Doctor of the Year

"I FEEL VERY HUMBLE, I never expected this," Dr. Dean Sherwood Luce, white-haired 74-year-old Canton, Mass., physician, tells newsmen after being informed he had been named Family Doctor of the Year. The aged practitioner was selected by the American Medical Association at its annual convention in Cleveland. (International) of interest? I feel that I am imposing on your time and goodwill in calling you only to learn that you have no news items, and it takes up a good portion of my limited time. Let us all work together in this New Year and make Delight Valley news of interest to everyone. I appreciate the co-operation of the past and wish you sincerely—A VERY MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ALL.

with registered "C" brand on right shoulder. Mr. Crane has lost five head of stock in less than a year. Any information anyone has about the lost stock will be greatly appreciated by Mr. Crane.

Mrs. Peggy Becker has donated a number of pocket-size books to the free lending library which is located in the post office building.

Several children were stricken with chicken pox Friday—Judy Billings, Sharon Galdabini, Michael and Diane Booher.

Some more work was done on the bridge to the Forrest Vener mill. New underpinnings and planks were put in a portion of it.

Mrs. Ruby Meacham entertained Thursday with a stork shower in honor of Mrs. Wanda Crane. Refreshments were served to the group after the honored guest had opened the several gifts. Present were Mesdames Helen Suiter, Lizzie Gilman, Dorothy Oleson, Grace Goins, Pearl Hill, Ada Redifer, Grace Thompson, and Ruby Meacham. Several who were unable to be present sent their gifts.

The Pass Creek unit of the Douglas County Home Extension Service met Tuesday, December 12 at the Redifer home with Mrs. Pearl Hill and Mrs. Ada Redifer as joint hostesses. A demonstration was presented on "Oregon Sweets." After a dinner of chili, hot rolls and dessert was served, the afternoon was spent in trying out various recipes. Mrs. Betty Thompson will be the next hostess and the meeting is planned for the 9th of January. Those present for the pleasant day were Mesdames Betty Landwing, Elva Littlepage, Evelyn Littlepage, Genevieve Gordineer, Wilma Stigers, Naomi Jacob, Karen Thompson, Mabel Sowles, Pansy Sagaberd, Ruth Snider, Velma Haldeman, Betty Thompson, Marian Marvick, Abilene Tanner, Pearl Hill, Helen Sauter, Emma Stephens, Vlahnett Martin and Ruby Meacham.

Little Robert Gordineer suffered a badly severed toe Sunday and was taken to a local doctor where several stitches were required to close the wound.

Leslie Goins was rushed to a Cottage Grove doctor Monday evening with a badly cut finger. Several stitches were required to close the wound.

Delbert Gattney succumbed to injuries received in a woods accident Monday. He was found unconscious in the woods and taken to a Eugene hospital where he died later in the day. No definite facts have been released as yet. He is survived by his wife and two children, Lavina and Larry.

Talent is commonly developed at the expense of character, and the greater it grows, the more mischief and misleading.
