Washington Letter

By Harris Ellsworth, Rep. in Congress from Oregon

A comment I made last week to the effect that many Members of Congress have lost confidence in our government executive departments and agencies seemed to stir up quite a little interest in the Press Gallery here. I was surprised at that. It does not seem to me there is news in that comment. I thought everyone knew it. However, since the subject appears to be interesting, I will amplify it a bit further.

Consider, for example, the absurd and devastating action of some bureaucrats in turning over the plates for our invasion currency to the Russians. It is common knowledge that the Russians are printing currency which we are redeeming with dollars. Nearly 800 million of our dollars have been squandered in this way. When you realize that one of the objectives of the Russian government is to weaken us economically, so that we will not have the strength to be a superior power in the world, the enormity of the crime of "loaning" our currency plates can be understood.

Consider also the fact that one of our greatest internal difficulties, not only now but for many months past, is a shortage of railroad cars. This problem will plague us for nearly a year to come. Meanwhile, we have been exporting 5,000 new railroad cars per month, but have been building only 4,000 cars per month for domestic use. This country has a car-building capacity of 18,000 cars per month but car factories are operating at only half capacity, largely because we are exporting too much steel. Lack of proper coordination and balance in the executive departments is to blame for this and numerous other damaging situations.

Speaking of lack of coordination, the attention of most people, when government agencies and departments are mentioned, is focused on the major government departments—those headed by Cabinet officers. The fact is the so-called independent offices make up a major portion of the administration. In total, there are 1,141 such agencies—620 more than there were in 1943. Nearly all of these agencies are responsible only to the President. A member of the Appropriations Committee told me recently that the revelations of unsound operations and outright squandering of federal funds by these agencies are so great as to be almost unbelievable.

One of the most amazing pieces of testimony in the record of the Appropriations Committee hearings for these agencies is that of the General Accounting Office, itself one of the "independent offices", indicating that almost nowhere in the government is there any semblance of cost accounting, and that billions of dollars have been spent which never can be accounted for. In the case of the Maritime commission alone, whose accounting procedures were so bad

DELIVERS VETOED TAX BILL

WHITE HOUSE RECORD CLERK Herbert Miller arrives at the Capitol with a message from President Truman vetoing the four-billion-dollar GOP tax reduction bill. The President declared, in the veto message to Congress, that tax reduction is not justified. He asserted that the bill was an unfair and unsafe one favoring high income groups. (International) the committee had to hire a private firm to audit its budget, more than 8 billion dollars were disposed of in the past ten years for which there is no explanation.

There will be no personal income tax reduction this year. In vetoing the tax bill, the President used many words, but the truth of the matter is the President wants tax reduction to take place next year when he is running for reelection.

When the tax reduction bill was on the floor of the House, the basic figures indicated that, if Republican appropriation cuts would total only 3 billion dollars, taxes could be reduced by nearly 4 billion, 2½ billion could be paid on the public debt, and the budget would still be in balance. Representative John Taber, Chairman of the House Committee on Appropriations, told the House on June 18th that the House had already approved measures to save $4,483,916,796. He further said indications are "this large total will be increased substantially before Congress adjourns." All of this simply means that the Republican program has been, and is being, carried out as promised, but that you will have to pay from 20% to 30% more income taxes next year because the President vetoed the tax reduction bill for purely political reasons.

NOSE-PRINTS, TATTOO

The tattoo system of equine identification, to prevent substituting ringers in races, is generally advocated.

As early as 1921 it was found that animals could be identified by nose-prints, using a system similar to that used with finger-prints by police authorities. A combination of the two systems should be fool-proof. First, the horse or cattle would be tattooed, then nose-print taken to include the tattoo. This double protection would make an alteration impossible.

Visual Rejections

MINIMUM NAVY ENLISTMENT CUT

The United States Navy has reduced its term of enlistment for men enlisting in the Navy for the first time, from four years to three years. Young men who are 18 years old or older may now enlist for three, four or six years, and young men who are 17 years old may enlist for three years or until their 21st birthday. This announcement was made by L. J. Reinholdt, in charge of the Navy Recruiting office located at Eugene, Oregon. He also said that ex-Navy men who re-enlist within three months from date of discharge may re-enlist for two, three, four or six year period with their old ratings. Men who held the ratings of RT, ART, ETM, or AETM may re-enlist with their old ratings no matter how much time has elapsed since their date of discharge.
