Willamette University Is Only Western School to Take Part in Semester Plan

Willamette University, Salem (Special) Willamette university has been singled out by the American University of Washington, D.C. as a member institution in the Washington semester plan, according to word released today by Dr. G. Herbert Smith, president of the University.

In naming Willamette to the plan, the local University becomes the only school west of the Missouri to participate in the program. Only 11 other selected colleges and universities, in the east and middle west, are currently included in the program.

Under the plan, two to four qualified majors in the social sciences go to Washington, D. C. in the second semester of their junior year to study a full semester in the Nation's Capital while enrolled in their own institution and receiving academic credit as if they were carrying the same courses on their respective campuses.

Plans are underway for two or more outstanding social science majors at Willamette to initiate the Washington semester plan in February, 1951.

Study falls under four major headings: (1) an individual study project worked out in connection with some one of the government officials; (2) a seminar on American Government in Action in which government officials will appear as the speakers; (3) courses in the school of Social Sciences and Public Affairs of the American University, done mostly in the evenings so that the full day could be devoted to the individual project; and (4) special events including social invitations to some of the embassies, invitations to professional societies, trips to points of historical interest.

Other schools included in the American University plan are Allegheny, Dickinson, Westminster in Pennsylvania; Hiram, Oberlin, Denison and Wooster in Ohio; Birmingham-Southern in Alabama; Hamline in Minnesota; Lindenwood in Missouri; and Transylvania in Kentucky.

Once, every few years, each of the member schools, including Willamette, will send a faculty member to Washington to teach students in the semester plan.

This is the second such honor accorded Willamette within the past 9 months. In March, the University joined the Carnegie Tech in a combined plan, whereby a student may receive both a Bachelor of Arts degree from Willamette and the Bachelor of Science degree in Engineering and Science from Carnegie Tech in five years.

Hello Girl Scouts, Brownies, and interested people. It is beginning to look like Christmas with the Main Street decorations up, doorways beginning to show signs of festive greenery and a few lighted trees sparkling through windows at night.

Cottage Grove women who attended the panel on "Understanding Girls" in Eugene last week found it exceptionally interesting and worth while. The physical, mental, social and emotional aspects were presented by four women qualified to give the various approaches. The moderator was Mrs. Lester Beck, wife of the U. of O. professor who created the film "Human Growth." A long question and answer period followed. There have been requests to make this available to Cottage Grove mothers. If it would be of interest to you, let your girl's leader know and with sufficient demand, it could be presented here.

Troop 139 (6th grade) is to have an investiture ceremony and a court of honor at the IOOF hall at 4 p.m. on Thursday afternoon, Dec. 21. Mothers and families of the girls are invited.

Brownie Troop 170 (3rd grade Harrison school) has made bright little Christmas corsages. Mrs. V. Mullen is one of the assistant leaders of this large group of girls now.

Troop 125 (5th grade) has been making table decorations and candle holders for the holiday season. It is difficult to report on much of the troop activities now as it is all sort of hush-hush.

Troop 124 has Mrs. Lester Monte as a new assistant leader.

This is also the season when troop registrations are due. The registration for each girl and committee member is one dollar a year. Help your scout leader by getting it in on time. She is being a scout leader because she likes girls and wants to make it possible for you to have a troop, so do your part by cooperating. Thanks.
