CARBERRY CLUB ORGANIZED

The "Carberry Club," was the name unanimously chosen for the Catholic Young Peoples group at a bonfire and wiener roast for 15 members held Sunday, October 6th at the Mosby Creek camp.

The club was named for Father Richard E. Carberry, heroic army chaplain of the Archdiocese who gave his life after surviving the sieges of Bataan and Corregidor, Japanese prison camps in the Philippines, and the sinking of two prison ships.

Father Carberry, when assistant priest at St. Mary's Church, Eugene, had charge of the young people's activities in the Cottage Grove area, and also helped direct the vacation schools at Cottage Grove when many of the present members of the Carberry club were vacation school students. It is believed this is the first such club named in honor of Father Carberry.

Waste Fats Badly Needed if Soap Is to Be Made

Soap may be scarce, but it will be even scarcer unless fat salvage collections are maintained at their present level. This warning comes from C. R. Tulley, assistant state director of the Production and Marketing administration, who asked housewives to do an even better job of salvaging and turning in every possible ounce of used fats, even though meat, the principal source, is also scarce.

Fat salvage now represents about 1/12 of the amount of fats and oils required for soap-making. Tulley pointed out. Unless present volume is maintained, as much as a month's supply of soap is likely to be seriously jeopardized.

As to why the soap situation is so much worse than a year ago, Tulley said that because of the world wide shortage of fats and oils, the soap industry is limited to 78 per cent of the fats and oils for civilian soap that it used in the base period of 1940-1941. The civilian population has increased by 9 million, plus 10 million veterans.

Both housewives and dealers who have any trouble turning in salvaged fats are asked by Tulley to contact their county AAA office, or the state FMA office in the Eastern building, Portland.
