Weyerhaeuser Springfield Mill
Introduces Hydraulic Barker

Springfield (Special)—Old time millmen probably would goggle at Oregon's first hydraulic sawlog barker, now in operation at Weyerhaeuser's integrated manufacturing center here. It symbolizes a revolutionary trend in milling practices.

"Nude" logs on a sawmill carriage are not yet a common sight, but they're destined to become fashionable as the "new look" in our coming age of more complete wood utilization.

John R. Titcomb, manager of Weyerhaeuser's lumber division, points out that the bark-eroding device wasn't installed for the primary benefit of sawmill men, although it improves lumber production in many ways.

"Our milling leftovers, consisting of cants, slabs and trimmings not suitable for lumber, become raw material for making the chips used by the Kraft pulp mill, which in turn supplies the container-board plant with its stock. Such pulp wood must be bark-free. Getting rid of bark before the logs are cut into lumber automatically provides leftovers which are 100 per cent bark-free. This saves considerable sorting work on mill conveyors," explains Titcomb.

The barker is a commercially-

Bill Barkemeyer accidentally shot himself in the right leg while target practicing on the hill near London store with a .44 calibre pistol Saturday afternoon. He was alone but was able to drag himself near enough to be heard by Mrs. Les May in her home, who went to the store for help. He is in the Eugene hospital. Surgery was used Sunday to remove bone shatters of small leg bone. The bullet went through the leg below the knee just missing the main nerve and artery. It is expected he will be able to return home Wednesday.

Mrs. Beth Kells and her brother, William Lively are in California to spend the winter. They left last month and expect to be gone until May.

Mrs. E. M. McEwen is in Idaho visiting her daughter, Mrs. Leland Hall and family. She accompanied friends who were making the trip from Springfield.

P. M. Campbell had the electricity put in to his dairy barn last week and is replacing his gas-motored milking machine with electric power. Six new poles were set. He has plans for building a new house back near the hill farther from the road.

Mrs. Ellen Harris and daughter Lorene of Cottage Grove spent Saturday night and Sunday with her son Mr. and Mrs. Glen Harris.

Word has been received by a call from Ronnie Hunt that he is back from Alaska and is at Whidby Island, near Seattle.

Sylvia Stimmel has written her grandmother, Mrs. Fred Mills, that her father, Gordon Stimmel, got an elk and a bear in a hunt in the wilds of Idaho near Kootenai.

Roy Easley is laid up with a back ailment.

Mrs. and Mrs. Frank Guisinger postponed a trip to Medford to see her mother recently when a brother, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Perkins and two girls drove in from Arcadia, California, just as they were ready to drive out. They were accompanied by a sister, Barbara Jean, who makes her home with them.

London School

Thanksgiving vacation will be Thursday and Friday this week. Advance notice on Christmas vacation reveals a ten day period including Christmas week and New Years day.

During the recent October flood a brother-in-law of Mrs. Guisinger, Eddie Thrapp, was on a visit from Kodiak, Alaska, where he was stationed with the navy and got marooned by high water near Milo. It was necessary to call his station for an extension of time on his leave. Mrs. Thrapp is the former Rosemary Perkins.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bean and baby son, Larry, have been staying with Mrs. Bean's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Thorpe on Shoestring road the past two weeks since their cabin near there burned and left them without a home. A gas lantern exploded in the early morning. All that was saved was the baby buggy and high chair.

The people of Yoncalla and the Red Cross have helped the family which is planning to build on other property. Mrs. Bean has recovered from painful burns on the hands.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Thorpe of St. Charles, Missouri, spent the past two weeks visiting the Thorpes of Shoestring road, a nephew of W. C. Thorpe.

Mrs. Artemesia Coffield of Upland, Calif., is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Leslie Anderson, Mrs.

London 4-H Mothers Club

The regular meeting of the London 4-H Mothers club was held at the club house Nov. 15, with president Mrs. Esther Banton in charge. Fourteen members and five children were present. Two guests visited for the all-day meeting and covered dish luncheon at noon. They were Mrs. Winnie Bean of Shoestring road and Mrs. Artemesia Coffield of Upland, Calif.

Work was completed on the quilt of Mrs. A. M. Johnson of Fresno, Calif., and a new one was put in the frames for quilting for Mrs. Jeanne Morton. The new quilt is a "three-apple" design, made from scraps of print dresses of "Teena" Christine Carlson, a niece of Mrs. Morton, and is to be put away when finished for a wedding gift for the young lady. "Teena" is now age 6. The day was spent quilting.

Mrs. Edith Gilham brought home canned conserve and grape juice in the "piggy-bag" which was taken home by Mrs. W. C. Thorpe. It was announced that the plans for the Christmas party will be completed at the next meeting, Nov. 29. Pollyanna gifts were received by Mrs. Florence Riggs, Mrs. Edith Woods, Mrs. Ila Sibley and Mrs. Thorpe. Mrs. Thorpe showed crochet work ideas for gifts.

Specialist on Rural
Housing to Speak

JOHN C. CAMPBELL
Rural Housing Specialist
Oregon State College

The public is cordially invited to attend another meeting conducted by John C. Campbell, rural housing specialist, Oregon State college. He will be at the Roosevelt junior high school in Eugene on the night of November 28 to discuss insulation, ventilation and condensation.

As these are subjects which concern many families it is hoped that those coming will bring any questions to stimulate the discussion this evening.

Coffield, who is a most capable and active 82 years of age, traveled alone by bus and is planning to fly home after her visit here. Last year she flew to Michigan for a visit. A big family gathering is in the plans for the Anderson home for Christmas with all the "kids" home.

Naming of "London"

It has been recalled that the name London was first used in the community when Levi Geer went into the business at the "old London Spring Incorporated, and later changed to Calapooia Springs. What reason or sentiment that inspired the name is still being sought.

Melton Savage did a quick job of diverting the river channel last week with his "cat" to save the garden cabin of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mills. The flood of last month washed the bank away and high water last week threatened the building itself which already had one corner over the edge.

Mrs. Laura Perry is here to visit her father, Mr. Fred Mills at Blackbutte until after Thanksgiving. Her home is at Halfway, Oregon. Her sister, Mrs. Carolyn Hunt of Roseburg and Jack Mills, a brother, and Les Stimmel of Roseburg gathered Sunday at Blackbutte for a family gathering and dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Ballard gave an elk steak dinner at their home at London for 22 guests Sunday. Those present to enjoy the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Bemis, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Easley, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Long, Mary, Judy and Linda, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wayne McKee, Maxine and Carla, Edgar and June Dee Butler of Nashoba, Oklahoma, and Mr. and Mrs. Gale Roby, Jolene, Ashton and Karen. Mr. and Mrs. Long extended an invitation for a return dinner at their home at Latham for this Thanksgiving Thursday for the entire group.

Mr. and Mrs. Ballard were in the Raymond Sloan elk hunting party near John Day recently. Mr. Ballard is a brother of Mrs. Long and Mrs. Easley.

Three new members were added to the membership rolls at London church Sunday. Visitors were Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Crepeau of Cottage Grove.

Vegetables Part
Of Annual Hort
Society Program

A new pole bean virus disease problem and what can be done about it will be discussed by Dr. F. P. McWhorter, Oregon State college agricultural experiment station plant pathologist, at the sixty-fifth annual meeting of the Oregon State Horticultural society in Corvallis November 30 and December 1.

He will speak to a vegetable growers section Thursday afternoon, November 30, according to R. Ralph Clark, OSC extension horticulture specialist, who has charge of arrangements for the special interest program for vegetable growers.

Morning general sessions as well as afternoon separate vegetable and tree fruit sections will meet in the Corvallis American Legion hall at Seventh and Jackson streets. The starting hour is 9 a.m. both days, says C. O. Rawlings, extension horticulture specialist, society secretary.

Dr. Karl Baur, western Washington experiment station soil scientist, Puyallup, will be featured speaker at the vegetable growers' meeting Friday, December 1. He will discuss fertilizer placement for vegetables and small fruit crops. This subject is especially timely, Clark explains, since more and more fertilizer is being used and large quantities of it are being wasted through incorrect usage.

The bean virus was new in the state this year, showing up in a leading commercial variety. Dr.

McWhorter is expected to extend considerable hope to growers as a result of work completed this year.

Dr. W. A. Frazer, OSC horticulture department staff member, will appear twice before the vegetable growers' group. He will discuss sweet corn varieties and some of the problems connected with raising it as well as tomato production.

New bean varieties will be discussed by Dr. B. F. Dana, federal plant pathologist stationed with the experiment station.

Entomology department staff members will discuss new insecticides and their uses and symphidid control.

The invention of the first successful American gasoline automobile has been credited to Charles E. Duryea, a bicycle maker. The first successful test of his car was in Springfield, Mass., in April 1892.
