U of O Sponsors Music Conference

University of Oregon, Eugene (Special) — The second annual Music Education conference sponsored by the University of Oregon school of music has been scheduled for January 18 and 19 on the campus.

Problems of music education will be considered by the conference with guest speakers listed for discussions. Of particular interest will be a section devoted to problems at the junior high school and high school levels.

Opening on January 18 with a discussion of choral problems by Glen Lockery, co-director of the University of Idaho school of music, the first period will also feature a percussion clinic conducted by Charles Steele, instructor in music here.

Two special music sessions are on the program. A concert by the University symphony, concert band, and Singers, will be on Friday evening January 18. A second concert featuring the Hilli Harmonies from Hillsboro high school as well as university musicians will be given at a luncheon program Saturday, January 19.

Suggestions for Saving Total 175

FOR LEWIS, Wash., Jan. 14—Savings amounting to $24,867 were effected here during October, November and December through suggestions submitted by military and civilian personnel, according to James B. Hudson, executive secretary of the Efficiency Awards Committee.

Suggestions totaling 175 were submitted in 1951—119 by civilians and 56 by soldiers. Post Engineer led the civilian sections with 53 suggestions, six of which were adopted and 24 which still are pending action.

E. N. CHILDREN'S FUND GETS AUSTRIA'S HELP

VIENNA—A contribution of 500,000 Austrian schillings (about $24,000) was made recently by the government of Austria to the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund (UNICEF).

The Austrian contribution is to be used by UNICEF to buy local products which will be distributed in other countries receiving aid.

Pontiac Dealership Reports Interest At '52 Showings

"Public reaction to new '52 Pontiac models has never been better than that evidenced at the initial showing recently," Albee-Pontiac, Pontiac dealer at Cottage Grove, declared this week, reporting exceptional attendance.

"Our showroom was crowded at announcement time, and enthusiastic people keep coming in. The new cars are receiving as thorough an inspection as I can recall over many years of new model introductions," Mr. John Albee said.

"The average American seems never to lose interest in automobiles and what the automobile industry is doing to provide improved personal transportation for him."

New Developments

Mr. Albee said that Pontiac is especially a focal point this year because of new engineering developments, "dual-range" driving through the use of higher compression engines, new dual-range hydro-matic transmissions and an economy rear axle gear ratio. He explained that these elements comprise an entirely new Pontiac power train which permits maximum flexibility and economy in performance from congested city traffic to open country driving.

"These features came in for more than average attention and our staff was kept busy answering questions," he said. "I know of no recent mechanical developments that have caused more interest or have caused more revealing of the extensive automobile knowledge possessed by the average motorist. The new dual range features clicked with our audience."

"Demand for new Pontiacs is exceptionally high and a strong future demand is indicated," he said. "For the present we expect to maintain a good schedule of deliveries to new car customers with minimum waiting."

Lumber Production Hits All-Time High

PORTLAND, OREG., (Special) —All lumber production records for Douglas fir region were broken in 1951 as sawmills in western Oregon and Washington totaled up a booming 11.198 billion board feet output.

This topped 1950 by over half a billion feet, according to Harris E. Smith, secretary of the West Coast Lumbermen's Association. The 10.663 billion feet cut in 1950 had set a record for the 125 years of operation of the industry in the Douglas fir region. Previous high years were 1926 with 10.285 billion board feet and 1929 with 10.290 billion board feet.

Shipments in 1951, Smith said, also broke all previous records with mills loading out from this region during 1951 a rousing 11.021 billion feet. This was more than 200 million feet over 1950, the best previous year.

Orders for 1951 reached 10.494 billion feet, one of the largest years, but not equal to the record 1950 order file of 11.165 billion feet, Smith pointed out.

The weekly averaged of West Coast Lumber production in December was 180,283,000 b.f. or 100.3% of the 1946-50 average. Orders averaged 181,939,000 b.f.; Shipments 163,117,000 b.f.; Weekly averages for November were: Production 209,237,000 (116.4% of the 1946-50 average); Orders 178,484,000 b.f.; Shipment 207,935,000 b.f.

Fifty-two weeks of 1951 culminated production 11,198,459,000 b.f.; Fifty-two weeks of 1950, 10,663,898,000 b.f.; Fifty-two weeks of 1949, 9,870,297,000 b.f.

Orders for fifty-two weeks of 1951 breakdown as follows: Rail and truck 7,202,432,000 b.f.; Domestic cargo 2,077,701,000 b.f.; Export 646,416,000 b.f.; Local 627,606,000 b.f.

Defense Booklets Ready for Public

Every family can have a factual civil defense "library" for less than a dollar.

A series of ten public booklets is planned by the federal civil defense administration. Five have been released so far:

"Emergency Action to Save Lives"—5 cents; "Fire Fighting for Householders"—5 cents; "This is Civil Defense"—10 cents; "Survival Under Atomic Attack"—10 cent; and "What You Should Know About Biological Warfare"—10 cents.

Order From Washington

They can be ordered from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C.

The self-survival pamphlets are designed for the layman. They will save lives, and help cut down rumors. Civil defense people urge all citizens to get copies, whether or not they are actively engaged in volunteer work.

It was pointed out that first aid is something which might be necessary at any time. The five-cent "Emergency Action to Save Lives" is not a substitute for a first aid course, but it explains such things as how to stop shock and bleeding. Fire fighting is another civil defense subject useful at anytime—war or peace. In any emergency there is no substitute for knowledge.

Seven Accidents Termed Worst Of the Year 1951

If Oregon drivers had avoided but seven accidents last year, 24 people probably would still be alive today. And if 20 other smash-ups had been forestalled, 40 men, women and children now on the traffic fatality list would be alive.

These 27 accidents were termed Oregon's "worst of 1951" by the Secretary of State's traffic safety division Friday. Seven of the 27 reached the mass highway slaughter class, as each resulted in three or more deaths.

One drive was involved in two accidents three months apart which brought death to six people, including his son, his nephew and himself.

The seven worst smash-ups had one thing in common, the division said. Each involved a rate of speed too fast for the driver to control.

And for a safety office, the division made a strange comment. "Speed, in itself," they said "was not responsible for these deaths any more than the highway or the weather. The real killer was a driver who failed to realize he was over-rating his ability to control the speed of his car."

The division said too many people tend to blame speed for highway accidents and deaths, forgetting that drivers are responsible for speed and that some drivers may be incapable of handling any speed higher than 15 miles an hour.

"Even if the law established a top speed limit of 15 miles an hour," the division concluded, "some drivers would still become involved in fatal accidents."

It isn't much of a nation that hasn't a crisis of some sort.
