

Dorena Grange Plans for Fair

By Mrs. Ed Sherrill
Dorena Grange is going to the Lane County Fair, for plans have been made for a food concession, and all members are urged to participate to make this year one of the most successful. It is hoped that with the net proceeds of this year the grange hall will be in its final stages of completion.

Members are also requested to contribute to the grange exhibits for both the South Lane Fair and the Lane County Fair. All exhibit articles for the South Lane Fair, which is to be held at the Jefferson school Friday and Saturday, August 22 and 23, are to be delivered to any of the following homes no later than 6:30 p.m. Thursday, August 21: Louis Layng, Henry Snauer, Raymond Wicks, Roy England or Edgar Sherrill.

Louise and Linda Griffith were obligated in the first and second degrees on Friday evening, and application for membership was received from Marian Giles.

A very interesting program was presented by Mrs. Raymond Wicks, with the following numbers: Group singing led by Mesdames Wicks, Bassett and Giles. A reading, "A Woodland Story," by Mrs. Wicks, with sound effects being provided by Henry Snauer, "The Big Tree"; Louise Griffith, "The Medium-Sized Tree"; Otto Noth, "The Littlest Tree"; Weston Cameron, "The Mighty Hunter"; LeRoy Potter, "The Rabbit"; Edgar Sherrill, "The Gurgling Brook"; Louis Layng, "The Gun."

A session of Truth or Consequences with Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Bassett, Dean Snauer and Harold Tryk on the panel followed. Consequences enlisted the proper grange floor work. A poem was given by Mrs. Minnie Wagner, entitled "The Bridge You'll Never Cross."

Serving committee for the meeting of September 5 includes Mr. and Mrs. B. McCormack, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Plaisted, Jean, Agnes and James Plaisted, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Peterson and Wallace Peterson. Hall committee will be Ted Hudson and Louis Layng.

Home Economics Club
At the regular meeting of the club on Tuesday, August 12, Mrs. A. B. Cochrane and Mrs. Larry Brumfield were hostesses to 12 members, 4 visitors and 5 juveniles.

Most of the day was spent in making pies in preparation for the food concession at the Lane County Fair. In addition to the pies baked at the grange hall, members will also be contacted by the chairman of the work committees for personal contributions. These chairmen are Mrs. Edgar Sherrill, Tuesday; Mrs. Henry Snauer, Wednesday; Mrs. Larry Brumfield, Thursday; Mrs. Ted Hudson, Friday; Mrs. Walter Larsen, Saturday. Each chairman is responsible for having a crew of eight helpers, the daily quota of pies and salads, and the delivery of same.

General chairman for the fair, Mrs. Ora (Lee) Thomason, and her planning committee, which includes Mesdames Wagner, Wicks, Layng and Sherrill, met at the home of Mrs. Wagner last Wednesday evening.

Youth Group
A happy time was had by all at the picnic supper held at the Henry Snauer home on Thursday evening, August 14, and during the business meeting arrangements for the play, which the group plans to present sometime this fall, were completed. This will be under the direction of Alpha Pitcher, and is entitled, "The Clay's the Thing," by Tom Taggart. The cast includes Dean Snauer, Ronald Bassett, Wallace Peterson, Alberta Cameron, Jean Ellen Sherrill, Byron Houck, Harold Tryk, Walter Larsen, Mesdames Virgil Bassett, Alpha Pitcher and Dale Pitcher.

The next regular meeting of the youth group will be held Friday, August 29, on the Dorena lake shore of the Byron Houck residence, when the young folks will be treated to boat rides, swimming and the picnic supper. Provisions will be made for broiling 'burgers or sizzling wieners.

There will be no September Youth meeting.
Juvenile Grange
The members of the juvenile grange will enter an exhibit booth at the South Lane Fair, and request the assistance of all members in preparation of it. Parents of the juvenile members are especially urged to contribute produce and flowers. For further information contact the juvenile matron, Mrs. Henry Snauer, phone 557R3.

'Come to the Fair' is Hebron's Theme

By Mrs. Gale Roby
"Heigh-Ho, Come to the Fair" was the theme at the August 16 meeting of Hebron Grange with last minute plans and instructions for displays, eats, help and attendance discussed and a lecturer's program that swung right into the "Fair".

The group heard an interesting talk by Sheila Woods on comparisons of fairs in Europe and America. A song was sung by all, "Heigh-Ho, Come to the Fair," and a Fair game was played, won by Mrs. Jim Flemming.

Lots of livestock was urged by O. M. Patten of the fair board and the grange agriculture committee warned that this year's showing may determine if livestock is to be shown again at South Lane Fair.

Hebron Grange master, Forest Woods, backed up Mr. Patten's request for livestock and told that trophies to be won are worthwhile and may be seen on display this week in windows of local merchants. Entries for livestock were to be in by August 19 so that stalls and arrangement could be made. The fair is this Friday and Saturday at Jefferson school in Cottage Grove.

Display Booth Set
Hebron's display booth under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Clare Chapman calls for fruit and vegetables, clean and ready for arranging if possible to speed up work at the booth. Since much of the fruit is not ripe yet, it can still be used if showing color. Canned goods in wide mouth jars, small mouth pint jars and short size jelly glasses will be used.

Flowers especially are wanted, cut flowers or potted plants. Materials are to be brought to the hall August 19 or will be picked up by contacting the Chapmans, phone 602J4, this week.
A Hebron Grange food booth announced by Mrs. Fred Harris will serve a full chicken dinner, taverns, coffee, pop, pies and ice cream. Members are to contribute string beans, cabbage, tomatoes, potatoes and lots of home baked pies, and lots of help.

Youth Carnival Set
The Hebron Grange Youth carnival date of September 13 was again told, and help was asked to assist the youth chairmen of each booth. Knick knacks are needed for prizes and may be brought to the hall. All expense bills are asked to be in for the carnival by carnival night.

Green string beans and freshly made cucumber pickles were a feature of the produce table.
An invitation was read from the county extension Home Economics department for grangers interested to attend a recreation meeting in Seattle September 29 and 30 at the Olympic Hotel.

It was reported that E. V. McCoy paid for having the grange piano tuned.

Taking the first and second degrees of obligation were Alice and Dennis Chapman and Yvonne Gamble. Taking the third and fourth degrees was Joan Stewart. Fifteen applications for new members were presented, the largest ever presented at one time. The contest by the Youth Group for new members is in full swing with unofficial report of a 10 to 10 tie under the contest captains, Forest Woods and Gale Roby. Youth chairman, Mrs. Dale Harris, reminded that next meeting is the last time for new applications that members get at least their first degrees of obligation before the contest deadline of September 20.

Amateur Contest
An amateur contest is being put on by the grange under the direction of Sheila Woods and is to be participated in by every member or who will be made to contribute to the building fund. Probable date will be in October.

A talk was given by visiting grange master of Fall Brook, California grange, Jim Flemming, who is also vice president of the citrus growers organization, and told of the problems of irrigation for California farmers. An action game was participated in by 19 juveniles who were in attendance. Square dancing followed refreshments of cookies, sandwiches, coffee and coolade.

Next meeting is in three weeks, September 6.

PMA Election, Convention Set

This year's Production and Marketing Administration election program is progressing well, according to Ernest E. Schrenk, chairman of the Lane County committee. The community committees have all met and selected nominating committees and nearly all of these nominating committees in turn have listed from 10 to 15 names as nominees for the community committees.

These various community committees, of which there are 10 in the county, along with the county committee have the responsibility of the local administration of such national farm programs as the agricultural conservation program, price support program, and others. They will have many important decisions to make in 1953.

Ballots To Be Set
It appears that the names of all nominees will be in the county office on or before August 20, so that ballots will be prepared in the PMA office and mailed to voters by September 2. Mr. Schrenk wants it known that should anyone who is a qualified voter under the PMA Program not receive a ballot, he or she is welcome to drop in at the county office at the Osburn Hotel, Eugene, request a ballot, and place it in the ballot box for counting during the week of September 15.

As soon as the community committee have been elected, county convention will be arranged during the week of September 22, when county committeemen will be elected to take office October 1.

Poultry Meet Set For OSC Oct. 10-11

Oregon State college will play host October 10 and 11 to the fifth annual round table of the Pacific Northwest Chicken and Turkey Breeders, according to J. A. Harper of the OSC poultry department who is chairman for this year's program.

Of special interest to commercial chicken and turkey breeders, the program will feature Dr. Lewis W. Taylor, professor of poultry husbandry at the University of California, as guest speaker. Chicken and turkey breeders and specialists from Idaho, British Columbia, Washington and Oregon will attend.

OSC RESEARCH GROUP LINKS ANIMAL DIET TO LOSS OF HEARING

Oregon State College — Diet has been shown to play an important role in developing loss of hearing in guinea pigs, according to a research team of Oregon State college scientists.

It is believed this is the first time diet and loss of hearing have been linked. Dr. Hugo Krueger, OSC physiology professor and a member of the research team, said.

Guinea pigs on a diet lacking greens developed a progressive loss of hearing, the physiologists reported. The guinea pigs also showed signs and symptoms very similar to some types of arthritis in man.

Soil Expert Added To College Staff

Oregon State College—A long range program to protect and maintain Oregon's forest industry through a constructive soil management program has been launched by the agricultural experiment station and the school of forestry at Oregon State college with the appointment of a forest soils scientist.

The new soils expert is Dr. C. T. Youngberg, who came to OSC from the forest soils research division of Weyerhaeuser Timber company and whose background combines unusual specialty training in both forestry and soils.

His appointment to the newly-created position of forestry soils scientist will find him working with the state forestry department and with federal and private forestry agencies in the development of a sound soils program for Oregon's more than 26 million acres of commercial forests.

OSC ISSUES NEW BULLETINS ON FILBERT, WALNUT COSTS

Filbert and walnut production costs in Oregon are analyzed in detail and suggestions for improved efficiency of operation outlined in a pair of new bulletins published by the OSC agricultural experiment station.

From 1940 to 1950, the price received by filbert growers averaged 118 percent of the estimated cost of production and the price of walnuts 102 percent, Dr. Kuhlman points out. A wide variation in individual grower costs was noted, however, indicating that improved efficiency of operation is possible in many cases.

WALNUTS COST AVERAGE OF 15.8 CENTS PER POUND TO PRODUCE OR $117 PER ACRE

Average acre yield was 741 pounds.
