USE TOOLS YOU HAVE

The machinist uses his callipers, the carpenter uses his saw, the lineman uses his pliers; these are tools we can see and feel. There are other tools, equally useful, that can't be seen.

One of these unseen tools is Ambition. You can't touch nor see it, yet it is a tool that men like Chrysler, Ford, Carnegie and every other successful man never lays aside.

Industry is another tool and it is bright with use. Look at our successful merchants, doctors, lawyers, ministers; they use this tool from school days to old age.

The third tool, and I think the most important one, is the common, garden variety of Honesty. With this tool George Washington fashioned a Nation; you and your husband fashioned a happy home; manufacturers fashion dependability in their products.

Each of us have these three tools; they are free, part of our heritage. Do we appreciate them? Do we use them with artistry? These are the tools to make you rich spiritually and materially.

Frances Thrun Dramatic Soprano Appears in Recital

Miss Frances Thrun, former resident, now of Medford, was presented in a concert at First Christian church recently. Miss Thrun, a dramatic soprano, surprised the large group of music lovers with her unusual beauty of tone. She sings with good taste, excellent diction and has power combined with range and flexibility, according to the Medford Mail Tribune.

Miss Thrun auditioned for the opera star, Astrid Varnay, and her coach last fall during the San Francisco Opera company's season. The coach, Maestro H. Weigert, agreed with Mrs. Thrun that Miss Thrun's voice has great possibilities and advised the singer to continue her study, particularly in the field of German opera.

The concert Thursday night was in the nature of both a debut and a farewell, since Miss Thrun will leave soon for Santa Barbara, Calif., to spend several weeks studying with the noted singer, Lotte Lehmann.

Miss Thrun was assisted in the recital by Bruno Pellegrini, pianist, who devoted much time to the singer in preparation for the important concert.

Following is the program presented by Miss Thrun:

"Spirate Pur, Spirate" (Stefano Donaudy); "O Del Mio Amato Ben" (Stefano Donaudy); "O Sleep, Why Dost Thou Leave Me?" (Handel); "Alleluja" (W. A. Mozart); "Vio lo sapete, o Mamma" (Pietro Mascagni); "Beau Soir" (Claude Debussy); "L'Heure exquise" (Reynaldo Hahn); "Zueignung" (Richard Strauss); "Ave Maria" (Giuseppe Verdi); "Dich theure Halle" (Richard Wagner); "Calm as the Night" (Carl Bohm); "The Fisher's Widow" (Clara Edwards); "In the Silent Night" (Sergei Rachmaninoff); "Morning" (Oley Speaks) and "The Lord is My Light" (Frances Allisten).

To have thought far too little, we shall find in the review of life, among our capital faults.
