Many Motorists Sending for 1950 License Plates

In an apparent effort to be the early bird that gets the worm, many motor vehicle owners are already sending their 1950 automobile license fees to the registration division, Secretary of State Earl T. Newberry reported Monday. He added that a majority of the fees are incorrect, requiring considerable correspondence and refunding from his office.

The last legislature raised the annual registration fee from $5 to $10, but also provided for a staggered renewal system in which one-twelfth the licenses will expire each month after May 31, 1951. This requires a transition period in which fees will vary between $5.10 and $14.45 and the plates will be good for periods ranging from six to seventeen months, Newberry explained. In no case will the amount be exactly $10. After that all plates will be good for one year at the $10 fee.

To avoid misunderstandings regarding the new system, Newberry emphasized these points:

1. All 1949 licenses will expire on December 31, 1949, the same as in former years.
2. The renewal fee for the new license will be determined by the number of the present license. Expiration date will be shown on the plate.
3. All vehicle owners will receive an application form showing the amount due in plenty of time for obtaining the new plates.
4. Owners are requested not to send in earlier applications unless they know the fee which will apply. Fee schedules will be given wide distribution during the summer.

American Record

Americans have achieved a five-fold increase in physical output in less than a century, cut their average work week from 70 to about 40 hours, and increased their national income 26 times with a working force that has grown only about eight-fold.

Mrs. Wenglewicz and son are the first displaced persons in Lane county and are from the DP camp in Wertenberg, Germany, the U. S. Zone. They were former residents of Poland.

Washington, Weatherman

The amateur weatherman has flourished in the United States since colonial days, notes the National Geographic society. In a diary for December, 1799, one of them wrote painstakingly day after day of Virginia's weather conditions. Notations ranged from "morning, clear and pleasant, with a light wind," to "morning, snowing and about three inches deep." The weatherman-diary—George Washington. The last weather entry was dated December 13. He died December 14.

Curb Diamond Loss

Jewelry craftsmen, seeking to curb the loss of diamonds and other precious gems from settings, which amounts to an estimated $2,100,000 annually, are turning increasingly to palladium, a white metal of the platinum family that holds stones securely.

"Spring Tonic"

It used to be a dose of "spring tonic" for everyone toward the end of winter. But nowadays it's extra attention to vitamin C in the diet. A listless tired feeling during the winter-into-spring months may be due to a shortage of vitamin C in the diet. A regular supply of vitamin C rich foods is necessary because this vitamin is not stored by the body.

The great scientist, Luther Burbank, who was born March 7, 1849, was able to make plums grow on almond trees and even grew a white blackberry.

Constant Companions

Silk dress with jersey jacket.

By VERA WINSTON

MANY ARE THE frocks always seen today in the company of their own jacket, bolero, cape or coat. Here is a little jacket of black worsted jersey. It makes an attractive duet with a dress of pink and black polka dot silk. The dress has a snug bodice draped taut to the center seam. The skirt is gathered in front, and gored in the back.

Agnes M. Pooler Services Friday

Agnes Minnie Pooler, 63, 307 Quincy avenue, Cottage Grove, passed away at her home, Tuesday, June 21. She was born at Leaburg, Oregon, Jan. 17, 1880, the daughter of Andrew and Mary Poulade. On November 28, 1896 she was married to Edgar Otis Pooler, who passed away in 1943. She had been a life long resident of the state and of the Cottage Grove area for the past 30 years, coming here from Blue River.

Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Thelma Summers and Mrs. Marie Madson, both of Cottage Grove, and Mrs. Noreen Lund of Portland; 17 grandchildren; two great-grandchildren and one sister, Mrs. Clara Mendenhall of Grants Pass.

Funeral services will be held Friday, June 24, 1949 at 10:30 a.m. at Mills Mortuary with the Rev. Sidney Shinn officiating. Interment will be in Greenwood cemetery at Leaburg.

Black and White Pepper

Both black and white pepper come from the same fruit of pepper corn. White pepper, which is milder, is the berry with the skin removed before grinding. Black pepper, most popular in this country, has a more pungent flavor and aroma.

Cardiff

Cardiff, in the populous and industrialized southeast corner of Wales, is Great Britain's leading coal-export port. Ten miles inland from the harbor, the region's coal mines have a record output of more than 50 million tons a year.

Glazed Pottery

Glazed pottery requires about three days of heat, sometimes rising as high as 2,000 degrees. The degree of heat needed depends on the colors or the grade of pottery being made.
