

State Commission Eyes Uniform Hours For Alcohol Sales

Uniform hours of sale for all licensees of the Oregon liquor control commission and shorter operating hours on Sunday currently are being considered by the commission, which recently directed its staff to gauge the effect of a standard 1:00 a.m. closing hour and limited Sunday sale would have on public convenience and law enforcement. The study is made to determine if such a revision in operating hours will promote temperance, the commission stated.

All licensees except club and restaurant licensees now observe a 1:00 a.m. closing hour, but licensed clubs and restaurants are allowed to operate until 2:30 a.m. The proposed revision would set the hours of 7:00 a.m. until 1:00 a.m. as the only hours during which any licensee could allow sale, mixing or on-premises consumption of alcoholic beverages.

No Sunday A.M. Sale
No Sunday morning sale or on-premises consumption would be allowed under terms of the proposed regulation, which would set Sunday opening hour at 1:00 p.m.

Sale of food or continuance of entertainment, if allowable under terms of a license, would be permitted after 1:00 a.m., but sale, mixing, service or consumption of alcoholic beverages would be prohibited after that hour, the commission explained. Until a formal revision is adopted, the present operating hours will remain in effect.

WEEK END DEATH TOLL

One thing that can be depended upon, and seemingly with never a failure, is the week end highway death toll.

A birthday dinner for Miss Louise Ballard, given Sunday, August 3 at the Clyde Putman home was enjoyed by the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Don Ballard and daughter, Doris Mae; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ballard and Louise of Eden Park; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Putman and Theima of Route 1; Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Scouton of Oregon City; and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Putman and son Dale of Mosby Creek. Mr. Scouton is a brother of Mrs. Charles Putman.

Mr. and Mrs. George Woodworth had a pleasant surprise last Thursday when old neighbors from Long Beach, Calif., called. They were Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Lack and daughter, Mary, who were on their way to Washington to see their son who is working at a look-out station there.

Frank Chambers of McFarland, Calif., visited his sons and family, Steve and Frank Chambers this past week. Mr. and Mrs. Noel Chambers of McFarland brought Jim to Cottage Grove and went on to visit other relatives.

Mrs. Dave Davidson and Pete Ekelund were hostesses for a going away shower last Thursday honoring Mrs. Cliff Ekelund. There were 13 ladies present, and after Mrs. Ekelund opened her many dainty gifts a lunch of jello, cake, coffee and orange juice was served by the hostess at the Cliff Ekelund home.

Mrs. Millie Roby, chairman for World Citizenship and Mrs. Mable Bassett, chairman for 4-H, went to Eugene last Wednesday and attended a meeting of Extension club members at Erb Memorial building. Mrs. Harry Castle went with them.

September 11 will be officers' training for all Extension clubs. The club will meet September 4 for an organization meeting with Mrs. Castle. All are asked to bring a sack lunch and drinks will be furnished.

Mrs. Ray Sarvela and son, of Coos Bay, visited over the week end with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Jones, and went to see her mother, Mrs. Dolly Comstock, who is in the Cottage Grove hospital with a broken hip.

Mrs. Mary Langston had a demonstration party at her home at Walden Friday morning. Mrs. Estella Chambers conducted the meeting.

Mrs. Roy Hanks entertained with an outdoor dinner Saturday night, August 9, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Ekelund who left this week to make their home in Minnesota. Those present were Messrs. and Mesdames Pearkins Miller, Pete Ekelund, Verlin Ward, Cliff Ekelund and Roy Hanks. They all attended a dance after dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Clay Mosby and family of San Francisco, and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Mosby and family of Klamath Falls, were visitors of the Mary Mosby and Darrel Mosby families over the week end.

Forest Technician Recommends Grade Rules in Hardwood

Log and lumber grading rules for west coast hardwoods would benefit loggers, millmen and consumers in buying and selling, according to Oregon forest products laboratory technologists.

Such a system would insure a uniform production for particular uses. And it would eliminate the guesswork in estimating log worth.

These statements have been issued by A. C. Wollin of the U. S. forest products laboratory, Madison, Wis., who was adviser for an Oregon hardwood grading study. Jack Pfeiffer of the Oregon forest products laboratory was field director and Clyde Randall assisted.

Alder, one of ten major Oregon hardwoods, was selected for the initial study. The laboratory plans to make a thorough study of all Oregon hardwoods in the near future, Pfeiffer added.

More than 500 alder logs at the L. R. Smith Hardwood company, Longview, Wash., and the Veal and Son Furniture company, Albany, were checked for exterior defects. Overgrown knots, limbs, bark distortions, splits, mechanical injuries and other defects were recorded.

From the information gathered on the three-week summer field study, Pfeiffer will be able to determine the percentage of various lumber grades that can be expected from specific alder logs.

In Oregon, alder has been considered an inferior species because the logs have been judged poor by their external appearance. Lumber grades from these logs have compared favorably with lumber obtained from second growth stands of eastern species, Pfeiffer continued.

National Hardwood Lumber association grading rules are well adapted to Pacific coast hardwoods used for factory lumber, the wood technologists said. About 18,000,000 board feet of alder are cut in Oregon each year, mainly for furniture use. Alder grows predominantly west of the Oregon Cascades.

An increased Oregon hardwood market has failed to develop because of a general "lack-of-appreciation" attitude, Pfeiffer remarked. Lack of rules for a standard product and an irregular source of supply also have hindered the hardwood business, Pfeiffer concluded.

The Federal Security Agency has been employing 292 management-improvement experts, with combined salaries of $1,463,350 per year, says an article in a business magazine.

Standard Declares Dividend, Reports On 1952 Operation

Standard Oil company of California has declared a dividend of 65 cents a share, and an extra dividend of 10 cents a share, payable September 10 to all stockholders of record August 11, 1952.

Commenting on the company's operations during the first six months of 1952, board chairman R. G. Follis outlined some of the results of an exploration and producing program for which $150,000,000 has been budgeted this year.

A total of 82 exploratory wells were drilled by the company and its subsidiaries during the first half of the year, Follis said. Among the successful wells were included discoveries of eight new oil fields or producing zones, and two new gas fields. Three of the new oil developments were in California, one in Arkansas, one in Louisiana, and three in Texas. One of the new gas finds is in California, and one in Canada.

New U. S. Fields
Standard's efforts to find new oil fields in the United States are continuing, Follis said, with reconnaissance and drilling being carried on throughout the West, as well as in Williston Basin, where the company has extensive acreage holdings, and in the Gulf of Mexico area.

Outside the United States, Follis said, exploratory work is being carried out on a broad scale by subsidiary companies operating in Canada and South America, as well as in the West Indies, which is an entirely new area of interest to the company.

California Standard company, in Canada, drilled 13 exploratory wells, most of which were directed toward proving up extensive acreage holdings in southern Manitoba.

In Venezuela, Richmond Exploration company is currently drilling on two structures in that country, and participating in a seismicographic survey off-shore in the Gulf of Venezuela.

In the West Indies, Dominion Oil Ltd., has embarked on a broad exploratory venture in Trinidad. To date this new subsidiary has acquired leases or made applications on approximately 700,000 acres located on the island and adjacent sea bottom.

Hereford Sale Set At Portland Oct. 7

Portland, (Special)—Purebred Herefords from the leading herds in the western states will be represented in the Pacific International Hereford sale here October 7.

The steady expansion of the Hereford industry in these states has prompted the holding of the sale in Portland in conjunction with the Pacific International Hereford show. Choice Herefords will compete for the $15,000 in premiums offered during the show. A select group of Herefords will enter the Pacific International sale pavilion on October 7 at one o'clock.

Hereford events are to be held as follows:

Sunday, October 5, 9 a.m.—Judging sale cattle; 10 a.m.—Judging open Hereford steers.

Monday, October 6, 8 a.m.—Judging breeding Herefords. 6:30 p.m.—Hereford banquet.

Tuesday, October 7, 8 a.m. Continue judging breeding Herefords. 1 p.m. Pacific International Hereford Sale.

There are 61 separate government printing and duplicating plants in Washington, 23 in San Francisco, six in Denver, 16 in New York, and many others throughout the county, says Rep. Smith of Wisconsin.
