Ample Phosphate From Idaho Plant If Ordered Soon

The first supply of phosphate fertilizer in four years is in prospect for Oregon farmers if they will take advantage of an opportunity to order their supplies immediately and take delivery when the material arrives reports Art King, extension soils specialist at Oregon State college.

A superphosphate manufacturing plant has recently been completed in eastern Idaho which has agreed to ship an almost unlimited supply to Oregon for delivery between now and January 1. After that date the production from this plant is otherwise contracted, King explains.

"Dealers and farmers throughout the state will have to cooperate promptly and fully if we are to take advantage of this supply," says King. "Dealers will need to order the material immediately, and since storage space is limited, farmers will need to purchase and store their season's supply as soon as it is available."

The Idaho superphosphate is available at a favorable price, King adds. Since this is the only manufacturing plant in the area, farmers who use the material will have a definite price advantage over any other phosphate that might be available even should production restrictions be lifted. Transportation costs and a high selling price would make any imported material more expensive.

The quality of the Idaho superphosphate is fully equal to that produced in prewar days. Under good storage conditions it should keep through the winter months without difficulty King believes. It is thoroughly cured and will not "set up" to a point where it cannot be spread unless subject to outside moisture. Farmers have found from sad experience that this was not true of the under-cured material available in the past few seasons.

Cow, Can, Chaplain, Corpsman Create Confusion

By Sgt. Vic Kalman (Marine Corps Combat Correspondent)

OKINAWA (Delayed) — There was no air raid and it would have been a peaceful night except for the rain, a cow and a can of condensed milk.

As it was, a navy chaplain and two hospital corpsmen spent a hectic few hours and this morning they're not sure whether the cow or the condensed milk was to blame.

It all started at 1 a. m., when the cow infiltrated into this Marine unit's command post.

"Halt!" ordered Pfc. Lester C. Sohst of Woodstock, Ill., who was standing guard in his foxhole.

Betsy couldn't give the password, but she did the next best thing. She bellowed.

Sohst tossed the first thing he could reach, a can of milk from his rations, and Betsy took off toward home. She didn't get there. She fell through the tarpaulin which was covering the chaplain's foxhole.

"It's a Jap," yelled Pharmacist's Mate Third Class Robert C. Lemieux of Long Beach, Fond du Lac Wis.

"No, it's a goat," answered the chaplain, Navy Lt. Walter R. Hobkirk of Hartford, Conn., former associate pastor of the Presbyterian church in Rye, N. Y.

Finally, Pharmacist's Mate First Class Virgil W. Yeager, who had seen his share of cows near his Wiggins, Miss., home, came up with the right answer. Besides, the cow was on his lap.

"Well, there's no room for the four of us," Lemieux observed, as the visitor's tail swished across his face.

"I should hope not!" exclaimed the chaplain. "Sacred cow or not, out she goes."

Lemieux grabbed the forelegs, Chaplain Hobkirk the hindlegs and, with the assistance from Yeager on the flank, they managed to hoist Betsy to ground level. By this time, however, their clothing and blankets were soaking wet and their foxhole was muddy.

"Maybe we should have let her stay," Yeager shivered. "She was keeping me nice and warm."

TWO-BALL FOURSOME

On ladies night at the local golf course, August 24, Nellie Bukowski drew the lucky number for one prize and the other prize was awarded to Cora Peck for the best approach shot in the play-off on No. 5 green. Mrs. Merle King lost her chance at this prize by default since she played some one else's ball by mistake and really had the closest shot of all. She also had a low score of 45, in spite of an encounter with a yellowjacket, shortly after making a four on No. 7 green. The reporter ran neck and neck with her up to this point but gave up after No. 7, finishing 3 points behind Mrs. King. Jean also had a head-on collision with the insects.

August 22, at the Two-ball foursome, Merle King and Kenneth Mickey had the lowest score of 48, with Margaret Mickey and Palmer Johnson being the runners-up with a score of 49. Rev. Sohler played with the foursome for the first time. The reporter played solo arriving later than usual. N. J. Nelson served muskmelon at the potluck dinner, cutting very small pieces but generous with second helpings. Jean Londahl received high prize for her peach cream pie, with a raisin pie coming in as a close second. Several different chili carnes and beans were the main course, with plenty of potato salad on the side.

DAV Chapter Is Organized Here

A Chapter of the D. A. V. was installed here Saturday evening, August 25th, with visitors from Portland, Salem and Eugene.

Paul A. Thorston, state commander, installed the officers and later gave a summary of the work of the organization, explaining its operation and that its membership can only be servicemen who have a disability incurred in service.

Lile Dailey, national service officer, gave a talk on service to the disabled and explained the work of his department.

This chapter starts out with 26 members and its charter and have a potential membership of 75 in this community.

The following officers were installed: George S. Smith, commander; Jack Fetter, senior vice-commander; Norman Aubrey, junior vice-commander; Myron Perry, adjutant; William Highland, treasurer.

Out of town visitors were State Commander Paul A. Thorston; national service officer, Lile Dailey; state adjutant, David R. King; Commander Engel of chapter No. 1, Portland; M. B. Huntly of Eugene and James Burnett of Springfield.

THOUGHTLETS

By Earl B. Balch

And there is also the religious deadbeat.

How loud a man brays does not indicate how well he prays.

If you do not have confidence in yourself, none will have confidence in you.

Hypocrites fool none but themselves.

It is possible to have a totalitarian ruler in your own church.

To be honest with yourself you have to be honest with the other fellow.

Meekness does not mean weakness.

Your neighbor may be more important in the community than you are.

Sometimes we magnify the hurts we receive from the other fellow.

Inventors of new ideas are usually not popular.

SHELL'S NEW GASOLINE
Capable of more power than your car has ever known
NOW RELEASED!

New Shell Premium Gasoline became possible the moment the Armed Forces released our stocks of aviation fuel. New Shell Premium Gasoline is the best gasoline we have ever made. Today it is in thousands of Shell pumps... thousands more are receiving it daily.

New Shell Premium grew out of Shell research — the same research that first delivered the "makings" of 100 Octane gasoline. New Shell Premium comes to you as a practical benefit of that research. And at no increase in cost.

You are invited to fill your tank with New Shell Premium today and from now on. Shell makes this invitation knowing that you have never had so much power at your command.

If you are, however, a user of "regular" grade... Shell Gasoline is also a new gasoline today — definitely improved even over the Shell Gasoline of "before the war." Come in and try it.
