

Reflections.

AN ARTIST SEES BEAUTY

An artist was painting a scene. All I saw was rubbish, nude trees and black water. As I watched him I was astonished at the transformation; that rubbish heap was covered with a soft white blanket of snow, the nude branches had ermine cuffs and the sun stretched long shadow-fingers to make an exquisite pattern. The black water of the creek peeked impishly from under sparkling piles of snow. I determined then that ugliness was a matter of viewpoint.

I thought of a boy, belligerent, yet full of fun, good mind but an Imp of Satan. He was seldom out of trouble, until one man looked beyond the "rubbish" and saw the beauty of his nature. Through love and guidance that boy developed into one of the most beautiful characters I've ever known.

Be an artist. See beauty, beyond the ugliness.
