Game Commission Makes Final Hunt Regulations 1949

After holding the regular second public hearing Saturday, July 23, the Oregon State Game Commission made the final hunting regulations for 1949. The regulations were set as previously announced in the tentative regulations with five relatively minor changes. The changes made were as follows:

1. The extended elk season in the Baker, Oregon area will close on December 31 instead of on January 31 as was announced in the tentative regulations.

2. The portion of Douglas County lying east of U. S. Route 99 will be closed to elk hunting.

3. The Mountain Sheep Game Refuge in Walla Walla County will be open to waterfowl hunting only.

4. The Myrtle Park Game Refuge in Harney County will be closed to hunting.

5. Sherman County will be closed to deer hunting.

The Commission hopes to have the hunting regulations out in the regular printed form before the first of September.

Oregon Game Director Appointed

Carl Hill, Chairman of the recently appointed Oregon State Game Commission, announced late Saturday that the Commission had appointed Charles A. Lockwood to the position of state game director, the term to run through December 31, 1949. In making the announcement, Mr. Hill stated that in their brief review of the departments and personnel of the members of the new Commission were favorably impressed, but they desire time to more fully familiarize themselves with all activities before taking permanent action.

Mr. Lockwood, as state game director, announced that he had appointed P. W. Schneider, to the new post of assistant game director. Mr. Lockwood was Oregon state game supervisor under the old law that expired as a result of the new one passed by the last session of the Oregon legislature. Mr. Schneider was formerly in charge of the game division.
