The two deputies buckled on their gun belts and headed for Olalla. They found the den of snakes and by the time they were through they had disposed of more than two dozen rattlesnakes ranging in length from a foot to one and one-half feet.

Program to Increase Production Of Hay, Range Grass Is Announced

A price support program to encourage production of hay, pasture and range grass seed was announced recently by the Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, according to Ernest E. Schrenk, chairman, Lane County Agricultural Conservation Association.

The hay and pasture seeds of special interest to Lane County farmers are alfalfa, alsike clover, certified Ladino clover, red clover, certified orchard grass and alta fescue. Support prices were announced earlier for various cover crop seeds including Crimson clover, hairy vetch, Common and Willamette vetch, Common ryegrass and Austrian Winter Peas. The United States Department of Agriculture expects greater need for hay and pasture seed during the next few years for planting on some of the acreage now in wheat, cotton and other cash crops. In line with this view is the fact that grain storages are now nearly at capacity and prospects for a bumper wheat and corn crop are very bright. This means wheat acreage allotments in all probability and shifting of acreage normally planted to wheat, to hay, pasture and range grass crops.

Basic price supports on seed produced in 1949 is 32 cents per pound for Northern Alfalfa; 25 cents for alsike clover, 35 cents for Red clover, $1.25 for certified Ladino clover, 15 cents for certified Orchard grass and 35 cents for Alta fescue. These basic support prices are based on top grade seed which meets minimum specifications of grade and appropriate discounts are listed for seed lower in grade.

Purchase agreements with farmers will be the only means used to support the price of these hay and pasture seeds and in the field, the program will be handled by the county agricultural conservation committees.
