MOVERS
Moving Van People are doing a wonderful job for America. Look up, right now! What do you see? Keep-sakes, pictures, works of art, and in a china closet there are beautiful dishes. Throughout your home there are possessions impossible to replace—our Moving Vans take them from where they are to where you wish to go—with an infinitesimal amount of damage. Those men are experts.

Those big vans run on a tight schedule. From New York to Los Angeles, San Francisco to Des Moines, Miami to Seattle, or next door is all the same to them. They go from the farm to crowded city, from city to Lake or Seashore; your household furnishings are picked up, moved, and placed where you want them.

Their rates, governed by State and Inter-state Commissions, are surprisingly low, their courtesy is exemplary and their service is a standard of perfection.

White Nylon Washing Suggestions Listed By Clothing Expert

How to launder white nylon—to keep or to restore its whiteness—is a problem for many homemakers, judging from the number of queries on the subject that come to county home economics extension agents.

Miss Lucy Lane, extension clothing specialist at Oregon State College, reports that the U. S. department of agriculture has done some research on the problem and has these recommendations to offer.

Wash white nylon separately from colored clothes. Soak them before washing; wash them with soap in soft or softened water, or with a "built" (alkaline) synthetic detergent; and rinse them thoroughly.

To restore whiteness to nylon garments which have been worn and laundered many times, soak the clothes in three or four changes of water softened with sodium hexametaphosphate, a product that sells at retail under brand name. This removes soil and hard water "soap curds."

A chlorine bleach proved most effective for whitening grayed or discolored nylon, but has the disadvantage of weakening nylon fabric.

Sodium perborate, a milder bleach, ranks second for whitening and may be safer and easier to use. This can be bought at drug stores and also is included in some packaged bleaching preparations. Two of these products were tested, one containing 44 percent and the other only 5 percent perborate. The latter was no more effective than washing in soft water and soap.

Bluing in the final rinse water was the only method found to be effective in giving a white appearance to yellowed nylon garments. The bluing disguises the yellow tinge.

That the textile displays of the 87th Oregon State Fair will be varied and exciting is demonstrated here by Joyce Keightley, Fair lovely, as she poses like a gay senorita in a crocheted tablecloth, noted as the first ever to be entered in state fair competition. The 1952 exposition opens its annual eight-day run Saturday, August 30.

Evening Rites Unite Neideigh-Beidler; Brides Gown Is Tulle, Lace, Satin

Miss Marjorie Jane Beidler and Robert Gordon Neideigh were united in marriage in an evening ceremony, Saturday, performed in the First Presbyterian church. They were united by Rev. Richard K. Smith of the First Presbyterian church of Ephrata, Wash., cousin of the bride. Assisting in the ceremony was Rev. D. Hugh Peniston of the First Presbyterian church of this city.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Beidler of this city. Mr. Beidler gave his daughter in marriage. Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Neideigh of Coos Bay are parents of the groom.

Miss Beidler chose for her wedding a gown of white nylon tulle and lace over white satin. The neckline was deep and edged in lace, sleeves were long and the bodice was fitted. The skirt was very full with a chapel train. She wore a lace cap with finger-tip veil of French illusion. The bride's flowers were pink Elfe roses and stephanotis in a cascade bouquet.

Attending her sister as matron of honor was Mrs. Henry S. Molino of Arcadia, Calif. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Harry S. Irvine and

W.C.T.U. MEETS TODAY

The Women's Christian Temperance group will hold its regular meeting at the Church of God, Seventh and Adams, on Thursday afternoon at 2 p.m. Mrs. Witherspoon is hostess at the meeting. Mrs. Pearl Safley has the devotions and Mrs. Van Blaricom has the lesson.

Officers will be elected at this meeting.

Mrs. Velma Forrester and daughter, Gail, Mrs. Gladys Drinkard and Phyllis Higdon returned Friday from a five day vacation which took them to Reno and Virginia City, Nev., and Lake Tahoe. They returned by way of Mt. Lassen, Calif.

Miss Betty Leonard, both of Portland, cousins of the bride, Misses Anne Molino and Susan Molino, nieces of the bride, were her junior attendants.

Gowns of the attendants were patterned alike and were of shades of pink taffeta, the matron of honor wearing the deepest shade. Gowns were floor length, each with a full net skirt with a knife pleated, off the shoulder bodice. They wore matching halo hats of pleated net and carried bouquets of French carnations in contrasting shades of pink.

Mrs. Charles A. Beidler, mother of the bride, wore a floor length dress of soft rose crepe and lace with matching hat and gloves. Her corsage was of pink rose buds. Mrs. L. A. Neideigh, mother of the bridegroom, was gowned in floor length, deep raspberry lace with matching hat and gloves. Mrs. Neideigh's corsage was of pink rose buds.

Jim Neideigh was best man for his brother. Ushers were Wallace Turnidge of Salem and Robert Kingsbury of Portland.

Decorations in the church chancel were an arrangement of pink gladioli on the communion table, baskets of heavenly bamboo on either side of the chancel and an effective placement of candelabra about the chancel, creating an unusual lighting effect.

Before the ceremony, Dr. Harry S. Irvine of Portland sang "Through the Years" and "Wedding Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Helen Hagen on the organ. Mrs. Hagen also played the traditional wedding marches.

Reception was held in the church parlors. Serving the cake were Mrs. Joe T. Smith, and Mrs. George Mathews, aunts of the bride, and Mrs. Gilbert Funk, aunt of the groom. Serving coffee were Mrs. Ira Beidler, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Richard K. Smith. Mrs. Robert Swan, Mrs. Arnie Sleming, and Miss Marjorie Coiner served the punch. Assisting were Mrs. Wilbur Heath, Mrs. Cecil Martin and Mrs. Robert Kingsbury. At the guest book was Miss Helen Axley.

A pink satin damask cloth covered the bride's table. Centered on the bride's table was the four-tiered wedding cake, surrounded by Cecil Brunner roses. On either side of the wedding cake were crystal candelabra with bows of white tulle centered with rose buds. Mrs. Robert Wilson of Eugene played background music during the reception.

For her wedding trip to the Oregon coast Mrs. Neideigh chose a Navy blue wool suit with matching accessories, with corsage of pink rubrum lilies.

Mrs. Neideigh is a graduate of Oregon State college and the University of Oregon Medical school, School of Nursing. She is affiliated with Pi Beta Phi sorority. The groom is a graduate of Southern Oregon College and is a teacher in the Portland public school system.

After September 1 Mr. and Mrs. Neideigh will be at home at 320 NE 22nd Avenue in Portland.

Mosbys Celebrate 100th Anniversary Of Settling Claim

The Mosby Family gathered together Sunday for a picnic reunion to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the taking out of the donation land claim by David Mosby, original Mosby settler.

David Mosby came to this state in 1850 from Mercer County, Kentucky, settling in this county in 1852. In 1855 David married Isabel Small, daughter of a pioneer family well known about Cottage Grove. Three of their sons survived infancy—Bob, Dave and John, and it was the families of these three which were present at the reunion.

Setting for the reunion was part of the original land claim on Mosby Creek, and the original house which was built about 1855.

Present at the reunion were Mr. and Mrs. Clay Mosby of San Francisco, H. G. Mosby and Jim Mosby of Klamath Falls, Bill Mosby of Prineville, George Mosby of Central Point, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mosby and two children, Mrs. Marguerite Mosby, Phil Mosby, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Boslaugh and three children, Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Mosby and two sons and Mrs. R. H. Mosby, all of this community.

N.O.W. Hold Dinner

The Neighbors of Woodcraft met in the garden of the Ralph Hawley home for a covered dish dinner last Tuesday.

After refreshments were served, Mildred Tiech was presented with a birthday cake by Julia Bartels. Remainder of the evening was spent in playing bridge and canasta.

Guests were Steve Lawrence of Lake View, grandson of the Hawleys, and Mr. and Mrs. Dock Newton of Hot Springs, N. M., who are spending the summer in Cottage Grove.

Next regular meeting of the lodge will be held in the IOOF hall, September 2.

Young Women Form New Garden Club

A young women's garden club, as yet not named, met to organize August 19 at the home of Mrs. A. I. McLean. Mrs. McLean, president of the PDG garden club, and other officers, assisted in forming the new group.

Mrs. Norman Richards was elected president of the young women's club, and Mrs. Herman Petersen was chosen secretary-treasurer. Next meeting will be a 1:30 p.m. luncheon at the home of Mrs. Richards on Tuesday, September 2.

Those attending the luncheon and meeting the 19th at the home of Mrs. McLean included Mesdames Richards, Petersen, Robert Mills, Carl Brandness, Robert Goodrich, Glen Arne and Murland Johnson. Officers of the PDG club besides Mrs. McLean who attended were Mrs. Henry Arp, vice president, and Mrs. H. G. Thomas, secretary-treasurer.
