GOD'S GREATEST GIFT

Would you say electricity is His greatest gift? It is great but not the greatest. What about oil, gas, water under pressure, our wonderful highways? We stand in awe of a doctor and his skill; new drugs are acclaimed; without question they are among His greatest gifts but they are not His greatest. All of the material gifts He has given to us stand like monuments on the road of life, but none of them can claim to be His greatest gift.

His greatest gift is a baby, brought from mysteries of heaven. Life, spirit, cannot be duplicated by a human being. God endows a tiny morsel of flesh with His spirit and it breathes.

A parent treasures his new baby above all things on this earth; it is his to love, to cherish, to nurture, to hold and teach. Its tiny arms entwined around his neck makes him strong as Hercules, yet humble, in the presence of the Divine. A smile, hug and kiss is the nectar of heavenly bliss, for that babe came from His arms, God's greatest gift to man.
