Church Activities

Church of Christ, 6th & Gibbs. "The church with a friendly spirit." — Say, friend, it's been raining. (Now meeting in the armory) ing, or where have you been? Do you know that the rain has softened many of the road foundations? That in some places slides have occurred spoiling the safety of the highway? This occurs every year until we have come to know that no road is good without a good foundation. That holds for the Road to Glory, also. How are its foundations? I mean the road that you must travel! Honest, don't you know? It will pay you well to find out. We will tell you from the Book, Sunday night. Bible school at 9:45. Morning worship at 11:00, sermon, "What the Holy Spirit Can Do to You." This is the second in a series of two. Young folks at 6:30. Evening evangelistic service at 7:30, sermon, "A Foundation That Shall Endure." Mid-week prayer and Bible study Wednesday at 1:30 and Thursday at 7:30. Come. — J. Michael Shelley, minister. Free Methodist Church, Rev. Mrs. Rozella Douglas, pastor. The 11 o'clock service will be devoted to a Men and Missions observance following the Sunday school 9:45. The young people and also the juniors have their services at 7 p. m. The pastor preaches at 8 p. m., subject, "Choices, and an Example of a Wise Choice." Prayer meeting on Wednesday evening. Monroe Ave. Church of Christ, Monroe near Fifth st., Cottage Grove, Ore. — Satan and his cohorts are responsible for all the error and deception that is found in the religious world today. Among the greatest and more popular deceptions that he has sold to the "church going" public, is: "It makes no difference in religious matters, what a man believes, just so he is sincere in regard to it, and faithfully lives according to his belief." This type of reasoning is never used by anyone, in any matter, except in regard to their religious life. France sincerely believed in the impregnability of her line of defense, but lived to witness her own folly. Many, religiously, are trusting in institutions and dogmas to disappointment, the Word of God being true. Others on the theories and doctrines of men rather than a "thus saith the Lord." Christ said that man must worship God in the right spirit and according to truth. Worship according to truth is according to his word (Jno. 17:17). Attend the services of the church of Christ next Sunday. Classes for all groups meet at 10:00 a. m.; worship 11:00 a. m., sermon subject: "Believing a Lie." Evening classes 7:30 p. m.; evening worship 8:00 p. m. Lesson for study: "The Elders." Wednesday evening services 8:00 p. m. — Woodrow W. Hughes, minister. Reader we invite you to the Church of God at 1060 East Adams to worship with us. David prayed God to renew a right spirit within him. Without the divine touch the spirit of man stands aloof from God. Through our conscience God makes us realize we should turn to him. Sunday school opens at 10 a. m.; morning worship 11 a. m.; young people's service 7 p. m.; evening devotional 7:45; prayer meeting Wednesday 7:45; children's story hour Saturday at 2 p. m. Rev. E. F. (George) Hutchison will be speaking at one of the services Sunday. — Roy E. Hutchison, pastor. First Presbyterian Church, D. Hugh Peniston, pastor. Morning worship 11 o'clock. Men and Missions Sunday will be observed. Elder H. B. Ferrin will give a short talk on "The Christian Imperative." The pastor's sermon will be entitled "The Choice Before Us." The church school meets at 9:45. The Westminster Fellowship Group will meet at 6:30 at the home of Roberta Bagley, 459 South 2nd. Mr. Peniston will begin a series of study and discussion meetings at the church Sunday evening at 7:30. The subject for the first meeting will be "The Church and Evangelism." The title of the series is "The Church Must Teach or Die." All officers and parents are especially urged to attend. Culp Creek Assembly of God — We extend a hearty invitation to you to worship with us. Sunday services: Sunday school 9:45 a. m., morning worship 11:00 a. m., young people's meeting 6:30 p. m., evening evangelistic service 7:30 p. m., Tuesday Bible study and prayer 7:30 p. m. DDT is Not Always Harmful to Animals

Absorption or Licking Toxicity Overplayed When DDT fly sprays first became available for farm buildings and livestock, there was considerable talk about sprayed animals being poisoned from absorption through the skin, or from licking one another, or licking the walls of buildings to which DDT had been applied. Evidence, however, indicates the danger of toxicity to animals has been overplayed. For instance, in Missouri last summer, a cow drank half a tubful of DDT barn spray while the farmer was tinkering with his sprayer, and getting ready to spray his barn. The cow suffered no bad effects.

At West Virginia university last year the dairy department threw caution to the wind and put 32 pounds of 50 per cent DDT powder in 100 gallons of water — then sprayed cows with it. That figures out about 16 per cent for DDT. Most recommendations to date have been under 1 per cent for DDT water sprays on animals. "There were absolutely no harmful results" reported. The DDT controlled flies, too. The spray was put on in May, and there were no flies on the cows until the middle of August.

Dehorning Instruments Spread Common Disease A cattle disease known as anaplasmosis has gained a serious foothold in the United States and is more prevalent than most folks realize. It is a febrile, infectious, protozoan disease that may be chronic or acute, it attacks older animals mostly. Average mortality ranges from 30 to 50 per cent of animals affected. Clinical symptoms are similar to tick fever. Treatment is still in the experimental stage. The disease probably is spread by insect bites. Many cases coming to the attention of bureau of animal industry investigators have followed mechanical dehorning when too little or no attention had been given to disinfecting instruments. If calves have horn buttons removed when young, by means of chemical dehorning fluid, the danger of spreading the disease by dehorning tools is eliminated.

Vets Prove Good Risk Of the some 650,000 G. I. home loans so far guaranteed by the government, it has had to make good in only 135 instances, showing that the veteran of the last war is an excellent loan risk.

Employment Is High for October

Employment in all industries remained high during the latter half of October. During the latter half of the month as the fall rain commenced employment dropped sharply in the lumbering, logging, and construction industries. Construction work on the dam picked up again slowly as the work shifted over to previously planned winter work. Shortage of cars and shipping continued to harass the lumber market and contributed to the slowing down of mill work. Many of the mills have reduced their forces and hours as yards remain full. During the month some shortages were felt in skilled workers in the lumber industry but by the end of the month no shortages existed in any field.

Employment Outlook

Until the 15th of the month unemployment remained very low but the latter half of the month saw a steady increase in the unemployment roles until by the end of the month unemployment had more than doubled.

Migration

Fewer in-migrants were tallied as contacting this office than for several months previous. 67 were recorded for the previous month while only 37 were tallied for the month of October.

Employment Trends

Unemployment is about at its lowest level at present unless unusually rainy weather continues to hamper operations. Two new construction firms plan to start work soon. One engaged in constructing the Cottage Grove water system and the other to start work on the R. E. A. power line. Construction work on the dam will pick up somewhat.

Women and Their Washers

During this postwar period more women than ever are insisting on a washer with a pump. The pump is built-in, operates automatically and saves lifting and exertion as well as time.

Eight Eyed Spiders

Most spiders have eight eyes arranged in rows across the head.

Florida and California Florida and California may become rivals in production of guava, a fruit which grows wild from Mexico to Peru. The fruit is rounded to pearlike in shape and two to three inches in diameter. The skin is thin and light yellow in color. Powder made from the guava was used by the British troops in World War II as a source of vitamin C. Four ounces of powder protected a soldier against scurvy for nearly three months. Clothes for Farmers Last year farmers in the United States spent an average of $270 a year on clothing for themselves and families, twice the amount spent in 1941.
