Traditional Ivory Satin Is Worn By August 16th Bride

In keeping with the traditional "something borrowed" Miss LaVaughn Stokes became the bride of Lt. Fred Lionberger Tuesday evening, August 16, at eight o'clock, in the Methodist church, wearing the ivory satin wedding gown of her sister, Mrs. Jim Dowis, and her mother's pearls. The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Stokes and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Lionberger, all of Cottage Grove. The Rev. Frank Brown, pastor of the church, read the candlelight ceremony. Baskets of gladioli, Shasta daisies, asters and fern decorated the church. Flickering white tapers in candelabra completed the church decorations.

Mr. Stokes escorted his daughter to the altar where the couple exchanged vows. Her gown of ivory satin was fashioned with an off-the-shoulder effect with high marquisette yoke, long sleeves extending in points over the wrists, fitted bodice and a full gathered skirt ending in a long train. Her satin tiara was braided and matched her gown, and held her fingertip veil in place. She carried an arm bouquet of pink roses and white gardenias centered with a white orchid and tied with white satin ribbons.

Mrs. Jim Dowis, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Her gown was of pale pink marquisette with hoop skirt, low sweetheart neckline and draped short sleeves. Her headpiece was of matching marquisette with clusters of lavender asters and pale blue sweetpeas. Her colonial bouquet was of the same flowers she wore in her hair, and was edged with pale pink marquisette lace.

Her maid of honor was her other sister, Miss Blanche Stokes, whose gown was aqua and identical to that of the matron of honor. Her colonial bouquet and clusters of flowers in her hair were rose asters and pale yellow sweetpeas. Bridesmaids were Miss Norma Bradley and Miss Dixie Bailey, both in yellow waffle pique gowns and yellow marquisette headpieces. Their nosegays and flowers in hair were variegated pastel shades of sweetpeas.

Little flower girl was Karer Williams in a white organdy dress with ruffled off the shoulder neckline and the ruffles down the back extended into a train. She wore yellow rosebuds in her hair. Ring-bearer was Gary Stinson.

The bride's mother wore a light rose dress with chocolate brown accessories. Mrs. Lionberger chose a light pink dress with navy blue accessories. Both wore corsages of pink rosebuds and stephanotis.

Ed Lionberger acted as best man for his brother, and ushers were Don Wickendell, Jim Dowis and Glen Wicks.

Preceding the ceremony W. C. Martin Jr. sang "Because" and

"Now and Forever," accompanied by Mrs. Boyd Allen. Taperlighters were Stenis Stokes, brother of the bride, and Jimmy Bottorff. The reception followed in the church parlor amid decorations of gladioli, asters, sweetpeas and fern. The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom and bouquets of red roses at either end. Mrs. Joe Zajac cut the cake; Mrs. Curby Rippey and Miss Thielia Ann Murrell served and Mrs. Floyd Croxell and Mrs. Lewis Thomas poured. Miss Bette Thomas was in charge of the guest book.

For their wedding trip to southern California the bride wore a navy blue dress, navy and white accessories and a white orchid corsage. They are now living at 1364 Grand Ave., San Rafael, California.

The bride graduated from Centerville Union high school, Centerville, Texas in 1948 and the groom is a graduate of the local high school, and is now a first lieutenant in the Army Air Corps.

Another miscellaneous shower for Miss Anderson was given by Miss Jane Beidler and Miss Pat Kelly at the home of Miss Kelly, when 15 of Miss Anderson's schoolmates gathered and presented her with many useful gifts. Mrs. Harold Martin and Mrs. Fred Anderson were also guests.

The Kelly home was attractive with gladioli, and an arrangement on the mantle including a miniature bride, candles and flowers.

The girls spent the evening making a scrapbook for the bride-elect in which they furnished her basement, backyard and garage with pictures from magazines.

The evening closed with refreshments served by the two hostesses.

Taupe gray crepe frock.

By VERA WINSTON

THE selective shopper, especially when she has to dress well for many events, on a budget, seeks a frock that fits smartly but unobtrusively into any but the most dressy picture. With well-chosen accessories, she is able to give a good basic dress a chameleon charm. This one should fill the bill nicely. It is of taupe gray crepe and has a simple, notched neckline and cap sleeves. Flared unpressed pleats give the skirt front fullness and tucking radiates from the center front.
