Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Righteousness exalteth a nation; but sin is a reproach to any people" (Prov. 14-34), together with the following correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Truth, Life and Love are the only legitimate and eternal demands on man, and they are spiritual lawgivers, enforcing obedience through divine statutes" (p. 184).

First Methodist Church, Frank E. Brown, minister, 303 Main St., phone 108 -- "Making a Success of Sin" should prove to be a subject of interest to all those who attend the eleven o'clock morning worship service at First Methodist Church this coming Sunday. All of us are prone to find ourselves living under the guise of thinking we can fool the world as long as it doesn't know what we do with our sins. But the eternal truth that investments determine the type of returns we receive is true in the moral realm as well as the business world. So often we think of wrongs as being only great when we have committed a "big" sin. Many of the ills of this generation can be traced to the fact that man thought he could break the little rules and just keep the big ones without any disaster befalling him.

"Be Merciful Unto Us," by Herman von Berge, will be sung by the senior choir at the eleven o'clock service. We invite you to visit with us and enjoy one of the discussion groups during the Sunday school hour, at 9:45.
