Pagan's Progress

Despite the work of Christian missions, there are three hundred million more pagans in the world today than there were in 1890. During the same period the number of un-churched people in the United States has also increased.

And yet we wonder why the human family finds itself hopelessly entangled in the meshes of strife and bitterness!

The place to start stopping this pagan progress is right in our own hearts and homes. What place does Christ occupy in our thinking? What place does Christianity occupy in our homes? To what extent is Christianity a living force in our everyday behavior?

The voice of the Church to America's unchurched millions is still the age-old call: "Today, if ye will hear His voice, harden not your hearts!" The call of Christ rings clear: "Come unto Me . . . I will give you rest!"
