Church Activities

Andrew Yang, a young Chinaman, who is one of the few converts from Mohammedanism, will speak at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning. He spoke at the Aid luncheon on Wednesday and was so well liked that the pastor, Rev. A. J. Kammann, and the ladies who were present, requested him to come back Sunday morning and speak at the Sunday school at 9:45 and at the morning service at 11:00 o'clock. He had a very unusual experience and is well worth hearing. He also has a very beautiful singing voice and will sing in Chinese.

Young People's meeting at 6:00 p. m. Junior Fellowship Monday 3:45 p. m.

As pastor of the Church of God, I appreciated the union memorial service November 11 for those who paid the supreme sacrifice, for religious and other freedoms for mankind. Some of the servicemen who have returned to Cottage Grove were not at the service. I am sure you men have important spiritual problems. The Church of God people and myself as pastor desire to help you with those problems. We extend a special invitation to you service men who are not worshipping elsewhere to meet with us to worship God and obtain the bread of life and the living water which God generously gives to all who will come to him.

The Sunday school topic for November 18 is "The Outreach of the Church." The sermon topic for the morning worship will be "Bordering Choices." At the evening devotional service the topic will be "Beholding Wondrous Things Out of the Law of God." The Wednesday evening service is the people's service. It is devoted to prayer and various interesting studies.

You are invited to attend the Cottage Grove Unity Study group. Meetings are held each Tuesday at 8:00 p. m., 328 Quincy. The group is studying "God, a Present Help," under the instruction of E. B. Gilmore. This spiritual work is sponsored by the Church of Christ, Unity, of Eugene, which is affiliated with Unity School of Christianity, Kansas City, Mo. Cleoda Dawson, minister.

CHINA TODAY

Hear Duncan McRoberts, an outstanding Christian leader at the Methodist church this evening, November 15, at 7:45. This meeting is being sponsored by the Baptist, Free Methodist and Methodist churches.

Mr. McRoberts is the field director of China Native Evangelistic Crusade and has spent some years traveling over the ruins of occupied China. Mr. McRoberts will have with him a Chinese Christian layman who will sing at the meeting.

The public is invited to attend this service. Duncan McRoberts will also speak at the evening service of the Assembly of God on November 18.

Thanksgiving services will be held in the First Baptist church this Lord's day with the Pastor, Rev. George E. Hardy, bringing the morning message on "Thanks Be to God." The Vested Choir will bring a special Thanksgiving anthem and Mrs. H. J. Hardy will sing "Thanks Be to God."

pastor will preach on "A Reward of Life." You are cordially invited to attend these Bible centered services.

Let us show our thanks to God by attending the church school and studying His word at 9:45 this Sunday. We have classes for all ages and you are never too old or too young to learn.

The Baptist Youth will hold two very interesting services for all youth this Sunday evening at 6:30. The senior and junior B. Y. F. societies invite all young people to attend these fellowships.

The pastor, Rev. Mrs. Rozella Douglas, will preach at the 11:00 o'clock service Sunday at the Free Methodist church. Young people's meeting at 6:45 with Paul Foust in charge. Evangelistic service at 7:30 o'clock.

"Mortals and Immortals" is the topic next Sunday morning at the 11:00 o'clock service at the Christian Science church.

The sermon topic next Sunday morning at the Thanksgiving service at 11:00 a. m. at the Methodist church by the pastor, the Rev. Frank E. Brown, will be "After Thanks, What?" The Thanksgiving offering will be used for World Service. The Vesper Hour will be at 5:00 p. m. at which time missionary slides in keeping with World Service will be shown. The Methodist Youth Fellowships will meet at 6:00 o'clock and the Young Adult group will meet at 7:30 at the home of Mrs. Wayne Monroe.

Oregon WHERE FISHING INNOVATIONS
ADD TO RECORD CATCHES

MODERN FISHING SCENE ON THE OREGON COAST
Many blimp spotters helped Oregon fishermen weigh in 60,000,000 pounds of fish last year in Astoria, one of the nation's major fishing ports, at the mouth of the Columbia River.

Eyes in the skies is only one of the unusual means adapted by Oregon's enterprising commercial fishermen to assure a constant catch of tuna, salmon and other fish each season.

Crafty fishermen, alert for new aids in gathering more and more seafood, were assisted during wartime by the navy's lighter-than-air base at Tillamook. Blimps on patrol off Oregon's 400-mile shore spotted the great fish schools and radioed locations to 2500 small fishing craft.

The inconsistencies of fishermen's luck have been overcome further by a long list of expedients proved advantageous by experience. As a result, Oregon deep-sea and river fishing produced an income of $10,000,000 last year.

The industry gives employment to approximately 9000 fishermen and to more than 8000 cannery workers, dealers, processors and distributors. Employment is spread to an even larger figure by purchase of supplies, boats and equipment.

Oregon's world-famous salmon now are second to an annual silicate tuna pack worth $10,000,000. Freezing processes send bottom fish to an extended market. Fish lives, once waste, now provide vitamin A concentrates.

With 90% of fishing income from out-of-state sales, each dollar contributes to increased stability of the Oregon market. Truly, Oregon's river and coastal waters are a vast reservoir of perpetual wealth.

REPRESENTS A MIGHTY BIG CATCH OF FISH!

NEARLY EVERYBODY loves to fish... or spin a fishing yarn!

That's why The Oregonian thinks the advertisement above—featuring a new wrinkle, "fishing by blimp"—will attract attention, placing a spotlight on the magnitude of Oregon's fishing industry.

We know you have a definite interest in our area's natural resources and its basic industries, because they affect your daily life. You are eager, too, to tell your friends about the Oregon Country's superior products, one of the advantages of living here.

It is in this spirit that The Oregonian, through this advertisement and others in a series, tells the nation about the wealth and opportunities in its trade area.
