New Pipe Organ To be Dedicated, Presbyterian Church

Plans of several years standing will be brought to a climax Sunday morning at 11 o'clock in the Presbyterian church when the new pipe organ is dedicated. The original contract to purchase was entered into in December 1947, construction of the organ was authorized in January of 1951 after plans and specifications were approved. The organ was built by the M. P. Moller Co. of Maryland and is specially designed for the new church building. Company representatives say that it is perhaps the finest pipe organ in a small church in Oregon. The instrument has 365 pipes and is valued at $8,500. Provision has been made for the addition of three more sets of pipes. It is hoped by the officers of the church that these additions will be made soon.

The service of dedication will be conducted by the pastor and features two special anthems by the choir: "Bless the Lord" by Ivanoff, and "O, Saviour of the World" by Goff. Mrs. H. A. Hagen, church organist, will play two organ numbers also as part of the service. "Adagio" by Felix Mendelssohn, and "Intermezzo" by George Frederick Handel. A dedicatory concert by a guest organist is being planned for a later date. The public is invited to these services.

Religious Liberty Day to be Observed

Seventh-day Adventist church members here will devote their Saturday morning church service January 26 to discussion of ways by which laymen can help to defend religious freedom in America, according to Elder Raymond Cales, pastor.

The sermon of the morning will review recent threats to this liberty seen in the appointment of an ambassador to the Vatican, revival of Sunday laws, and other developments.

Elder Cales will explain procedures freedom-loving citizens should follow to make their opinions and wishes known to their congressmen.

Church members will be asked to send subscriptions for "Liberty" magazine to judges, lawmakers, teachers, ministers and other leaders of the nation, to bring to their attention current issues which involve the American principle of separation of church and state. Among the citations to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, which applies the story of Gideon to the present world situation, is the following: "The history of our country, like all history, illustrates the might of Mind, and shows human power to be proportionate to its embodiment of right thinking" (p. 225).

The Japanese Priest Said: "DOMINUS VOBISCUM"

It was early Sunday morning in Tokyo. A cosmopolitan congregation had assembled in the Catholic church for the first Mass of the day. Along with the Japanese present, there were English, French and Portuguese sailors, the family of a Belgian diplomat, Filipino business men and a sprinkling of U. S. Military Police.

The Japanese priest was compelled to start the service without an assistant to answer the prayers. He had hardly begun the Mass, when a burly GI rose from his seat, walked to the altar and took the place of the absent server.

"At first," he said afterwards, "I felt a little strange serving a Jap priest in a Jap church. But after he turned around and said in Latin: 'Dominus vobiscum!'... I felt just the way I did when I served Father O'Malley in our church back home."

"Dominus vobiscum!" ..."The Lord be with you!"

How familiar and homelike those Latin words sounded... to the English, the French, the Portuguese Belgians and Filipinos ...for they had heard them Sunday after Sunday in their own church at home.

Despite their language differences, each could follow the prayers of the Mass ...and the actions of the priest. For each had a double-column prayer book—one column in Latin, one in his native language.

Many services of divine worship in the Catholic Church are conducted in the native language of the people. But the Mass... the official and world-wide act of Catholic worship... is generally conducted in Latin because this dead language never changes and is most appropriate to express the fundamentally unchanging worship instituted by Christ at the Last Supper.

Perhaps you have heard Catholics speak of the Mass... or have seen them thronging to Mass on Sunday and other days. If you would like to know more about the Mass... and why the Mass attracts millions of Catholics to church regularly... we will be happy to send you a free pamphlet explaining the Mass and reasons behind it in a clear-cut manner. Write today... ask for Pamphlet No. 6-N.
