NUMBER 3

Clowns, Keystone Cops to Entertain Co. Fair Visitors

The Lane County Fair which will be held Sept. 21-24 inclusive will feature one of the funniest acts in the Pacific Northwest.

This laugh provoking act will appear each day at the County Fair. It is an act made up of those old time Keystone Cops with their funny Ford automobile. The Ford, which drives without a driver, acts almost human. The comedy antics that the funny clowns go through will be the comedy riot of the County Fair this year.

These clowns will also introduce Jargo, the comedy giraffe and the chicken shot out of the cannon.

"Everyone who sees this entertaining act at the Lane County Fair will just about split their sides with laughter," so states Manager Herb Welch of the Fairgrounds.

See the many other entertaining acts and blocks of interesting exhibits and concessions. Bring the whole family and have a good time. Doors will be open from 9:00 a.m. to midnight during the four days of the County Fair.

PFC BRADFORD PROMOTED TO CORPORAL

With the Eighth Army in Yokohama—Private First Class Lyle D. Bradford, of Cottage Grove, Oregon, is a member of Headquarters Eighth Army Troops, stationed in Yokohama, Japan. Upon arrival in Japan in February 1948, he was assigned to the Adjutant General Section of Special Troops. Before coming to Japan he was stationed at Fort Ord, California, where he took his basic training. He entered the army in September 1947.

Pfc. Bradford was promoted to the grade of Corporal on the 1st of August 1949.

Odd Fact

Free "For Rent" classified advertisements were offered recently by "The Olean (N. Y.) Times-Herald" to any landlord who would specify "Children are welcome."

Two Boys Saved From Drowning in Willamette River

Ray Coleman, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Coleman, Lorane Route, Cottage Grove, is credited with saving the life of Darrell Smith, when he accidentally slipped and fell, fully clothed into the swift water of the Willamette river, near Blue Pool. Ray is not an experienced swimmer, but seeing Darrell being carried away in the swift current, he dived in, and after a time was able to get him to shallow water, and then to shore. Both boys were members of a Sunday school overnight camping party from the Cottage Grove Church of Christ, Sixth and Gibbs.

Lloyd Case, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Case, Lorane Route, also a member of the Sunday school camping party is expressing his sincere thanks, and will be everlastingly grateful to a man, his name unknown to Lloyd, that saved him from drowning at the Blue Pool swimming pool.

Disease Control Advance Shown at Poultry Meeting

Oregon State College—Continued improvement in disease control by Oregon Poultry breeders has brought the discontinuance of the lower "pullorum controlled" grade of baby chicks by the Oregon Poultry Improvement association at its annual meeting here.

G. A. Boyington, Hood River, was elected president. New directors chosen are F. E. Fox, and Richard Hanson, Corvallis; J. R. McTae, Milwaukie, and Lloyd A. Lee, Salem. Holdover directors are Don Anchors, Grants Pass, retiring president; and George Gilmore, Jr., Junction City.

A two-day pullorum testing and flock selecting school was staged in the poultry department following the annual meeting.

Colic in Horses

Horses fed largely on coarse roughage and forced to drink ice-cold water are easy victims of colic.

LAST OIL FIRE BEFORE ELECTRICITY

WIFE OF A FARMER near Humboldt, Tenn., Mrs. Chester Williams lights the wick of her kerosene stove for the last time. The Williams were to become the millionth customer of TVA power and are replacing the old stove with an electric range. Systems using TVA power have been connecting up 10,000 new customers a month. Everything Ready For 84th Ore. Fair

Although Labor day is still a week or so away, Manager Leo Spitzbart of the Oregon State Fair has pronounced the exposition ready for its 84th annual renewal beginning September 5.

Hurried construction schedules have made it possible to avoid much of the usual last minute confusion. A small amount of work remains to be done on one of the new entrances to the grounds from the north. Workmen are cleaning up the last bit of painting on the new "Kiddieland," juvenile amusement area that is slated to be extremely popular for eager youngsters and tired parents.

Advance mail ticket sales to all fair attractions are reported to be the heaviest in fair history, according to Joe Simeral, ticket manager. Mail requests have been received from all sections of the state.

Some difficulty has arisen in the allocation of stall and pen space to the record number of livestock entries in the various open classes. However, Ben Newell, Salem, superintendent of the livestock show, has told Spitzbart that all show strings will be accommodated when judging starts labor day morning.

Entries in the combined textile and culinary show are about average but department heads expect the lists to swell before the entry deadline of September 4. Mrs. Verle Goode, Stayton, floral superintendent, says all available display space is gone with more garden clubs than ever before planning to exhibit.

Commercial space on the grounds and in the fair's main agricultural building has been sold out for several weeks. Many new appliance and farm dealers will display for the first time.

The younger gentry is slated for a big thrill with a glimpse at the new toy railroad route and station. The route has been made more life-like, a new tunnel and station erected, and the tracks completely rearranged.

Admission prices at the outside gate are the same as before the war, fifty cents including tax. Children 12 and under will be admitted free. There will be four free midway shows each day on the grounds featuring top circus and stage talent.

LYNX HOLLOW (Mrs. Orville Lamb, reporter)

The Creswell school board and Lynx Hollow school board will meet Saturday at 8:30 p.m. at the old Creswell grade school building. The purpose of this meeting is to answer any questions on the consolidation of Lynx Hollow with Creswell. All Lynx Hollow persons interested are asked to be present at this meeting and it is hoped a large crowd will attend.

School will open Tuesday, September 6, with Mrs. Elizabeth Pritchard as principal, teaching first thru fourth grades and Mrs. Mary Cutters teaching fifth thru eighth grades.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Withers, Miss Ruth Hungerford and Bill Lamb motored Sunday to Florence and the Sea Lion Caves and stopping at various points of interest along the sea coast.

Mrs. Royal Hinkson was very ill last week but is much improved at this writing.

Mrs. Henry Bricker returned Wednesday night from a trip to San Francisco to the International Conference of the Women of the Moose where she received the College of Regents degree.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Hughes have returned from a trip to Mojave, California. While there they purchased a 1949 automobile.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Yonkers and Brenda of Cottage Grove, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Lamb and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Holbrook spent an enjoyable evening Saturday as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer P. Kimery and sons Lloyd and Ronald at their home while George R. Mann of Salem gave a demonstration of cookware and served a delicious four course dinner. Mrs. Lamb was the winner of the plastic refrigerator dishes in the evenings contest.

Billie McBee of Eugene is spending some time with Norman Garrison.

The C. A. Schultz family of Creswell were Sunday callers at the E. H. Hughes home.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl T. Brown and sons, Ronald and Donald are moving into a cabin on the Royal Hinkson property. Brown is employed at the Twin Harbors mill at Saguinaw. The Browns recently came here from Paragould, Arkansas.

Keep 'Em Sharp
Stainless steel knives should be kept sharp. Use a medium grit grinding stone and finish with a strop.

Words of the Wise
There is nothing that makes a man suspect much, more than to know little; and, therefore, men should remedy suspicion by procuring to know more, and not to keep their suspicions in another.
