11832 Workers
Claims Disqualified
During Past Year

Disqualifications involving 11,832 workers' claims for periods of more than 35,000 weeks were imposed in 1946 by the adjustment unit of the Oregon Unemployment Compensation Commission, according to report by Administrator Silas Gaiser.

The unit examined 52,484 claims in making the disqualifications, the report revealed. Of the claims examined 12,814 were in the readjustment allowance division, which resulted in barring 940 veterans for periods of 2,602 weeks.

Of the worker disqualifications 1,150 were for voluntary quits, and 778 others involved suitable employment and discharge for misconduct. Disqualifications for these reasons may be removed only after claimants earn $50 in bona fide employment.

More than half of the barred claims had to do with being available for suitable employment but labor disputes resulted in the longest periods of disqualifications, 17,721 weeks in all.

"Trained investigators have been checking thousands of last winter's claims against hundreds of thousands of employers wage reports to uncover attempts at fraud," commented Administrator Gaiser. "With our claims load back to normal, we are intensifying efforts to prevent chiselers from securing benefits intended for those honestly trying to secure work."

Changes in the unemployment law to provide flat periods of from four to eight weeks disqualification for voluntarily quitting, discharge for misconduct and refusal of suitable employment have been proposed to the 1947 legislature by the commission. The proposals would replace the present provision of two weeks of subsequent employment, which has proven extremely difficult to administer, the commission said.

YOUNG TO BE ASSOCIATED

Nichols in the operation of a Union Oil Co., service station on the 99 highway North in Creswell. After the first of the month the firm will be known as the F. & C. Super Service. They will also have an auto supply store in connection with the service station in what is now the Kozy Korner Cafe.

Louie Kruse of Eugene, employed by the Medo-Land Creamery, will replace Mr. Young here.

Mr. Young has been associated with the Medo-Land Creamery for the past 15 years. Mr. and Mrs. Young, who reside on South Sixth street, will take a month's trip to Brigham City, Salt Lake City, Utah and to points in Idaho before taking over at the service station. They will remain here for the present.

Secrete Minerals Into Milk

During an average lactation or suckling period, a sow will secrete into her milk as much protein and half as much calcium as is in her entire body. If the sow's mineral store becomes too low, bone structures will often be weak, and she will even suffer fractures of one or more leg bones.

HEROES WHEN THEY WERE
"OVER THERE"

HOW ABOUT IT
NOW THAT THEY'RE BACK HERE?

In the dark days from December 7, 1941 to September 2, 1945 all America was proud of "our boys." Every American prayed for them, worked for them, bought bonds for them. People said: "We will never forget."

Don't let's forget again... as we did after 1918. Let's remember, this time, and prove to them and the world that America's gratitude, like its ideals of Freedom, can be the model of civilized nations.
