Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "The Lord is good unto them that seeketh him" (Lam. 3:25), together with the following correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy: "The real jurisdiction of the world is in Mind, controlling every effect and recognizing all causation as vested in divine Mind" (p. 379).

PLEASE GET CHURCH NEWS IN EARLY

We wish to renew the request to all ministers and others turning in news to our church column to get the copy in as early as possible; by Tuesday evening at the latest. Owing to the large volume of all classes of news we are handling at the present time, your cooperation is necessary, if the news from your church is printed.

Not only do we urgently request early copy, but short subject matter as well, not to exceed four inches. Special church events such as revival meetings and social entertainments deserve special recognition. These can be written separately.

We have not had occasion to change our opinion that long church announcements, like long sermons are not effective.

We often ask what relationship there is between many of the traditions of long standing and our present day living. We are now coming into a season of the church year when many of the greatest experiences of the Christian religion have taken place. The meaningfulness of these experiences is of no value unless they are related to modern life and given a content that influences us today.

Palm Sunday heralds the coming of Holy Week. For this Sunday, our thoughts will be turned to the part that the spectators played in the triumphant entry of Christ into Jerusalem.
