took off in fright.

"Homer was a very indignant hen," the Leatherneck explained. "Homer sulked in the rice paddies for a couple of nights—until it rained again."

Now shrewdly watching the bantam is Monahan's foxhole buddy, Marine Pfc. Walter J. Schmitt of Washington, Mo. Schmitt, it has been noted, is storing up bacon grease drippings, and has been caught quietly humming to himself.

"You're not thinking of disposing of Homer, are you?" the two Leathernecks were asked.

"Oh, no," emphasized Monahan, with a grin, "Homer doesn't have to worry as long as she pays rent."

Help With Farm Transportation Is Near End by AAA

Servicing of county farm transportation committees by AAA committees will be discontinued June 30, reports R. B. Taylor, chairman of the state AAA committee. Funds allotted to AAA to handle the farm transportation program will be expended at the close of the fiscal year, and additional funds to continue the program were not provided by the federal bureau of the budget.

After June 30, applications for farm trucks and for farm gasoline will not be filed at county AAA offices. Farmers will apply directly to local or state ODT and OPA offices after that date. AAA committee authorizations for conversion of tractors and other farm implements from steel to rubber also will be terminated.

AAA was assigned responsibility for administration of farm transportation programs shortly after gasoline rationing was instituted in 1942. Between 40,000 and 50,000 farm gasoline applications and appeals and about 1,000 new farm truck applications annually have been filed with county AAA offices. Although decisions were made and policies set by county farm transportation committees, the detail work of preparing forms and processing applications was handled by county office staffs. Additional personnel was employed in most counties to handle this work. Taylor pointed out, hence the withdrawal of funds makes it impossible to continue.

The state AAA chairman expressed appreciation for the work of the farmers who served on county farm transportation committees without compensation. The committees were headed by one member of the county AAA committee assigned to the transportation programs.

GERMAN HAUSFRAUEN VIEW HORRORS OF PRISON CAMP—These German women, comfortably dressed and apparently well fed, exhibit varied emotions as they witness atrocity horrors in Camp Buchenwald. With other citizens of Weimar they were put under Military Police escort and marched through the camp by U. S. authorities. Buchenwald was captured by units of General Patton's U. S. Third Army.

"MOTHERS DAY IN THE PHILIPPINES"

HQ. CO. BASE "R"
APO 73

Today was a beautiful day. Mothers Day in the Philippines. The sun was shining and the flowers were in bloom, and the birds were singing everywhere. This morning, May 13, 1945, we went to our chapel to a Mother's day service in which we honored our mothers. The mothers that we have with us, and in memory of those who have passed on. Also the day was set aside for prayer and victory of our allies in the European operations. And the coming victory and peace all over the world.

Our little chapel is made of bamboo poles and banana leaves, but it serves the purpose as well as any church. The chapel was crowded and soldiers were sitting on boxes for seats. We had a very nice service here in our chapel in the Philippines.

After we had our service in our chapel, the chaplain invited us to come to the Mother's day service that they were having in a little town just a mile or two away from here. Several of us walked down there, there were several Philippine girls there with flowers, both red and white. They asked us if our mother was living and pinned a flower on our shirts in honor of our mothers. There were lots of red flowers and some white ones too. My heart went out to those who wore white flowers, and were gathered there in honor of their mothers who have passed on into another world.

The sermon was brought to us by Chaplain James D. Morman of Port Arthur, Texas. It was one of the best sermons that I have heard in a long time. Everyone there felt deep emotion throughout the service, and when the choir sang "If I Could Hear My Mother Pray Again," there were tears flowing from many eyes. I, like many others, was thankful that I could wear a red flower. As I looked around and saw soldiers from 18 to 38 wearing white flowers and were drying their eyes of tears, my eyes were also filled with tears.

I will always remember this Mother's day in the Philippines. Although we are thousands of miles away in reality, we were home with our mothers, wives and children, in our hearts. All mothers who have boys overseas were saying to themselves: I wonder what my boy is doing today. I wonder if he is thinking of me. Yes, mothers, your boys were thinking of you on Mother's day, and of everything that you stood for in their lives. Whether in a fox hole or in a little chapel like ours, your boys were thinking of you today, for we observe Mother's day wherever we are. They were home with you in their hearts.

Yes, I too was home. Home in my heart and in my thoughts with my wife and our little daughter in Culp Creek, Oregon. So far away, but yet so near on a day like this.

Pfc. Ted O. Underwood, Hq. Base "R" APO 73 c/o P.M. S. F. C. Somewhere in the Philippines.

Rate Drops The venereal rate in armed forces of the United States during the Mexican war jumped from a peace time norm that hovered around 90, to 161 per 1,000; leaped to 214 per 1,000 during the Civil war; reached a high of 180 per 1,000 during the Spanish-American war; and rose to 107 per 1,000 during World War I. In World War II, the army rate is running less than 30 new cases per 1,000.

Industrial 4-Fs Since Pearl Harbor, some 350,000 workers have become industrial 4-Fs because of accidents. Many of these accidents occurred in homes.

OUR DEMOCRACY—by Mat

OVER THE WILDERNESS ROAD—TO THE WEST

THE APPALACHIANS STOOD AS A BARRIER TO COLONIZATION UNTIL IN 1769 DANIEL BOONE BLAZED THE TRAIL THROUGH CUMBERLAND GAP TO KENTUCKY. THAT NARROW TRAIL BECAME THE "WILDERNESS ROAD" OVER WHICH BOONE LED THE FIRST BOLD SETTLERS TO THE "RICH LANDS" OF THE WEST—LANDS THAT WERE TO TEST THEIR METTLE THROUGH YEARS WHEN THEY FACED COLD—STARVATION—DISAPPOINTMENT—WAR.

THE LANDS BOONE OPENED UP ARE THE FERTILE BLUE-GRASS REGIONS, THE PRODUCTIVE OHIO AND TENNESSEE VALLEYS OF TODAY... BUT MORE IMPORTANT, HE SHOWED THE WAY TO ALL THE WEST—AND THE PIONEERING SPIRIT OF THOSE EARLY SETTLERS—THEIR STAMINA—THEIR COURAGE IN TRIUMPHING OVER HARSHNESS HAVE BECOME PART OF THE HERITAGE OF OUR DEMOCRACY.
