

Oregon Centennial

One of the first governors of the Oregon territory would have been Abraham Lincoln had he accepted that appointment in 1849 from the President of the United States. Territorial establishment came in 1859, the centennial of which is being observed in Oregon this year, with celebrations and ceremonies scheduled for different parts of the state.

Makes 'Magic' Disks

ANNOUNCEMENT that a war veteran had been cured of malaria as the result of a "magic disk" discovery has attracted wide attention to the claims of a farmer, John Brown, of Middleboro, Mass. Here Brown is shown placing in water several disks containing the "cells." Various plants, from both the earth and sea, are used in his "discovery." He first tried it on poultry and, he said, helped 100 sick chickens. The vet who says the "magic water" cured malaria is Joseph Correia, Jr., Fall River, Mass. (International)

The 'Old Look'

AT A TIME when most young girls are cutting their hair short for the "new look," Barbara Lewis, 11, of Fort Erie, Ont., shows off the record tresses that make her a foremost exponent of the "old look." The little girl's hair measures 5 1/2 inches long, which is a record in Canada and perhaps in all of North America. (International)

Dignified Charm

Lace dinner dress.

By VERA WINSTON

THE LURE OF lace continues unabated, and this year's lace frocks appear to be more gracious, more charming than ever. Ideal for a dinner at home or at the country club is this gracious, dignified dinner dress of cafe au lait Chantilly type lace posed over a brown slip. The short sleeved bodice is easy in cut, closing with jeweled buttons. The model has a self belt and moderately flared skirt.

Foods That Have Eye Appeal

By ALICE DENHOFF

SUMMER meals are all delight for those of us who have an eye for color and like to place on the table really beautiful food. For eye appeal, as well as the palate appeal, a salad such as chicken and vegetable made up of a layer of creamy-rich chicken mousse between two layers of tangy lime gelatin sparkling with crisp diced cucumber, celery, green pepper and brilliant bits of pimiento, is a concoction of sheer delight. It is the sort of thing that stars at a party meal, or makes a family meal something to be remembered.

For 8 servings, dissolve package lime-flavored gelatin in one c. boiling water. Add one c. cold water. Pour a thin layer of the gelatin in a deep loaf pan or mold. Mix one c. each finely-diced celery, finely-diced cucumber, 1/2 c. finely-diced green pepper and 1/2 c. finely-diced pimiento with 2 tsp. lemon juice. When the layer of gelatin has set, spread half the vegetables over the layer and cover with lime gelatin. Put in cold place to set.

Next, beat 2 eggs. Add 1/4 tsp. salt, 1/2 c. evaporated milk and 1/2 c. chicken broth. Cook over boiling water until mixture coats spoon, about 5 min. Add 1 1/2 tsp. plain gelatin softened in 1/4 c. water. Stir until completely dissolved. Add 2 c.

cooked diced chicken, and more salt, if necessary.

When this mixture is cold, whip 1/2 c. thoroughly chilled evaporated milk until stiff. Fold the stiffly whipped milk into the mixture, and spread over jellied vegetables. Set in a cold place to set. When ready to serve, unmold by dipping in and out of warm water quickly. Turn onto a cold platter. Garnish with watercress. It doesn't have to be chicken, for turkey or veal, flaked tuna or salmon can be used in the center layer, and with pleasing results, too.

This is just the spot for a recipe for a wonderful jellied soup, ideal for summer meals. Place 3/4 c. each finely-diced carrots, finely-diced onions, finely-diced celery, one c. cooked tomatoes, 2 1/4 c. water and 4 chicken bouillon cubes in kettle. Bring to a boil, and simmer, covered, 1 1/2 hour longer. Add 1/2 c. chopped dill pickles and 1/2 c. Worcestershire sauce. Measure, and for each cup of soup, use 1 tsp. unflavored gelatin. Soften gelatin in 1/4 c. cold water for 5 min. Reheat soup to boiling point, add gelatin, stirring until gelatin is dissolved. Chill. When slightly thickened, stir to prevent vegetables from settling to bottom. Chill until softly set. Serve in bouillon cups. Yield: 6-8 portions.

Household Hint

Wash your linens in mild soap and lukewarm water. They should be dried away from the hot sun, and ironed while evenly damp, with a hot iron. Iron on the right side if you wish to give the linen a polish; or on the wrong side if a dull effect is preferred. Be careful not to scorch linens.

Tip On Dyeing

A good way to avoid streaks when dyeing materials is to dissolve the dye in about one cup of warm water, then strain through a thin cloth before adding it to the rest of the liquid.
