RAINBOW GIRLS ENTERTAIN DADS WITH DINNER

The father and daughter 6:30 potluck dinner Monday night in the Masonic temple sponsored by the Rainbow Girls was well attended by the girls and their fathers. The girls introduced themselves and their dads and all were given a hearty welcome. Miss Joan Webb announced the program with Miss Pauline Dyksterhuis giving a reading and Miss Kay Leonard leading in the group singing.

After the dinner the regular business meeting was held and many Masons and Eastern Star members were visitors, besides dads of the girls. The girls were very happy to have such a large attendance and invited them to attend any time at their regular meetings.

Miss Laura Porter, worthy advisor, gave the marriage degree work to: Bobbie Bagley Chambers, Barbara Anderson Martin, Barbara Nelson Summers, Shirley Hileman Wicks, Joan Dixon Moody, Helen Hieckethier Rose and Carol Lemert Woods. Their mother advisor presented the girls with the certificate of marriage from the assembly. Betty Newton Bush was unable to attend. Her certificate will be mailed to her.

The New Year dance was discussed and the committees appointed. The dance is to be from 9:00 to 12:30 and programs will be filled out before dancing begins. The Rainbow Girls may invite outside girl friends and their escorts if they desire to do so. The dance is semi-formal and the price 50 cents per couple.

It was reported that the cookies were mailed to Oliver Gilbertson, the girls adopted granddaddy, in time for Thanksgiving. Another box of cookies is to be sent near Christmas time.

The next meeting on December 12 will be initiation night, so girls are to wear their formals, and please know your work.

Bride Carries White Satin Bible and Heirloom Handkerchief at Wedding

Carrying a white satin Bible of her father's and an heirloom handkerchief of her great, great aunt's over one hundred and fifty years old, Miss Ermina Lucille Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Toothman, became the bride of William Frederick Frost, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Frost, all of Cottage Grove.

The wedding ceremony was read by the Rev. R. E. Parrish at the Assembly of God Wednesday evening, November 23, at eight o'clock. Baskets of pink and white chrysanthemums and carnations decorated the church. White flickering tapers in candelabra tied with white satin bows were at either side. Mrs. R. E. Parrish played the wedding marches and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. W. D. Lovegren, as she sang "I Love You Truly" and "God Gave Me You," preceding the ceremony.

Candlelighters were Miss JoAnn Parrish and Miss Cleo Stroth, both in pink gowns and wearing corsages of gardenias and rosebuds.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. Her white slipper satin gown was fashioned with a basque waist, lace net yoke, draped bodice and slight train. Her mitts were also of white slipper satin. Her lace-edged fingertip illusion veil fell from a seed pearl tiara. Her white satin Bible was a gift to her father in 1922. A white orchard rested on the Bible from which fell white satin streamers knotted with stephanotis.

Mrs. Donald Cummings of Canby was matron of honor. Her slipper satin gown was mauve jewel tone. Her nosegay was pink variegated carnations and chrysanthemums.

Maid of honor was Miss Alice Campbell of Portland. Her gown was pink tulle with overskirt of sequin-trimmed pink net, and she carried a nosegay of carnations and mums.

Both bridesmaids, Helen Spartz, and Mrs. Lester Hixan, wore gowns of pink chiffon and carried nosegays like the other attendants.

Flower girls were Marilyn Drew and Sharon Drew, in yellow and orchid tulle dresses and they carried orchid baskets of flower petals. Ringbearer was Bryan Fournier.

The bride's mother wore a blue crepe dinner gown and the groom's mother a black gown. Both had orchid corsages.

Best man was George Glass, uncle of the groom, and ushers were Floyd Quaglia, Lester Hixon and Ed Lovegren.

The reception was held in the church. A lace tablecloth graced the bride's table which was centered with pink carnations and Chinese mums and the large wedding cake. Mrs. Karl Drew and Mrs. Elvis Boswell cut and served the cake. Assisting in serving were Mrs. Henry Pruitt, Mrs. Kosanski, Norma Morrell and Donna Strickland.

For a motor trip south the bride wore a wine colored suit with black accessories and her wedding orchid.

Mr. Frost graduated from the local high school in 1947 and Mrs. Frost is a student in high school. He is employed by the Madrona Arnold Lumber Co. They will reside in Cottage Grove.

WHITE SHRINE CEREMONIAL AND RECEPTION

A good representation of Cottage Grove members attended the meeting of Bethlehem White Shrine which was held Saturday evening in the Masonic temple in Eugene. The beautiful White Shrine ceremonial was held for a large class of new members two of whom, Eleanor Fleming and Hilda Sayles, were from Cottage Grove.

There were visitors from several other shrines including Salem, Portland, The Dalles, in Oregon and from Vancouver and Bremerton in Washington.

After the meeting a reception was held in the dining hall for two members of Supreme White Shrine; Pearl Spear of Salem who is supreme district deputy, and Laura Brown of Eugene, supreme representative of Material Objective.

COUPLE TELLS RETROTHAL

Mr. and Mrs. Red Twilliger of Culp Creek announce the engagement of Miss Patricia Ann Carter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Carter, formerly of Sunland, California to Leon Adair Lemon of Culp Creek.

Wedding date has been set for December 18 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Craine in Cottage Grove.

Miss Blanche Stokes Is November Bride Of D. G. Wickendoll

On Tuesday evening, November 22, the Methodist church was the scene of a pretty fall wedding when Miss Blanche Stokes and Donald G. Wickendoll exchanged wedding vows at a double ring ceremony with the Rev. Frank Brown officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Stokes and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Wickendoll, all of Cottage Grove.

Mr. Stokes gave his daughter in marriage. Her ivory satin gown, which was worn by her two sisters, Mrs. Jim Dowis and Mrs. Fred Lionberger, was fashioned with an off-the-shoulder effect with Marquisette yoke, long sleeves extending in points over the wrists, fitted bodice and full skirt that ended in a long train. Her satin bonnet effect tiara, trimmed with seed pearls held her fingertip veil in place. Her flowers were of white miniature chrysanthemums centered with white gardenias. Her mother's pearls were her "something borrowed" and her "something blue" were her lace-trimmed garters.

Mrs. Jim Dowis, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Her ballerina gown of ankle-length was made of Nile green marquisette over shimmering Nile green satin with matching slippers. Her bouquet and flowers in her hair were deep red carnations and variegated pink chrysanthemums.

The three bridesmaids wore identical dresses, fashioned like the matron of honor's with matching slippers and copper color. The bridesmaids were Miss Dixie Bailey, Miss Betty Thomas and Miss Arlene Anderson, all carrying ring-shaped bouquets of golden red and yellow chrysanthemums.

Little flower girl was Sherrill Russell, whose gown was fashioned after the other attendants. Chad Lusk was ringbearer. Stenies Stokes, brother of the bride, and Charles Gierau were taperlighters.

The bride's mother wore a blue-green dress with brown accessories and Mrs. Wickendoll wore teal green with black accessories. Both wore purple orchid corsages.

Best man was Bob Moore, and ushers were Jim Dowis, Stanley Daugherty and Harold Wicks.

Tail baskets of chrysanthemums and lighted tapers in candelabra decorated the nave. Soloist was Alexander Herget, who sang "Until," "God Touched a Rose" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Boyd Allen, church organist. Mrs. Allen also played the wedding marches.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents where a three-tiered wedding cake centered the bride's table. White carnations and chrysanthemums also decorated the table. Mums were about the rooms and cedar boughs and holly adorned the mantel and fireplace. Mrs. Art Elledge, aunt of the groom, cut the cake, and Mrs. C. E. Neet and Mrs. Robert Sedergren poured. Assisting in serving were Miss Carolyn Moore and Miss Patty Rickard. Miss Dorothy Jackson was in charge of the guest book.

For going away the bride wore a soft red dress with rhinestone clips and black accessories. For a wedding trip they went to California and Mexico. They planned to visit the bride's grandparents in California and other relatives. After December 8 they will be at home in their new home at Thornton Corners.

The bride graduated from French high school at Beaumont, Texas and the groom is a graduate of the local high school. She is employed as bookkeeper at Cottage Grove-Eugene Freight office and he is a merchant policeman.

ALL DAY MEETING SET

The P. D. G. Garden club will hold an all day meeting on Friday, December 9, at the home of Mrs. Andrew Brund for the purpose of making Christmas greenery.

Pickles Perk Up a Meal

By ALICE DENHOFF

MENU magic isn't difficult to acquire. Just a little of this, a little of that, added to basic ingredients make all the difference between just food and fine fare. The right seasoning, to be more explicit, is the trick that works wonders, and one such trick is using the tang of pickle relish or dill pickles to perk up meat, and make it more tender. And as for fish, why, pickles work wonders as a basic seasoning ingredient, as well as being a swell escort to a ham on rye.

For something exotic that won't dent the budget, serve this one: Beef with Stroganoff Pickle Sauce for 4, starts off with one lb. round steak cut into one-inch cubes. Roll meat in 3 tbsp. flour which has been seasoned with 1/2 tsp. salt, 1/4 tsp. pepper. Sauté meat in 2 tbsp. shortening until brown on all sides. Mix 2 c. sour cream gradually with 2 tsp. tomato catsup, and gradually stir into meat in skillet. Cover and simmer 40 min. until meat is tender. Add 1/2 c. finely chopped dill pickles, and cook a few minutes longer. Serve with rice or mashed potatoes.

Fine Dish

Pickle Stuffed Beef Rolls is another mighty fine dish that owes much to dill pickles. To serve 6 have butcher thin slice 2 lb. round steak into 6 portions. Sprinkle each portion with salt and pepper, and a dash of chopped onion, one for each slice. Place 3 carrot strips and a dill pickle strip on each slice. Roll up beef slices and secure with toothpicks or skewer. Place beef rolls in skillet, then brown on all sides in shortening. Melt 4 tbsp. butter in separate pan, add 1/4 c. chopped green pepper and one small sliced onion, then sauté for 5 min. Add 1/4 c. flour; blend well. Add Number 2 can tomato juice, then cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Pour tomato sauce over beef rolls, then simmer for an hour or so, until meat is tender.

Crabmeat Cakes with Hot Pickle Sauce is another new and wonderful recipe. The recipe is for 6 servings, and we do hope you'll try it very soon.

Can of Crabmeat

Remove stiff bony tissue from a lb. can of crabmeat, then flake and cut into smaller pieces. Add a slightly beaten egg, 1/2 tsp. salt, 1/4 tsp. pepper, 1/2 tsp. dry mustard, 2 tsp. lemon juice, 1/2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce, 1/2 tsp. minced onion and 2 tsp. mayonnaise; mix lightly with a fork. Shape into 6 cakes and roll in dry bread crumbs. Dip in one slightly beaten egg, then roll in bread crumbs again. Fry in butter over low heat.

To prepare the sauce, melt 2 tbsp. butter, add 2 tsp. minced onion; cook until onion is tender. Blend in 1/2 tsp. flour. Add one c. milk; cook, stirring constantly, until mixture is thickened. Add 1/2 c. chopped pickles, 1/2 tsp. prepared horseradish, salt and pepper to taste, then cook a few minutes longer.
