

OSC Vet-Parents Happy But Advise Caution to Youth

Oregon State College—Veteran married students on the campus, with children are in general well satisfied with their combined student-family arrangement, but if they were advising engaged couples of normal college age they would recommend waiting until after graduation for marriage.

Such is the predominant opinion found by Mrs. Florence Aller in a questionnaire study of 36 student veteran families, each of whom had one or more children. She used this study as the basis of a thesis on "Family Problems of a Limited Group of College Student Veterans Who are Parents," as part of her work for a master's degree in home economics.

Mrs. Aller, herself a mother and the wife of a veteran who is completing work here for a doctor's degree in botany, is now an instructor here in household administration.

Asked what would be their recommendation to engaged couples of normal college age, in contrast with the older returned veterans, 58 per cent of the men and 51 per cent of the women said they would recommend finishing college before marriage. Almost exactly a third of both men and women said they would recommend marriage, with postponement of children until after graduation. They said this would only apply if the wife were reconciled to dropping out of college if the "no children" plan failed.

Only two of the men and four of the women went all the way and recommended marriage, with children, while in college.

Family finances, child care difficulties and housing were mentioned most often in that order, as the chief problem of married students with children. All but two families said they had to supplement GI bill income either by working or by drawing on savings or both.

A large majority said children in the home made studying there more difficult but said they added incentive, which may account for the fact that statistics show that married veterans lead in grade averages as a group and that those with children average the highest among veterans.

New Pottery Process

New wrinkle in making pottery, one of the world's oldest crafts, has resulted in a patent for two Los Angeles inventors. The new process sprays a highly fluid suspension of clay against the walls of a porous mold. The process eliminates the potter's wheel.

Western Mills Fail to Equal 1947 Production

Portland, Oregon, January 20—Douglas fir sawmills of Western Oregon and Washington failed in 1948 to equal record post-war production of 1947, according to H. V. Simpson, executive vice president of the West Coast Lumbermen's Association, as year-end figures were released today.

The region's lumber mills, which normally cut about one third of the nation's softwood lumber, turned out 8,580,731,000 board feet in 1948, Simpson said, 167 million feet short of the previous year. Production fell off badly during the last quarter as hundreds of small marginal operators closed down tight and many larger mills went to shortened work week in the face of a sharp drop off in demand and choosy buying, Simpson said.

The lumber spokesman refused to forecast performance for 1949. He did say the region has sufficient installed sawmill capacity to handle any foreseeable requirements of the home building and construction industries.

He emphasized that every effort of the industry would be aimed at selling the nation's lumber users on the long-range conservation-by-use program sponsored by West Coast mills. "There's a proper grade of lumber for every use," Simpson stated. "We have billions of feet of inexpensive, economy grades of lumber suitable for low-cost home construction, just as we have more billions of feet of the finest quality lumber in demand where strength, appearance and performance is essential. Like the farmer who must sell his number two potatoes, so must we sell our lower grades of lumber to practice sound conservation and maximum utilization of our forests."

The weekly average of West Coast Lumber production in December was 135,419,000 board feet or 85.7% of the 1942-47 average. Orders averaged 130,626,000 board feet; Shipments 126,924,000 board feet. Weekly averages for November were: Production 150,012,000 board feet (95.0% of the 1942-47 average); Orders 112,069,000 board feet; Shipments 126,872,000 board feet.

Fifty-two weeks of 1948 cumulative production 8,580,731,000 board feet; fifty-two weeks of 1947, 8,749,028,000 board feet; fifty-two weeks of 1946, 7,708,270,000 board feet.

Orders for fifty-two weeks of 1948 break-down as follows: Rail 4,868,127,000 board feet. Domestic cargo 931,759,000 board feet. Export 313,094,000 board feet. Local 957,437,000 board feet.

The industry's unfilled order file stood at 447,994,000 board feet at the end of December. Gross stocks at 983,324,000 board feet.

DELIGHT VALLEY

(Mrs. E. D. Sherrill, reporter phone 35-F-11)

Mr. and Mrs. Ab. Dillard and family of Springfield, were Sunday visitors at the John Hardenbrook home.

School was re-opened on Monday, after the long cold spell finally decided to taper off. The pipes were frozen, so that there was no water in the building, but with the generosity of neighboring homes, the young folks suffered little inconvenience from lack of that stuff little boys are afraid of.

Mrs. Jas. Hemenway and children were visitors in Eugene for a week, during the school vacation, spending their time between Miss Margaret Hemenway and various friends.

Messrs. Roy Hands, Elwyn Bales and Jim Hemenway attended the meeting of the Pacific Co-Op. in Eugene on Wednesday.

Sunday dinner guests at the John Stalder home were Mr. John McAlpine and Miss Margaret Mueller of Eugene. Later in the afternoon, "Uncle Jack" and Frank Joll called to pay a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Stalder.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Wallace are now making their home with Mr. Arden Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Norris, who have been vacationing with relatives and friends since the holidays, have returned to their home in Lethbridge, Alberta, Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sears enjoyed dinner on Thursday evening at the home of their son and family, Robert Sears in Culp Creek.

There is considerable excitement at the John Stalder barn these days, since the advent of a pair of twin calves. In all his years of farming, Mr. Stalder had hoped to someday be able to boast just such a pair, and now the old adage of "Everything comes to him who waits," has, once more, come true.

Sunday evening dinner guests at the Ed. Sherrill home were George Stratton and his house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stratton.

Mr. and Mrs. Sears and Mr. and Mrs. Crouch enjoyed a pleasant ride around the Pleasant Hill country on Sunday.

Where Cocaine is Popular
A large part of the people living in the Andes of Ecuador, Peru, Bolivia and use cocaine daily. The drug is obtained from the Peruvian and Bolivian species, Erythroxylon coca, cultivated for this purpose. The cocaine plant is harvested much like tea. Nursery-grown seedlings are transplanted to terraces on the moist slopes of semi-tropical valleys. The leaves are picked when they are fully grown. Most of the cocaine leaves produced in South America are used locally.
